

THE SUMMER COLLEGIAN

OF THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

VOL. 19—No. 5

STATE COLLEGE, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1941

PRICE—TEN CENTS

Second Play Next Wednesday

"Moor Born," the second full-length play to be presented by the summer sessions divisions of dramatics, will be shown in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock next Wednesday night.

The play is based on the dramatic lives of the members of the famous Bronte family of English literature. Main characters are Emily, author of "Wuthering Heights;" Branwell, the dissipated brother; Charlotte, who wrote "Jane Eyre;" Anne, the third sister; and Reverend Bronte, the father.

The setting is the rectory of Haeworth, England, a small town near the moors in the middle of the 19th century. Period costumes are used.

Reverend Bronte, a stern Calvinistic preacher, realizes Branwell's shortcomings but believes him to be the genius of the family. Out of love for their father, the three girls—Charlotte, the ambitious but discontented older sister, Anne, the peacemaker of the family, and Emily, fiery and impatient but brave—attempt to give Branwell credit for their works.

The setting for "Moor Born," which is directed by Lawrence Tucker, is much the same as in "Wuthering Heights," Emily's novel. Bruce Cooks is the designer.

"Moor Born" played on Broadway several years ago. It was written by Dan Toheroh.

Mr. Tucker announced the casting of John Hastings as Branwell. Other parts are:

Charlotte, Katharine Castle; Anne, Jean Francis; Emily, Jacqueline Reese; Reverend Bronte, Peter Nestor; Christopher Sythe, George Gibson; Tabby, an old servant, Muriel Cashell; and Martha, a young servant, Leona Sankey.

Summer Session Announcements

TODAY

2 to 5 p.m. Home economics open house. Home Economics Building.

3 p.m. Reading Clinic lecture and demonstration. Room 121 Sparks Building.

3 p.m. Demonstration, "Design in Arranging Flowers," by Miss Amy G. Gardner and students. Room 110 Home Economics Building.

8:30 p.m. *Concert by the symphony orchestra of the Band, Orchestra and Chorus School. Guest conductor—Pierre Henrotte. Flute soloist—George Barrere. Schwab Auditorium.

TOMORROW

7 p.m. Faculty dinner. Nittany Lion Inn.

8 p.m. Summer sessions subscription dance. Music by Barry Blue and his orchestra. Admission—35 cents per person and presentation of matriculation card. Rec Hall.

SATURDAY

7:30 p.m. *Fun Night. Rec Hall.

SUNDAY

6:30 p.m. Concert by the Band, Orchestra, and Chorus School. Center mall.

7:30 p.m. Vesper service. Address by Dr. R. Lovell, Central Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. Schwab Auditorium.

MONDAY

12:45 p.m. Luncheon for the Central Pennsylvania branch of the National Vocational Guidance Association. Sandwich Shop.

(Continued on Page Two)

Collegian Out Day Early; Last Issue Next Week

This week's issue of the Summer Collegian is being published Thursday morning instead of Friday in cooperation with the Dollar Day sponsored by State College merchants. The change in publication date was made too late for any notice to appear in last week's Collegian.

The next issue will appear, as usual, on Friday and will be the last issue of the summer session. It will contain the complete calendar until the end of classes, August 8. Notices and other editorial material to appear in this issue should be left at the Collegian office, Room 313 Old Main, or at Student Union before Wednesday noon.

Home Economics Open House Today

A home economics open house, with the entire Home Economics Building open to visitors, will be held from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Guides will be available at the main entrance. The Nursery School, modern gas and electric kitchens, the Maple Room, and all laboratories and classrooms will be open to visitors.

At 3 o'clock wives of graduate students will be special guests at a demonstration of flower arrangements, "Design in Arranging Flowers." The demonstration will be in charge of Miss Amy G. Gardner, associate professor of home economics and art education. Roadside, field, and garden flowers will be used.

Mrs. Ann D. Ulmer and a group of students will serve punch and cookies from 4 until 5 o'clock.

No Clues Found To Missing Student

Although the search for Thomas P. Meehan, Jr., '43 continued, hope that the missing student would be found soon dimmed yesterday as no clues to his disappearance could be found.

Meehan was last seen on June 29 when he left his home in Jenkintown to come here preparatory to attending the summer session. Police found that he boarded a bus in Philadelphia and arrived in Harrisburg but from there he could not be traced.

A girl who traveled to State College on the same bus was still being sought on the chance that she might have noticed Meehan and be able to furnish information about him. The two were the only persons to buy tickets from Philadelphia to State College on that day.

LaFollette Says—

U. S. Should Solve Own Problems

Philip LaFollette, former governor of Wisconsin, told 1,400 listeners in Schwab Auditorium Monday night that the United States should concentrate on solving its own problems rather than intervene in the European war.

"If we go into the war, it will be a miracle if we preserve in America this last great citadel of democracy," he said. "In the last war we bought a $50,000,000 depression. In this war we have already contracted for $100,000,000 worth."

He stated that Hitler himself expressed the real danger to democracy when he told the German people that they must choose between dictatorship and starvation. LaFollette said "it must

Superintendents, Guidance Officers Meet Next Week

Main Session Held Monday

The Central Pennsylvania branch of the National Vocational Guidance Association will hold its summer meeting here Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. The theme of the conference will be "Guidance Facilities Available in the Universities."

Marion R. Trabue, dean of the School of Education, is president of the branch and will direct the meeting which will open with a luncheon in the Old Main Sandwich at 12:45 p. m. Monday.

The main session will be held in Room 121 Sparks Building at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Speakers will be Dr. Clifford R. Adams of the College Psych-Educational Clinic; Dr. Thomas E. McMullin of the School of Education, University of Pennsylvania; and Dr. Gwendolyn Schneider of the University Testing Bureau, University of Minnesota.

All talks will be on the conference theme. A general discussion will follow the speeches and will be led by Dr. Edgar A. Doll, director of research, Training School, Vineland, N. J.; and Dr. Paul R. Spencer, principal of Central High School, Trenton, N. J.

On Tuesday morning, educators attending the conference will visit the Psycho-Educational Clinic under the direction of Dr. Robert G. Bernreuter; the Reading Clinic directed by Dr. E. A. Betts; the Speech Clinic directed by Dr. Herbert Koepf-Baker; and the Pennsylvania Workshop directed by Miss Mary Jane Wyland.

Family Life Forum Next Wednesday

"Human Resources in the Defense Program," the fourth in a series of family life forums sponsored by the department of home economics, will be held in Room 110 Home Economics Building at 4 p. m. next Wednesday.

Dr. Marion R. Trabue, dean of the School of Education and director of summer sessions, will be chairman of the panel discussion. Those who will participate are:

Dr. William H. Bristow, of the Board of Education of New York City; H. C. Fetterolf, chief of agricultural education, Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction; Miss Irene Patterson, instructor in home economics; and Dr. Frederick Struck, head of the department of industrial education.

Barrere, Noted Flutist, At Concert Tonight

George Barrere, internationally famous flutist, will be the guest soloist at the orchestra concert by the Band, Orchestra and Chorus School in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

Conductor for the concert will be Pierre Henrotte who served as guest conductor during last Thursday's band concert.

In addition to his position as the world's greatest flutist, Dr. Barrere is conductor of Barrere's Little Symphony. He conducted the final number at the outdoor band concert in front of the Carnegie Library last Sunday night.

Faculty Dinner Tomorrow

The annual summer sessions faculty dinner will be held at the Nittany Lion Inn at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

Dr. Marion R. Trabue, dean of the School of Education and Mrs. Trabue will be host and hostess of summer sessions, and tess at the main table. President and Mrs. Ralph D. Hetzel will be the guests of honor.

Miss Laura W. Drummond, director of home economics, is in charge of the dinner committee. Dr. Clarence R. Carpenter, associate professor of psychology, and Mrs. Carpenter are arranging for hosts and hostesses.

A music program is being arranged by Prof. Richard W. Grant, director of music, and Dr. Joseph J. Lowden, associate professor of education. Mrs. Katherine E. Clawson, instructor in home economics, is arranging for the dinner.

Brooklyn Minister At Vesper Service

Dr. Moses R. Lovell of the Central Congregational Church in Brooklyn, N. Y., will speak at the weekly vesper service in Schwab Auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

As usual, the vesper service will be preceded by a band concert by the Band, Orchestra and Chorus School on the mall in front of the

Phone In Library

A public telephone booth has been installed in the basement hallway of the Central Library. Carnegie Library.

3-Day Conference Begins Tuesday

The 19th annual Superintendents' and Principals' Conference to be held at the College is scheduled for next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

The conference will include seven sessions which, with the exception of a dinner, will all be held in Room 121 Sparks Building. The dinner will be at the Nittany Lion Inn at 5:45 p. m. Wednesday. Levi Gilbert, president of the Pennsylvania State Education, will be toastmaster.

Two sessions are scheduled each day. Presiding officers will be Will Grant Chambers, dean emeritus of the School of Education; Marion R. Trabue, dean of the School of Education; Thomas Francis, Lackawanna County superintendent; Thomas L. Hinkle, Hazleton superintendent; K. L. Cornwell, coordinator of vocational teacher education at the College; and E. B. Long, superintendent of schools at Mechanicsburg.

Defense and the national emergency as they affect public school instruction will be a major topic of discussion. Other subjects include Pennsylvania agricultural education, education for public service, and school law.

Speakers include E. W. Jacobsen, dean of the School of Education at the University of Pittsburgh; Anna G. Green, chief of home economics education in the Department of Public Instruction; W. H. Pillsbury, president of the American Association of School Administrators; Paul L. Cressman, director of the bureau of instruction of the Department of Public Instruction; and C. E. Ackley, deputy superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction.

Goldman To Head Concert July 31

Dr. George Sallade Howard, director of the Band, Orchestra and Chorus School, announced that Richard Franko Goldman will return to the campus after last summer's successful appearance to serve as guest conductor of the second symphonic band concert next Thursday evening.

The July 31 program should be quite unusual since several numbers will be heard for the first time anywhere. Among the new compositions, prepared specially for Dr. Howard, is a rhapsody by Morton Gould entitled "Jerico." The new compositions are written in modern style and the effects are different from what is expected both in tempo and time signatures.

Another guest member will be Henry Cowell, noted American pianist, who was the first to use tone clusters on the piano, a modern idiom of piano style.

Parking Now Enforced

By passing an ordinance to buy the parking meters on the north side of College Avenue at its meeting on Monday, the Borough Council made the meters valid after deliberating the measure for several weeks. Fines for infraction of the parking law will not be put into effect, however, until today. Yesterday's tickets to violators were warnings and drivers who received them should call at the borough office.

(Continued on Page Three)