CAA Accepts 11 Students; More Applicants Asked For

Symphonic Band To Play Thursday

The symphonic band of the Band and Orchestra School, under the direction of Dr. George Sallade Howard, will present its first concert of the summer session season in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday night. The program has not been selected as yet but it will be of a modernistic type, of popular appeal.

Of special interest to concert lovers is the announcement that Pierre Henrotte, concertmeister and conductor of the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra for 15 years, will be guest conductor of the evening.

The band this summer is composed of 148 members, who are all more advanced at this stage of their training than last summer's training. They comprise the cream of the crop among the eastern high schools, nearly all of them having soloist rating in their school orchestras.

Dr. Howard has brought his faculty and staff along with him, none having been with him less long as 10 years. He expects last summer's success to be repeated by the current group of young musicians.

In speaking about his proteges, the noted conductor called them the most talented he has ever conducted. The members, he said, were selected on the basis of their ability, which far above the average. Several have been winners in the National High School Music Contests and most have won honors in the Forensic Music League or in state or district contests.

Air Film To Be Shown Monday Afternoon

A film, "Conquest of the Air," will be shown in Room 10 Sparks Building at 4:30 p. m. Monday under the sponsorship of the audio-visual aids department.

The film is an educational documentary sound picture showing the history of man's struggle to conquer the air from the earliest attempts at flying to modern Clipper planes.

To Hold Dinner

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of St. Paul's Methodist Church will serve a full-course turkey dinner from 5 to 7 p. m. next Thursday, July 17, in the social rooms of the church, East College Avenue and McAllister Street.

Three Gibbons—'Lo' 'FDR,' 'Blackie'—Join Psych Staff

The staff of the College psychological laboratory has just welcomed three additions named "Lo," Franklin D. Roosevelt," and "Blackie." The three are gibbons, smallest of the anthropoid apes.

Arriving from Puerto Rico, the gibbons, which are more closely related to man than any of the monkeys, were met by Dr. C. R. Carpenter, student of their behavior both in their native habitats and in captivity.

About 30 inches tall, weighing 10 and 12 pounds, they have long arms with a reach of three and a half to four feet. Their very expressive faces are black, surrounded by a ring of white, and their bodies are covered with deep woolly fur. Their ears are almost identical in shape to those of man.

Like human beings, they are very particular about the food which is fed to them three times a day, and they daintily discard new food until they become accustomed to it. One of their favorites is watermelon, although they also like lettuce, celery, cherries, strawberries, rice, cornbread, cooked sweet potatoes, and carrots. Their presence here gives the

Dr. Harold C. Case Here For Vesper Service

Dr. Harold C. Case, pastor of the Elm Park Methodist Church in Scranton will be the speaker at the weekly vesper service in Schwab Auditorium at 7:30 Sunday night.

The service will be preceded by a concert by the band of the Band and Orchestra School. Dr. George Sallade Howard will be the conductor. The concert will be on front campus if weather conditions permit. In event of bad weather it will be in the auditorium.

Hedlund Named Department Head

Dr. Glenn W. Hedlund, at present a member of the Cornell University faculty, has been named head of the department of agricultural economics.

Dr. Hedlund will replace Dr. Fred F. Lininger who will devote full time to his duties as vice-dean of the School of Agriculture and vice-director of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

The new department head graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1930 and received his doctor of philosophy degree from Cornell in 1936. He has been a member of the teaching staff at Cornell since September, 1930.

From August, 1936, to July, 1937, Dr. Hedlund served as professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nanking, China. In 1939 he served as a member of an agricultural investigating committee of three for the government of Bermuda.

Dr. Hedlund is a member of the American Farm Economics Association; Sigma Xi, graduate scientific fraternity; Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity; and Alpha Zeta, agricultural social fraternity.

All students who get in the way of the fire company going to and at the scene of a fire will be arrested, police have warned.

Group Smallest Ever Taken Here

Eleven students have been accepted for the Civilian Pilot Training course sponsored by the College in cooperation with the Civic Aeronautics Authority, it was announced yesterday by Charles L. Allen, coordinator of the course and assistant professor of mechanical engineering.

Professor Allen said that four or five more trainees could still be accepted if their applications are received this afternoon. Application blanks may be obtained in Room 208 Main Engineering.

The group is the smallest ever to take the CAA course here. Thirty have been in each previous class.

The reason given for the decrease was that many potential applicants joined the Army Air Corps during an intensive recruiting campaign conducted on the campus during the regular session.

The 11 trainees were selected from about 20 who applied before the opening of the main summer session, Professor Allen said. He explained that because students one of the trainees will be designated as an alternate.

He said that the alternate will be chosen on the basis of progress made during early training and will continue with ground courses but not receive flight instruction.

Casts Announced For Two Plays

Casts were released yesterday for the two full-length plays to be given during summer session, "The Night of January 16th," and "Moor Born."

"The Night of January 16th" will be presented on July 23 and "Moor Born" on July 30. Both plays will be in Schwab Auditorium.

Tickets for "The Night of January 16th" will go on sale at Student Union, Room 101 Old Main, next Wednesday. All seats are reserved and are priced at 50 cents. Tickets for "Moor Born" will be put on sale a week before the production date.

In the first play, a murder mystery, members of the audience will act as the jury, determining the outcome of the play. According to Frank S. Neusbaum, director, jury members will be chosen by lot. He asked that persons willing to serve on the jury leave their names when they buy tickets at Student Union or at the box office the night of the play.

The cast for "The Night of January 16th" is as follows:

Karen Andre, Margaret Hughes; Stevens, defense attorney. Thomas Francis; Flint, the district attorney, Robert Metzler; Nancy Lee Faulkner; Dorothy Mathias; Judge Heath, John Miller; Dr. Kirkland, Murray Rosenthal; Mrs. John Hutchings, Louise Spears.

Mr. Neusbaum said that several

Bruman To Talk On Mexican People In Schwab Auditorium Tuesday

Will Also Play Records, Show Slides

Dr. Henry J. Bruman, instructor in geography, will speak on "The People of Mexico" in Schwab Auditorium at 7:30 Tuesday night. The lecture is part of the campus program to widen interest in Latin-American activities.

Dr. Bruman will accompany his lecture with recordings of the music of the Huichol and Zapotec Indians. He will also show slides of Mexican scenes and exhibit Indian textiles.

In his talk, he will emphasize the Mexican Indian peoples—particularly the Huichols, Zapotecs, and the Chamulas of central Chiapas. Material for the lecture was collected on field trips several years ago when Dr. Bruman was a field fellow of the Social Science Research Council.

On one of these trips he spent three weeks with the Huichol Indians, one of the most primitive tribes on the continent and one which very few people have ever visited. During Dr. Bruman's mule-back trip through the Huichol country, he acquired a collection of ethnographic objects which are now in the Field Museum in Chicago.

The record of Huichol music which Dr. Bruman will play was made under his personal direction with equipment lent by the Mexican government. There are just three copies in existence. Two are owned by Dr. Bruman and the other by the Mexican government.

Dr. Bruman was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1935 and obtained his doctor's degree at the University of California in 1940. He came here last fall.

Directories Available

Many students who purchased a copy of the Summer Session Student Directory have not yet called for their copy at Student Union, Old Main. Receipt cards must be presented. Extra copies are on sale for 15 cents.

Tomorrow Is Saturday But Go To Class Anyway

Saturday is ordinarily a holiday for summer session students but tomorrow won't be. Because of time lost during registration on Monday, June 30, classes will be held during the entire day. The regular Monday schedule will be followed.

2,339 Students Now Enrolled

Latest enrollment figures released from the registrar's office show that 2,339 students are attending the main summer session on the campus.

In addition about 15 students are enrolled at the Altoona undergraduate center where a few courses are being given. Of the 2,339 on campus, 2,234 are undergraduates or graduate students and 107 are enrolled in the Band and Orchestra School.

Total campus enrollment is 482 less than last year. The decrease has been attributed to national defense which has provided summer jobs for many students who ordinarily attend College summer sessions.
