WSGA House Announces Transfer Program

A coffee hour, a meeting to explain WSGA regulations and a play night will be included in transfer orientation by WSGA House of Representatives, Margaret K. Sherman, speaker, announced yesterday.
Administration of the women in defense plan adopted Tuesday by WSGA Senate will be carried out by the House. Program provisions include nursing instruction, office training, establishment of recreational and health centers, cooperation with the Red Cross, and establishment of a registry bureau for women.

Announcement by Cwens that they will revert to their old tradition of going through halls to awaken freshmen before the Cwen breakfast deserves commendable praise.
Three years ago, this practice was abandoned. As a result, each year fewer and fewer freshmen appeared at the ceremonial feast. Even recipients of the honor were absent.
Much ado was made on the part of upperclasswomen, sophomores, and freshmen themselves about the apparent lack of interest which indirectly disparaged the honor.
Honorary tappings start May Day off with zest. The day's program doesn't spring from haphazard planning the preceding day—it is the result of four months thoughtful organization.
Revival of the traditional awakening indicates Cwens are anxious to instill the festive spirit—let's show for once, at least, that we are appreciative.

Home Economists Name Six To Education Council

SUNDAY, MAY 11th
IS MOTHER'S DAY

After all, the most personal gift you can send Mother on her day is the sound of your own voice. So when Sunday rolls around, go to your telephone and let her know you haven't forgotten. It costs little. Rates on most Long Distance calls are reduced all day every Sunday—and every night after 7.
