

Barr Scores 21 Points As State Subdues Georgetown, 45 To 38

Between The Lions

With DICK PETERS

The kid dried his left foot and reached for the other sock. He grinned. "Yes, I guess I'm just slated to be second best. Guess I'll be coming in second as long as I run."

He pulled on the sock and slid into his shoe. "But you know, you don't mind running behind a guy like Barney Ewell. He's plenty good."

The kid talking was Don Dolbin, Penn State sprinter extraordinary, because he's been running behind someone all the time he's been competing on the cinder path, even though he could be a neat dasher in himself. We refer you to the unofficial, but pretty certain, 6.3 he did in the 50-yard scramble at Army over the weekend.

To be true Barney Ewell grabbed first place with a 6.2. Take nothing away from the Ebony Express. But the kid who ran second did a time which took first place at the New York A.C. games in Madison Square Garden over the weekend!

"It isn't the first time I've run second for a team. In high school, I ran behind Johnny Neyer, who was state sprint champ in 1939," the kid grinned as he wiped back his hair.

We asked Don what about his dad. Wasn't he quite a trackman one time, too?

"You're not kidding. My dad was captain of the State track team in 1916 and held the 100-yard dash record here for a while. He also anchored a relay team here that was undefeated from 1914 to 1916. I guess he was pretty good."

We wanted to know what the senior Dolbin was doing now.

"He's chiropracting down home in Pottsville. On the side he coaches the Crimson Club track team, a local athletic club which has quite a rep for its track ability around the eastern part of the state."

We asked one more question. Do you think you'll ever beat Barney?

"Can't say. We're both juniors. I've always run second since I can remember."

We went out of the locker room, thinking that a first and second place in sprints might do yard dash record here for awhile. good these next two years.

Nittany Cagers Display Fast, Spectacular Play To Win In Rec Hall; Hold 22-11 Lead At Halftime

By JOHN BAER

Captain Johnny Barr racked up a total of 21 points and combined this with inspired floor play to pace the Nittany cagers to a 45-38 triumph over Georgetown's Hoyas in Rec Hall last night.

It is not known whether Barr's 21 point score is a record because no statistics are kept. However, it is reasonably certain that this is the highest individual total made in Rec Hall during the last 10 or 12 years. The game was without doubt the best seen on the local floor all season. State was daring, aggressive and played spectacular ball for the entire 40 minutes.

Georgetown, too, was good but far from good enough. Except for a short time late in the second half the Hoyas were handcuffed by an almost airtight Lion defense. When they, themselves, were on the defense, the Georgetown passers failed to find the answer to an attack which repeatedly had the crowd on its feet.

The first eight minutes of the ball game were hotly contested but Barr tossed in an overhead shot to give State a 9-8 lead which was never relinquished. At this point the Lions had complete control of the ball game and pulled away to a comfortable 22-11 margin at the half. Seven of these 22 points were chalked up by Captain Barr.

It was Barr again on a fast break as the second half opened. Jim Geibel and Captain Irv Rizzi accounted for two fouls and then it was Barr, this time with a one-hand toss from the corner. The score: 26-13.

Midway in the last half the State attack bogged down momentarily while Georgetown got five consecutive points but the Hoya flurry was short-lived. Just before the gun sounded Georgetown went on a six-point splurge but it was ineffective as the Lions continued to match point for point.

The summary:

Penn State (45)	G.	F.	Pts.
Barr, f	8	5	21
Gross, f	2	3	7
Baltimore, c	2	1	5
Grimes, g	2	1	5
Ramin, g	0	0	0
Moffatt	3	1	7
Totals	17	11	45

Hess, who switched positions with Charlie Ridenour and wrestled at 128-pounds for the first time against Navy, and Gleason have garnered four wins apiece, each failing to participate in one match.

One Speidelman fell from the undefeated ranks at Navy when Joe Scalzo, 155-pounder, lost a close overtime decision to Navy's Captain Dick King who came down from the 165-pound class to meet Scalzo. Only seven seconds separated the Lion grappler from a victory as King tied him on time advantage and outlasted his lighter opponent in extra-time.

Elimination bouts for Saturday's fracas were started last night with Bill Stanley losing a close bout to Hess for the 128-pound spot and Scalzo trouncing Jack Hunsicker. Glen Alexander, veteran 145-pounder who has clinched his position since the Maryland match will meet Allan Crabtree today.

Plans Big Show

Leo Houck, veteran Lion boxing coach, will have a big reception ready for the Army's ring invasion Saturday night.

Houck Will Stage Formal Spectacle

According to Leo Houck, authorities on what to wear at Penn State-Army boxing meets call for formal dress in Rec Hall at 7 p. m. Saturday night.

In honor of the Army, the good doctor has planned a gala show, including a performance by the Blue Band, full dress appearance of Scabbard and Blade, and ring-side seats for dignitaries. Officers of the department of military science and tactics will sit in a special section.

Not only will the Rec Hall scene be novel, but Leo will spring a new lineup for the Army meet. Jimmy Lewis, 165-pound EIBA champ, will take the 155-pound assignment for his first appearance this year. Lewis has been out of the lineup because of a prolonged cold.

Paul "Smoky" Mall will return to the State lineup at 175, moving Les Cohen back to 165.

Cub Five Swamps Bucknell, 55-21

The Nittany Cub courtmen defeated the Bucknell frosh for the second time this season by trouncing the Bisons to the tune of 55-21 in Rec Hall last night.

After playing listless and evenly matched ball in the first half the Lion Cubs rallied to tally 38 more points in the second stanza. The half time score was 17-7.

Sid Cohen, with 13 tallies, and Larry Gent, scoring 10 markers, paced the Cubs to their fourth victory of the season out of five starts.

After the first five minutes of play the Bucknell yearlings were on the long end of a 5-1 count but a long shot by Gent and a tip from Cohen tied the contest at the eight minute mark. The Thielmen never once gave up the lead from that point.

'44 Boxers Hold Final Practice For Army Meet

The eight freshmen to step in the ring and exchange leather with the plebes at West Point tomorrow night in the frosh mitmen's final meet will not be definitely determined until after the final warmup practice today at 11 a. m.

After dropping decisions to Syracuse and Cornell, Coach Danny DeMarino promises that the team which faces the frosh cadets tomorrow will be "giving everything" to grab a victory and end its season in the win column.
