

Reshuffled Boxing Team Seeks Victory Over West Pointers; Lions Clash With Powerful Cornell Matmen At 8 P. M. Tonight

Between The Lions

With DICK PETERS

Ringling Bros. had three rings, but today is pine-ring day at Penn State's sports hippodrome—Rec Hall. A sports editor's nightmare, but an athletic fanatic's utopia, is how you might describe today's schedule for Lion spectators. . . . It's too bad the Army basketball team couldn't be wheedled into playing here, so that the percentage for home attractions could be 100 per cent, but who are we to complain? . . . Probably, the biggest feature of the day will be the appearance of EIBA champ Jim Lewis for the Nittany boxing squad. . . . Jarrin Jim hasn't shown before a home town crowd since the Intercollegiate last spring. . . . He hasn't entered the ring since the Nationals at Wisconsin, so that all eyes will be watching the 155 pound spot where the former 165 titleholder is making his first bow. . . . There may also be a surprise if Wade Mori, State grid star, makes his debut at the unlimited post for Dr. Houck's proteges. . . . If Mori does fight, he'll be the first man in this writer's mind who has wrestled and boxed at the heavyweight spot for the Lions since Adam was a pile of dust. . . . The burly grizzer went to the mat for Charlie Speidel at the Navy meet last year, if you remember. . . . The gym meet in the afternoon will be a whip. . . . These Minnesota Gophers are star-studded and will give the Wettstone acrobats just the tuneup they need before tackling Temple next Saturday. . . . Also here's the best of everything to Bob Galbraith and his swimmers who take on Rutgers at the Glennland pool this afternoon. . . . Bob's coach is mentoring the Rutgers paddlers, which adds quite a feature to the meet. . . . As one last thought, how about giving the athletes a break, all day. . . . Light that cigarette after you get out of Rec Hall. . . . It'll taste better to you and the athletes will enjoy it more, too.

Lion Cagers Meet Army This Afternoon; Cadets Seek 4th Straight Win

In the only away contest of the day for Nittany teams, the varsity cagers tussle with an old rival, the Army, at West Point at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The series with the Cadets dates back to 1907. However, the teams have met only 11 times, six victories going to the Lions and five to the Army. Last year the score was State 47, Army 20. The Cadets will be seeking their first win since 1932 when they triumphed 46-37.

The Army has a better-than-usual team this season as attested by their 44-37 victory over West Virginia's Mountaineers last Wednesday. It was the third consecutive win for the West Pointers.

Starting for the Lions tomorrow will be the expected five—Captain Johnny Barr and Scott Moffatt at forwards, Herk Baltimore at center, and Elmer Gross and Dick Grimes at the guards.

Lewis Will Box First Bout At 155 Pounds; Mori May Fight Heavy

By STAN POKEMPNER

A rejuvenated and reshuffled Nittany Lion boxing team will battle Army for its first victory since defeating Western Maryland, 7-1, in the season's opener, amidst a glamorous military setting in Rec Hall at 7 p. m. today. Jimmy Lewis, EIBA 165-pound champ, will enter the ring tonight for the first time in the 155-pound division. Lewis' bout tonight is his first since he won the intercollegiate title last March.

Coach Leo Houck has not definitely chosen between Wade Mori, stellar football guard, and Harry Masters for the heavy-weight assignment, though Mori is favored for the position.

Paul Scally will move down to the 175-pound post, with Paul Mall handling the 165-pound division. Bob Baird will answer the 145-pound call.

Captain Red Stanko, still at his 135-pound post, may meet Army's Captain Rising, 145-pound third place winner in last year's intercollegiate. Clay, another "probable" on Army's list, took the 175-pound EIBA third place last year, may box heavy tonight.

Houck's lineup for the lighter weights remains the same, with Vic Fiore, the "Fighting Barber" at 120, and Bill Mazzocco at 127. The probable lineup:

Wt. P.S.	Army
120—Fiore	Lahm
127—Mazzocco	Ryan
135—Stanko	Rising
145—Baird	Steadman
155—Lewis	Rippin
165—Mall	O'Connor
175—Scally	Lane
Heavy—Mori	Clay

Foilsmen Cross Blades With Quakers In Rec Hall At 2 P.M. Today

A major victory will be the Lion fencing team's goal when it crosses swords with University of Pennsylvania foils in Rec Hall at 2 p. m. today. The time of the meet was moved up from 4 p. m.

Against Penn, in its first fencing appearance here, Penn State's Coach Harry Krutter will start the same lineup, with one exception, that defeated Syracuse last week. Previously, the Lions were defeated by Seton Hall—who also downed the Quakers—Army, Navy, and Cornell.

Foil: Co-captain Les Kutz, Bill Sheriff, Allan Gussack.

Epee: Co-captain Elmer Lowenstein, Doug Adams, Bob Harder.

Sabre: Ed Zarger, Kutz, Jack Good.

4 Frosh Teams Compete On Home Ground Today

Playing their last home game of the season, Coach Nick Thiel's yearling cagers will open today's nine feature sports bill when they clash with a Susquehanna freshman outfit in Rec Hall at 1 p. m.

Cornell's "Little Red" grapplers will also invade the Nittany Lion's lair at 4 p. m. today, in an attempt to hand the frosh wrestlers their first setback of the season.

The frosh swimmers, trimmed by Mercersburg in their first meet, will attempt to even their record at Glennland Pool this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when they close their campaign against Cornell University's yearling swimmers.

The yearling gym team will play host to the Temple gymnasts in Rec Hall at 2 p. m.

Penn State Holds First Intercollegiate Ski Meet

The first intercollegiate ski meet ever held at Penn State will get under way at 1:30 p. m.

The teams entered in the meet are: Colgate, Hobart, Haverford, Grove City, and Penn State. Colgate's skiers copped the New York Intercollegiate title last week.

Battle Of Light Weights Seen As Nittany Squad Seeks 5th Mat Victory

By ROSS LEHMAN

A victory-hungry Nittany Lion will stand guard at its lair and attempt to beat off the powerful Big Red of Cornell as Coach Charlie Speidel's grapplers seek their fifth triumph in Rec Hall at 8 o'clock tonight following the Penn State-Army boxing tilt.

A clash in the 121-pound division promises to highlight the mat struggle as Little Charlie Ridenour battles Joe Littleton. Littleton, who has captured three of four bouts, has moved down from 128 pounds to meet Ridenour.

Clair Hess, undefeated 128-pounder, attempts a comeback victory over Harry Crandall who decisioned Hess last year in an overtime bout.

Captain Frank Gleason and Chuck Rohrer will risk their season's undefeated streak, and Glenn Alexander will seek his third straight win after his only loss at Princeton.

The probable lineup:

121 pounds: Charlie Ridenour vs. Joe Littleton, Cornell.

128 pounds: Clair Hess vs. Harry Crandall or Dick Nickerson, Cornell.

136 pounds: Captain Frank Gleason vs. Bob Everingham, Cornell.

145 pounds: Glenn Alexander vs. Joe Mount or Tom Nobis, Cornell.

155 pounds: Joe Scalzo vs. Ted Bowen, Cornell.

165 pounds: Chuck Rohrer vs. Fred Riggs, Cornell.

175 pounds: Joe Valla vs. Forbes Brown, Cornell.

Heavyweight: Jack Kerns vs. Captain Reg Harrison, Cornell.

ROTC To Cheer Army

Don't be alarmed if the ROTC students and officers seem confused and are cheering for the wrong team at the Army boxing meet here tonight. They will be only imitating the custom used at West Point of having a group of cadets cheer for the visiting team.

Big Ten Champs Meet Gym Team

A well-balanced University of Minnesota gym team, defending Big Ten champion, invades the Lions' lair today to furnish the State acrobats with their toughest competition of the season. The meet is scheduled to get under way in Rec Hall at 2 p. m.

The Gophers bring only four competitors with them on their initial invasion of State College but their decisive victory over Chicago, loser to State last Saturday, indicates a definite threat to Coach Gene Wettstone's minions. Included in the visitors' lineup is Co-Captain Bon Hanning, national champ on the parallel bars and Co-Captain Delver Daly, Big Ten all-around champion. The two leaders are given considerable support by Newton Loken and Frank Grossman.

To stave off the Mid-Westerners' threat, Wettstone will rely chiefly on his four consistent point winners, Roman Pieo, Lew Bordo, Sol Small and John Trybala. Not daunted by Minnesota's reputation, the Lion mentor expects State to emerge a close winner if all four reliables perform true to form. The Lions have won two out of three meets to date, defeating Navy and Chicago while losing to Army.

Nittany Tankmen Face Strong Rutgers Team

Conceded the Lions toughest opponent this year, the powerful Rutgers swimming team comes here at 2 p. m. today to battle the Nittany men in their last home meet.

In view of the fact that Rutgers decisively drubbed Penn last week and that the Quakers promptly downed the State swimmers, the Lions' chances for turning the tables on the visitors are slim.

But as Coach Bob Galbraith says, "Swimming is one sport that is hard to predict," and the tilt with Rutgers may find the State splashers on the long end of the score when the spray has blown away.
