

Cabinet Accepts Four Changes In 41-42 Budget

Four changes were included in the 1941-42 All-College Cabinet budget, which was approved at Cabinet meeting last night.

The budget provides for the following changes:

1. Advance the expenses of Cabinet and Tribunal approximately $300 to allow for additions in school council budgets.

2. Equalize compensation at $300 apiece for both All-College president and senior class president.

3. Eliminate numeral award item of approximately $1,000, since these awards will be conducted hereafter by the Athletic Association. Eliminate both the reward item of $600 and the $60 audit charge.

4. Correction of women's LaVie receipts to more nearly the actual receipt figure.

Cabinet passed by a 9-3 vote the motion made by Frank R. Flynn '43 to accept President Ralph D. Hetzel's plan of solving the Chapel offering dispute. Under the president's plan, a committee composed of three members each from Cabinet and the Penn State in China committee will determine if Cabinet has the authority to change the disposition of Chapel offerings. Prof. John H. Frizzell, chairman of the Chapel committee, will head the special group.

The three students appointed by Vice-president Robert N. Baker '41 to represent Cabinet on the Chapel fund committee are Adam A. Smyser '41, William B. Bartholomew '41, and Richard C. Peters '41.

Campus Spring Cleanup Is Ahead Of Schedule By Three Weeks

Transformation of the college campus from dull winter brown to bright spring green began three weeks ahead of the usual schedule, according to Walter H. Trainer, campus maintenance supervisor.

An extensive program to maintain the 160 acres of beautiful campus lawns requires the employment of 11 men, working steadily, and a large amount of material.

A few years ago, paper and rubbish was picked up from the campus by one man working two days a week. Now, one man works full time on the job. Fourteen percent of the finances allotted for the upkeep of the lawns is expended for this work.

The 106 acre campus lawns, including the 12 new acres this year, require mowing once a week during the 2 week schedule. Thirty-two tons of fertilizer and 1,225 pounds of grass seed were used this spring to shape up the lawns.

Six men working on shrubs and three on trees complete the campus maintenance crew. The workers are kept busy as the campus is host to a tree and shrub collection of some 520 varieties which receive about 11,500 gallons of spray a year.

Thirty-six men make up the landscape construction crew who work mainly on the 12 miles of campus concrete and macadam walks. They also keep in condition the 12 miles of roads, driveways, and parking lots that can accommodate parking for 1,324 cars.

Will Start Next Fall On Water Tower Site

Heinz Warneke, noted animal sculptor, agreed to carve the Lion Shrine yesterday and he will probably start the project next fall, upon the approval of the Board of Trustees. The site will be in front of the Water Tower.

Roughing and preparing of the stone, a piece of limestone, will be done at a quarry, but final cutting will be made by hand on the campus, Warneke has announced.

The shrine will assume proportions three times life-size and be mounted on a small base. Though no official contract has yet been signed, Warneke said he would do the work for the original $5,340 fund appropriated by the class of 1940.

"I believe in the work the College is doing for the sake of art," the sculptor stated, "and I will try to traditionalize the figure of the lion."

In yesterday's visit to the campus Warneke brought six plaster models and three full scale drawings of lion figures. From these models the Shrine committee selected a characteristic mountain lion.

Moving to the shrine site, the committee was shown the full-scale drawing on a screen to determine how surrounding architectural features would lend to the size of the shrine.

Warneke is prepared to start the shrine as soon as the College architectural committee approves the lion figure. It has already recommended the site. Final approval rests with the Board of Trustees which meets next month.

Warneke's official contract will be drawn up in a few days by the committee.
