

Dates For Next Week Illegal. Before Contact Begins Monday

Weekend Silent Period Breaks Steady Rushing

No dates for next week may be made before free association begins anew on Monday noon, Panhellenic Rushing Committee decided yesterday.

The weekend silent period, beginning at 5 p.m. tomorrow and lasting until noon Monday, will provide a much-needed breathing spell in the 10-day intensive campaign and is to be strictly observed, the council warns.

With two informal parties planned for tonight and nine houses entertaining tomorrow afternoon, the first half of the formal period will close. Invitations to next week's parties are due at Student Union by 9 a.m. Monday for delivery before noon.

Skirts And Saddles For Daytime Rushing But Dress For Parties

Comes rushing with all its ado, and while sorority women coax pipe cleaners into curious shapes and tag them favors, freshman women smack into their biggest worry of "what to wear, when."

For contact during 10 days, of coke or bridge dates, we suggest: Skirts and sweaters — emphasis on neatness. A good press job puts new spark into old woollens.

Defy wind and weather and put your best curls forward. Keep nails and hands well-groomed. Take stock of little things; they add up.

As for hose versus socks, stick to what you wear to classes. These are come-as-you-are parties.

Tactics are reversed, however, for evening parties which are by written invitation only.

Show you realize it's a party by appearing in a suit or dress, or a wool frock. You've had your chance to sport school-girl combinations. Of course, if the invitation designates old clothes or special garb, enter into the spirit and borrow somebody's overalls!
