

Weaver Named Matrix Girl At BWOC Banquet

Coed Journalists Honor Craighead, Fagans

Elinor L. Weaver '41 was named Matrix Girl, Jean C. Craighead '41, Cap Girl, and Eleanor L. Fagans '41, Quill Girl at the annual Matrix Banquet in the Nittany Lion Inn last night before 150 prominent town, faculty, and campus women.

The matrix award is presented each year to the senior coed who has done most for the College, the cap award to the most versatile senior, and the quill to the coed voted most popular by women students.

Members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary presented a take-off on women in journalism and showed scenes from the office of "The Pants Press," a college publication edited by women.

Miss S. M. R. O'Hara, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, spoke to guests of the journalism honorary, sponsor of the formal dinner, on "Women in the Changing World."

"We must condition our minds to this changing world and its strong demands," Miss O'Hara declared. "We who have the advantage of a college education and access to a cultural background must determine whether American standards and traditions are worth fighting for."

"Today we are facing a condition, not an argument. Only those with the ideal of more living from day to day will survive."

"Dangers and benefits are not far away because we think we can measure them in miles because miles have shrunk," Miss O'Hara concluded.

Coed To Ask Man For WSGA Date

The opportunity of a coeds' life is knocking its solitary knock, and she may ask, beg, or drag the man-of-her-life to dance to the music of the Nittany Nine at WSGA's dance in Rec Hall from 9 p. m. to midnight Friday, March 21.

The real surprise comes with the announcement by Mary W. Houghton '42, chairman of the dance, that this one is "on the house." All coeds and their dates will be admitted free-of-charge upon presentation of matriculation cards at the door.

Six women have been appointed to serve on two dance committees. In charge of publicity are Mildred B. Schmidt '43, chairman, Mary Jane Spear '44, and F. Doris Stevenson '44. Working on the invitation committee are M. Elizabeth Shields '43, chairman, Reba H. Hough '43, and Ruth E. Pearce '44.

AEPHI Holds Reception

Alpha Epsilon Phi held a reception for four fraternities at the home of Mrs. Frank Schlow at 7 p. m., Sunday. They were Beta Sigma Rho, Gamma Sigma Phi, Phi Sigma Delta, and Phi Epsilon Pi.

March 15 Deadline Set For BWRS Knitting

All knitting for the British War Relief Society must be returned completed by March 15 to E. Elizabeth Mason '42 and Margaret K. Sherman '43.

Calls for knitted articles for soldiers have become more urgent and coeds making helmets, scarves, sweaters, and mittens are urged to return them as soon as possible.

Women Debaters Meet Two Gettysburg Teams

Upholding the negative side of the proposition, "Resolved, that the nations of the western hemisphere should join into a permanent union" Lois J. Hunter '42 and Sara R. Lipser '42 debated a Gettysburg College team at Gettysburg Mornday.

Dorothy K. Brunner '44 and Olive B. Van Houten '44 also argue against a union with a Gettysburg freshman team.

We, The Women Rushing Committee Solicits Your Opinion

This year's Rushing Code had its faults. No one will deny it. Complaints and criticisms both during rushing and afterwards have been numerous from freshmen, from sorority women, and from the administration. But that is past. The problem now is what can be done about it.

Heretofore destructive criticism can become constructive if diverted into the right channels—if voiced to those persons whose job it is to listen, to act. Those who have so readily condemned parts of the system can benefit themselves as well as others by complaining to members of the Panhellenic Rushing Committee or to pledge presidents of each house who today will begin revision of the code.

"If rushing took too much time, why did it? If all breakfast dates, lunch dates, and morning rushing were eliminated, maybe we could attend classes for the first 10 days of the new semester. An 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. stretch is a long time for anyone to drink cokes, to carry on a sparkling conversation, and to be a happy hostess," you might suggest concretely.

Observations like this are a welcome aid to the committee which is faced with Panhellenic's most difficult problem of the year. Like our forefathers faced with revising the outmoded Articles of Confederation, this group of women must tear down and reconstruct the present code and emerge with a finished product more capable of serving its purpose than this year's.

They will be only too glad for your opinions—submit your two cents.
