Nine Seniors Named To Phi Beta Kappa

Six Women, Three Men Pass Requirements

Nine seniors, six women and three men, were named to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary, yesterday after completing requirements of a liberal curriculum and an All-College average of 2.5.

M. Elizabeth Baker, Harris Freedman, Gertrude H. Hecht, Norman Racusin, and Edythe B. Rickel have been selected from the arts and letters curriculum: William R. Brink, M. Janet Gillespie, and Nelia M. Hazard, education; and Elinor L. Weaver, psychology.

Specific qualifications for selection include the completion of six credits from six of the biological sciences, physical sciences, social studies, philosophy and psychology, mathematics, English language and literature, foreign languages, and arts. Furthermore, work must have been liberal in character, with all courses subject to the approval of the local chapter, which eliminates vocational courses.

More than 50 per cent of all those elected must be from the School of the Liberal Arts but only 10 per cent of the total receiving Bachelor of Arts degrees can be taken. Character as well as scholarship is considered and the secret vote of chapter members is final.

Lambda chapter was installed on this campus in the spring of 1938 after a 15-year struggle for recognition by the College. Dr. Bruce V. Moore, head of the department of education and psychology, is president.

Doubls Expressed On Honor System

Mingled interest and skepticism has been the general campus reaction to the possibility of an "honor system" at Penn State, interviews with prominent campus figures revealed yesterday.

As A. R. Warnock, dean of men, pointed out, "The burden of administering such an honor system in a student body of oursize and kind would be more than our student government could manage."

A little more optimistic about this plan of putting the students of Penn State on their honor in regard to lying, stealing, and cheating, was W. Lewis Corbin '41, chairman of Tribunal who stated, "An honor plan must be started with a small group of students, and as fast as it proves successful, it should be gradually enlarged. The system should not be tried on students already enrolled, but with a new freshman class, if and when they wholeheartedly consent to such a set Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, expressed the opinion that a plan such as this must come from the students themselves. "I think the students would want such a system, as it is in complete accord with the "Spirit of Penn State."

PSCA president A John Currier observed that an honor plan would take a long time to establish, and would be difficult to enforce, but, he said, "Penn State is in need of such a plan that would give students a sense of responsibility in regard to their own honor and that of their fellow students. It certainly is worth a try."

Exam Copies Requested For Use in Student File

Professors who have not yet submitted copies of examinations for use in the student file are urged to do so as soon as possible, David I. Finkle '41 announced vesterday.

If exam copies are not available, professors should draw up set of questions that will adequately cover material in their pre-medical students to sign. courses, Finkle requested.

McFadden Quits Independent Post

William F. McFadden '43 has resigned as chairman of the sophomore Independent clique, it was announced last night, because of a too heavy burden in school work this semester.

"There has been no dissension in the party," McFadden revealed, "but I must devote much of my spare time in catching up with my studies." No one will replace McFadden.

The first Penn State political jamboree of its kind will be held on the Cathaum stage at approximately 8:15 p.m. today between the first and second shows when the parties will have an opportunity to present their candidates.

Ten minutes will be allotted to the Campus and Independent parties, with the All-College aspirants either planning to deliver short platform speeches or stage minute skits.

Smith will be in the registrars soon. Citizens evacuated all areas office tomorrow morning for all

Committee Sponsors Contest For Imports

"Beat Me Daddy Eight to The Bar" Will Bradley and his popular young band, featuring Ray McKinley, known as "America's Greatest Musical Drummer," has been signed for Interfraternity Ball April 4, Chairman George L. Parrish '41 announced last

Hailed by popular music fans as the "band of 1941," Will Bradley's orchestra has introduced its theme song and "Scrub Me Mamma With A Boogie Beat," to place itself among the top bands with its distinctive style in boogie woogie rhythm.

Ranked with Tommy Dorsey and Jack Teagarden, as a trombonist, Bradley offers Ray Mc-Kinley who does double duty at the drums and novelty songs. six-foot Terry Allen and 19-yearold Lynn Gardner as vocalists, and pianist Freddie Slack.

A unique feature of the ball will be a contest in which the best sentence on the subject "Why I want to come to Penn State for IF Ball weekend," will be selected from entries submitted by any girl who resides in Pennsylvania or attends a college or university in Pennsylvania. No coed attending Penn State is eligible.

Transportation by rail, bus, or automobile from any point in the state and a rating as special guest of the IF committee will be offered to the girl who writes the best sentence, which must be addressed to the committee at Student Union. The postmark must be no later than March 29.

The winner will be announced April 3, Parrish revealed, and she will be introduced at the IF Ball intermission.
