

Between The Lions

With PAT NAGELBERG

Dear Frosh:

Your college life started with a bang last night and for the next few days you'll be bumped from pillar to post so much you'll probably be wishing that you were still the big hero at Paoli Prep or whatever high school you adorned with your presenece for four years. You'll be shoved around from meeting to meeting, fraternity to fraternity, told what to do and what is taboo, what's good for you and what you'll get the day-lights paddled out of you for (Don't get us wrong girls, this is addressed only to your male classmates. And please be nice to them during this trying period; they'll need all the sympathy possible) until you'll begin to like all the attention you will be getting. And when that happens you will have earned your blue and white spurs as a true Penn Stater.

As a rule this space is devoted to digesting the Nittany Lion sports, but we know from experience that even that matchless thrill of watching your own college football team roll over opponent after opponent (wishful thinking) is secondary during hectic Freshman Week. You will be much too busy starting your own important game of college life to be bothered with fifty sweating college mates being whipped into shape for a gruelling football schedule. That will come later.

We know all this sounds like so much hot air from someone who has only three years jump on you but there really isn't a senior at Penn State who would not trade places with any of you 1945'ers. To us this is the greatest college

Lion Harriers Base Hopes On Five Seniors

Goffberg, Bourgerie Called Dark Horses

With a tough schedule ahead of them, Coach Chick Werner's cross-country squad began informal practice last week.

An inexperienced team will be thrown into the war against Manhattan, Syracuse, NYU, and Pitt, four of the most powerful harrier contingents in the East.

Five seniors will form the backbone of the 1941 edition of the thin-clads. Bill Smith, lost through graduation, will be missed by the Nittany Lions.

Rapid Bill showed his heels to many opponents in his three years of jogging around the golf course for the varsity, and is one of the all-time greats in Blue and White cross-country history.

Two of this year's seniors, Captain Alex Bourgerie and Herm Goffberg, haven't seen much action in the past two years. Hobbled by injuries for two seasons, the two are the dark horses of this fall.

The other three seniors, Norm Gordon, Vern Kotz, and Pop Thiel, were the only other lettermen from last year.

Curt Stone, Bob Faloon, and Bob Hazel, up from last year's stellar freshman team, are counted on to bolster up the varsity. Two others from last year's yearlings, Tink Candy and Bill Eppright, are not returning to the College.

Freshman Eleven Looks Promising

Freshman football candidates are making Marty McAndrews, yearling coach, the happiest man on the campus as they notify the '45 mentor they will be on hand for the opening practice of the season.

"We'll have the most talented group of freshman players since I first came here," McAndrews chirped.

"The best part of it is that the team will be taller than recent teams and it'll be heavier," he said.

Among the most outstanding players will be Joe Cackovic, All-State center from Steelton, Bob Weitzel, All-State halfback from Shamokin, and Jake Abrams, star halfback from Jeanette.

Other standout players in a star-studded group will be Bob Bacher, halfback, Westview; Harry and Dave Alston, halfbacks, Midland; Bob Hart, end, West Nottingham Academy; Fred Kreutter, guard, Brownsville; and John Moody, fullback, Wilkesburg.

Leo Nobile, guard, and Ray Uliniski, fullback, are both from Ambridge. Others will be John Holosky, center, Brownsville; George Leglar, tackle, Monongohela; Reed McCloskey, halfback, Peddie; Paul Mayer, guard, Williamsport; Frank Dickel, tackle, Frankfurt; Dean Berry, tackle, Beaver; William Boyd, end, Tarentum; and Steve Shuey, guard, Casanovia.

Not Bright Enough

We would get only one-fifth as much light as the sun gives, even if the entire sky above the horizon shone as brightly as the full moon.

Financial Report Shows Decrease In AA Surplus

Total income for the year amounted to $166,316.01. Expenditures totaled $162,409.82 for the year, an increase of $7,561.37 over 1940. This advance is accounted for by the increased cost of conducting intercollegiate sports, particularly the National Collegiate Boxing Tourney.
