

Frosh Gridders Show Promise Of Good Season

The star-studded 1941 freshman team began to take the form with which it intends to steam-roller opponents as it clashed with the varsity in practice scrimmage twice in the past few days.

Dave Alston looks like a fine passing artist and a top-flight broken field runner, according to Coach Marty McAndrews. McAndrews also delights in the way that Ray Ulinski runs and handles the team from his quarterback slot. Bob Weitzel at fullback likewise was praised for his work in the varsity-freshman fracas.

At the center position, Joe Cacovic has been doing an excellent job of snapping-back and backing up the line, as scrimmages have shown. Two scrappy guards on the yearling squad are Steve Suhey and Red Moore. Both are considered to have great possibilities.

Harry Alston, Dave's brother, is big and fast and will be counted on for yoeman in one of the half-back positions.

The Forgotten Team

In the midst of all the turmoil and excitement accompanying the opening of the Lions' 1941 football campaign, another State team has been completely forgotten. For the particular benefit of the freshmen, Bill Jeffrey's soccer team is putting its undefeated eight-year streak on the line against Gettysburg here on Saturday afternoon.

We say freshmen because all the upperclassmen know by heart the enviable record piled up by the wily Scot's booters who usually turn in outstanding performances before a handful of spectators. Probably the only thing matching the unparalleled 81-game streak is the lackadaisical support given the team by students.

It's easy to understand the situation because most of us come to college educated on a steady football diet throughout the fall while soccer is an unfamiliar sport. Those who have taken time out, however, to watch the boys with the educated feet in action always come back for an encore.

This plea for an increased soccer attendance doesn't come from Jeffrey or his boys. They'll play their usual brand of winning soccer regardless of the empty stands. But no other team has earned our support so much. Let's give the team a little more help than the usual Monday morning remark, "I see we won another one." We didn't, but they did.

Rollins Still Playing

When the Lions travel to Columbia on November 29 to battle the South Carolina Gamecocks, they'll be met by a cheering section of six loyal rooters led by a former star Penn State halfback, Steven Rollins.

We received a letter today from Steve who is now lugging the mail for the Red, White, and Blue instead of the Blue and White. Remember Steve in the Penn game three years ago? He gave his best to Bob Higgins for three years and now that it's over he is doing his part along with numerous other Penn State graduates.

At the present he is stationed at Camp Croft, S. C., and he'll be there along with Cap Bailey, another erstwhile Lion griddler caught in the draft, and four other Staters until December.

He's very enthusiastic about the camp's football team which plays such college elevens as Wofford, Furman and Texas Tech. If the other candidates are equally capable, Camp Croft is in for a banner season.

P. S.: I guess the Yankees will have to be satisfied with four out of five.

AT THE MOVIES

STATE: "When Ladies Meet"
NITTANY: "Man Hunt"

SIGNAL CALLER — Junior Manny Weaver will be in the backfield blocking and calling signals for the Nittany Lions when they take the field against the Colgate Red Raiders tomorrow at Buffalo in search of a victory and a good start toward keeping this fall's grid slate clean.

Colgate Boasts Veteran Eleven

When the Nittany Lions tangle with the Colgate Red Raiders for the grid classic in Buffalo's Civic Stadium tomorrow, they will be handling a human powder keg. The Raiders have a wealth of material for the first time since 1929 and may dynamite Lion hopes or brighten them when the smoke of battle has cleared away.

From end to end the Maroon is potentially great. At the ends, Colgate is exceptionally well off. Two veterans, Davis and Hamilton, are backed by reserves Duckworth and Batorski who go well over six feet and collectively weigh 425 pounds.

Only at the tackle posts does the future look a bit dimmer for Penn State's foe. Captain Guenther, and Vohs or Zittle will handle the situation. All are brilliant, but do not show up as well as the ends or guards.

At the guard posts lies Colgate's real strength. Bob Endres, standout 205-pound guard, will team with veteran Scott to set off the main fireworks on the Colgate forward wall. A 190-pound sophomore center, Orlando, is hailed as one of the hardest-hitting packers-up Colgate has had.

Coach Andy Kerr thinks the sports experts have been a little too extravagant with Colgate's rating as tops. Last year a football scout said that the three best teams were Cornell, Boston College and the Colgate freshmen. He has a lot of sophomore material which he refuses to believe is developed yet.

Jayvees Meet Cornell Reds At Ithaca Today

With high spirits but only a short period of training, Coach Alex Atty will lead his jayvee grid charges against Cornell at Ithaca today.

Coach Atty is expecting no little trouble from the Big Red, but has hopes that the jayvees may know enough plays taught them in five days of intensive training to come out victorious. Originally announced for yesterday, the game will definitely be played today.

Twenty-six players made the trip to Ithaca among whom were Oriental Martella, center, and Cal Erwin, end. These two men belong to the third string varsity, but Coach Atty will count on them to add much-needed strength in their positions.

Three Posts Doubtful In Lion Soccer Lineup

As the varsity soccer squad steadily rounds into shape for its opener at Colgate next Saturday, some doubt has arisen in Coach Bill Jeffrey's mind concerning the starters at three positions—outside right, inside right, and left half-back.

In Boyd Ethers, one of the candidates for the open backfield post, Jeffrey has a polished performer who can kick with either foot, but the coach may give the nod to Sammy Schnure, whose outstanding traits are his ruggedness and speed.

Although "Genial Bill" emphasizes finesse instead of power, he pointed out that while this year's team is almost surfeited with skill it could use a little more ruggedness of Schnure's type.

Ramzi Gurcay, leading candidate for the outside right position, is a clever ball-handler with great potentialities but hasn't "opened up" yet, according to Jeffrey, and may be replaced by hard-working Charley Lischer or Wayne Bechdel.

The status of Bill Prichard, who was shifted from the backfield to inside right is also in doubt. If he doesn't come through, Captain Woody King may be moved over to his position.

Brooklyn Beats New York, 3-2

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—The Brooklyn Dodgers came from behind this afternoon to beat the New York Yankees, 3-2, and even the World Series at one all before a crowd of 60,000.

The Yanks got off to a two-run lead when Chandler's infield hit drove in a run in the second inning, and Keller singled to score Henrich, who had doubled, in the third.

The Brooklyn hurler was hit freely in the first four innings, allowing seven hits, but in the following five frames Wyatt settled down and pitched good ball, giving up only two safeties.

Chandler faced only 12 men in the first four innings, but a pair of walks, a single and a double accounted for two runs for the National Leaguers in the fifth.

Herman's single with Walker on first in the sixth drove the Yankee twirler from the hill. Fireman Johnny Murphy, who relieved Chandler, struck out Reiser, but Camilli lined out a clean single to send Walker across the plate with the third run and the margin of victory.

Vunise Barrow, sister of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, is attending the University of Michigan.
