Bus Passenger Sought For Clue To Lost Student

Thomas P. Meehan, Jr., '43, missing since June 29, was still unheard from yesterday but he had been traced as far as Harrisburg where he had stopped while on the way to State College by bus.

It was learned that two persons, one of them identified as Meehan, had boarded, in Philadelphia, a bus which was scheduled to arrive in State College at 2:31 a. m. on June 30. The other passenger was a girl, according to police. They were both seen to get off the bus at Harrisburg where passengers must transfer to State College.

The girl was not believed to have been traveling with Meehan but she was sought on the chance that she might have information which would help in the search for the missing student.

Local police do not believe that the youth got off the bus at State College. They said that he has not been seen here by friends and has not been in touch with College officials.

No reason has yet been given for Meehan's disappearance. When he was first reported missing last Monday it was reported that he was an amnesia victim but this was said yesterday to be entirely unfounded.

Meehan was a junior and registered in the transition section. He was about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighed about 145 pounds, and had black curly hair.

He was a member of Theta Kappa Phi fraternity. His fraternity brothers have been asked to report to police if Meehan contacts them.

2nd Fun Night Saturday

Last week's program having enjoyed great success with nearly 900 attending the activities, the second Fun Night will be held in Recreation Hall from 7 p. m. till midnight tomorrow with a record attendance expected by the directors Miss Margie Haidt and Arthur F. Davis.

Once again country and square dancing will be featured, under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude McDermott, state director for WPA of women's recreation. Social dancing to victrola music will conclude the evening's program.

In addition to the dancing there will be as usual a wide variety of games and other activities which proved so popular at previous Fun Nights. Badminton is the most popular of the games and several courts will be available to the followers of this rapidly growing sport.

All game participants are requested to wear rubber soled shoes, especially tennis shoes, so as not to damage the gym floor. Admission is free to students and faculty members only.

Cap And Gown Orders Due Next Week

All students expecting to graduate at the end of the main summer session should order caps and gowns next Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, July 23 and 24. Orders will be received in the mailing room in the basement of the Burrowes Building.

INTERVENTION in the present European war by the United States will be the subject of a talk by Philip LaFollette in Schwab Auditorium at 8:15 Monday night. His speech will be sponsored by the America First Committee.

Philip LaFollette To Speak Monday

Philip LaFollette, former governor of Wisconsin, will speak in Schwab Auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Monday in a meeting sponsored by the America First Committee. His topic will be "Should the United States Intervene in the Present European War?"

LaFollette was Wisconsin's governor for three terms, from 1931 to 1933 and from 1935 to 1939. After his last term he traveled in Europe and returned to the United States to become one of this country's leading non-interventionists.

He is generally regarded as a brilliant, forceful speaker. Louis Adamic calls him "one of the best campaigners in America today."

LaFollette is the younger of two famous sons of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, nationally prominent Progressive leader. The other son, Robert, succeeded his father as United States Senator from Wisconsin.

Before becoming governor, Philip LaFollette was a lecturer in the University of Wisconsin Law School, a district attorney, and a practicing lawyer.

Student Sing Monday

The weekly assembly and student sing will be held in Schwab Auditorium at 7 o'clock Monday night.

Unconventional Climax Features Play In Auditorium, Wednesday

Next Wednesday will be July 23 everywhere except on the stage of Schwab Auditorium where it will be "The Night of January 16th" as the division of dramatics presents the first of two full-length plays at 8:30 p. m.

"The Night of January 16th" is a murder mystery with an unconventional ending. Karen Andre is on trial and her fate is decided by a jury chosen from the audience. The jury hears the evidence, retires to a juryroom, and then comes back with a verdict entirely unknown to the actors. After the actors hear the verdict they improvise the ending of the play.

Jury members will be chosen by lot a few minutes before the play begins. Persons willing to serve on the jury should leave their names at Student Union or at the box office the night of the play. Frank S. Neusbaum, director, yesterday released additions to the

Henrotte To Lead Thursday Concert

Pierre Henrotte, concertmeister of the Metropolitan Opera House for 15 years, will be guest conductor and Georges Barrere, internationally famous flutist will serve as guest soloist in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p. m. Thursday when the symphony orchestra of the Band, Orchestra and Chorus School presents one of a series of concerts.

Guest conductor for part of last night's successful band concert, Henrotte has been rehearsing the orchestra daily during his three week stay on the campus. Associated with him is Prof. Hummel Fishburn, regular director of the orchestra.

Dr. Barrere is ranked by experts as the world's greatest flutist and in addition has won renown as conductor of Barrere's Little Symphony in New York City. In the latter capacity he has toured every state in the country and appeared on national radio chains. At present Dr. Barrere holds the position as foremost flute composer in the nation and will give private lessons on his $4,000 platinum flute during his week's visit at the College.

The concert program: Air on G String, Bach; Der Freischutz Overture, Webber; Nut Cracker Suite, Tchaikowski; a Strauss waltz; Flute Concerto by Mozart, Georges Barrere, soloist; New World Symphony, Dvorak.

Fraternity Booklet Ready For Distribution

The second annual edition of the Fraternity Booklet, published by the Interfraternity Council and the Fraternity Counselor's Association is now ready for distribution.

The booklet will be mailed this month to all male students who will enter the College for the first time in September. Its purpose is to acquaint new students and their parents with the fraternity system and more specifically with fraternity life at Penn State.

The publication is 16 pages and cover, printed in three colors. It is well illustrated. All fraternity members—both undergraduate and alumni—may obtain copies of the booklet at Student Union.

Airport Measure Fails To Pass

Eight appropriation bills affecting the College have been passed by the State Legislature—seven of them over the past weekend—and if signed by Governor Arthur James will bring the College directly $5,739,545 and about $800,000 more by indirect means.

The bill for College maintenance passed in the amount of $5,509,545—the exact appropriation asked by the College. This is an increase of $700,000 over the original bill passed by the House. The $700,000 was added in the Senate and concurred in by the House. Governor James set the figure at $4,375,000 in his budget.

None of the appropriations will become final until signed by the Governor. He will have 30 days from the end of the session in which to act and can lower the appropriations but not raise them.

Main disappointment to the College was the failure of the airport bill. The Senate but was not reported out of the House appropriations committee. The measure was for $300,000, part of which would have gone for construction of a College airport.

Other bills for appropriations to the College were:

1. The Williams-Kennahan bill for coal research. This is similar to measures passed in previous bienniums and must be matched

Old Main Mural Subject Of Talk

The "Land Grant Mural," painted in Old Main by Henry Varnum Poor, will be the subject of a lecture by Harold E. Dickson, associate professor of fine arts, in Room 110 Home Economics Building at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Professor Dickson said yesterday that he will interpret the mural and try to describe what the observer should look for. He added that he will also discuss Poor's career and "development as an artist."

His talk will be supplemented by lantern slides and by a short color movie sequence showing Poor and his daughter Anne painting the mural. Poor began work in Old Main in late April, 1940, and finished two months later.

In a recent book on Poor, Peyton Boswell, Jr., critic and editor of Art Digest, says about the Land Grant mural, "the artist has brought forth one of the great achievements in American mural art; the College is the possessor of a painting that will be . . . admired as long as Old Main stands—and it is a sturdy building."

As further recognition of his talent, Poor was appointed to the National Fine Arts Commission by President Roosevelt in March.

81 Win Ag Honors

Eighty-one students in the School of Agriculture won places on the honor roll for the second semester which ended last month, according to Dean Stevenson W. Fletcher. They averaged 2.5 or better out of a possible 3.
