We, The Women Charm 634 Not Essential Here

Boiled down, the conclusion reads, if you want a husband and want him quick, steer clear of college—at least, one that doesn't offer Charm 634!

Marriage possibilities decrease 50%, according to recent statistics, when a woman gets her college degree.

Charm has been suggested to offset this terrific handicap. Perhaps that is why so many women's colleges incorporate charm courses in their curricula.

That leaves co-educational institutions behind the eight-ball and the daily information coeds get about accepting male temperament equaling a minus quantity.

Argument for women's colleges, aided by the belief that every woman is gunning for her No. 1 Object in life, would seem to be advanced by these statistics.

Perhaps we should submit Penn State statistics to disprove the prevalent theory—two out of every three alumnae married between 1921 and 1935, and more than 53% married to Penn State graduates!

Martha Duffman Wins New WRA Scholarship

The new WRA scholarship was awarded to Martha G. Duffman '43 at its annual banquet last night by Betty L. Zeigler '42, WRA president.

Marjory A. Harwick '41 received a gold gavel and chain for excellent work as WRA president, and Miss Mildred A. Lucy, WRA Board faculty advisor, was given an initialed weekend bag.

Chi Omega was presented the basketball and intramural cups and individual intramural winners were given honorable mention.

The 125 honorary guests were greeted by Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, and Carl P. Schott, dean of physical education, after which Miss Marie Haidt, head of the women's physical education department, spoke.

Krimcon, local social sorority, has pledged Jean S. Fisher '43 and A. Corrine Hughes '43.
