Lions Fight Stubbornly As Red Raiders Win, 7-0

'45 Booters Lose To Varsity, 3-1

After being forced to come from behind to down a good freshman team, 3-1, in last Saturday's scrimmage, the varsity soccermen began serious preparations yesterday for their official opener at Colgate Saturday.

The '45 eleven, the finest in years, jumped off to an early lead when Frank Klase, center forward, booted a goal, but Captain Woody King produced one for the varsity later in the first period. The deadlock was broken in the second quarter when a frosh fullback accidentally headed the ball into the wrong net, and Bill Prichard kicked the last varsity goal in the third frame.

Because of the speed and aggressiveness forward Smiley Williams showed in the scrimmage, Coach Bill Jeffrey will probably give him the nod over Ramzi Gurcay for the regular outside right position. Bill Prichard will start at inside right, but may alternate with Woody King at center forward.

Outstanding freshman performances were turned in by Bill Dietrich, Tad Salon, and Jim Atherton in the backfield, and Frank Klase on the line.

The yearling booters will meet Centre Hall high school in a practice tilt this afternoon.

Cross-Country Runner Pulls Two 'Nude' Acts, Elected Harrier Leader

The barefoot boy made good. Alex Bourgerie, not exactly the boy hero of John G. Whittier's poem, went in for a bit of barefoot perambulation these past few years, and now is captain of Penn State's cross-country team.

"Bougie" is a quiet lad with a crew hair-cut and an innocent expression. When he is dressed he appears to be a freshman having a difficult time finding the Sparks Building.

Bourgerie was competing in a frosh cross-country meet with Pitt three years ago when a terrific cloudburst soaked the course. After about a half-mile of squish-squashing around, the inimitable "Frenchy" took leave of all formality and removed his track shoes.

Both Elevens Rely On Secondary Defense

By BOB SCHOOLEY

The fiery cauldron full of Nittany Lion spirit may scald the Bucknell Bisons on New Beaver Field next Saturday much worse than it singed the Colgate Red Raiders for three quarters in the Buffalo gridiron encounter last Saturday.

Colgate was able to pull the game out of the fire 7-0 after Jo-Jo McCourt, left halfback, swept right end for five yards to a touchdown. Bob Endres, guard, added the extra point.

All afternoon the two teams raced up and down the field in strong offensive maneuvers. Each team was forced to rely on its secondary defense to stop the ball carriers most of the time.

However, the Nittany forward wall fought stubbornly despite Colgate's average weight on the line besting each Lion lineman by ten pounds.

Penn State's biggest heart-break came in the opening minute of the game. Pepper Petrella caught Endres' kickoff on the goal line, broke out of the pocket as the Colgate players converged, and was off to the races until Indian Bill Geyer overhauled him on the Raider 32-yard line. On the next play the Lions fumbled.

Penn State threatened to score again in the first quarter as Bill Smaltz fired a pass to Captain Len Krouse who lugged it 22 yards and lateralled to Petrella for another ten to complete a 61-yard drive to Colgate's 10 as the quarter ended. The attack bogged down in the second quarter but later in the period the Lions reeled off a 35-yard gain and threatened to score when Smaltz pitched to Krouse who went to the Colgate 32. One man remained between him and the goal.

The greatest defensive feat was turned in by the newly constructed Lion line when Colgate's Charley Cusick, guard, recovered Charlie McFarland's fumble as he attempted to find a pass receiver. McCourt, Geyer, and Micka combined to carry the ball on four plays to the Nittany one-foot line where enraged Lions met the on-slaughtered stubbornly. On the third down McCourt was tossed for a 2-yard deficit after two other plays bogged down. Geyer lost another yard on the last down and Penn State took over.

State Has A Team

Strangely enough, it took a defeat in the first game to really convince the students (ourselves included) that Penn State has a football club this year. Of course, there was a lot of optimism afloat around the campus in the wake of the pep rally and the squad's evident spirit, but most of it was wishful thinking.

Nearly everyone, whether at Buffalo or huddled around the radio, crossed his fingers before the game and hoped State would make a decent showing. Colgate's 7 to 0 victory is history, but in losing, one of the scrappiest elevens in Blue and White annals converted all the sceptics.

The Red Raiders represented about the toughest competition the Higginsmen will be called upon to face all season. The boys were outweighed and outmanned by the opposition's reserve strength but it took a tough break in the late minutes of the game to turn the tide against them.

We're not alibing for the team, because everyone from Captain Len Krouse down the list needs no one to go to bat for him. State lost on a break but that's part of the game. No doubt fortune will smile on the Nittany men on one of the coming Saturday afternoons.

Krouse, Kerns Crash

Speaking of our captain, not many know it but Krouse, along with big Mike Kerns, was nearly lost to the squad and it wasn't because of any injury in the game, either. The two players were driving southward on Locust Lane upon their return to town Sunday evening when their car was hit by a large sedan, driven by an over-excited woman driver.

The car occupied by the players was smashed right in the middle and towed away completely wrecked. By some miracle, Krouse and Kerns escaped without a scratch. Who said we aren't lucky?

Big-hearted Finn

Football Manager Bill Finn came back Sunday all hepped up with his efficient managerial staff. It happened that no less than 12 of the assistants and seconds made the trip and when Colgate was caught short handed, big-hearted Finn lent the enemy four of his boys.

Yankees Win World Series As Brooklyn's 'Bums' Drop Finale, 3-1

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6, 1941—The New York Yankees downed the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-1 this afternoon to capture the World Series in four out of five games.

The Yanks took three straight from their city neighbors after the Brooks had tied the series at one all.

Ernie Bonham went all the way for the Bronx Bombers to give them their fifth world championship in the past six years. Whitlow Wyatt, who pitched the Dodgers to their only victory in the second game of the series, was the starting and finishing hurler for Leo Durocher's crew.

The McCarthymen hopped off to a two-run lead in the second inning and were never headed. The Dodgers came back for a single tally in the third, due mostly to Wyatt's resounding double.

Just to put the game on ice, Tommy Henrich connected for a home run in the fifth inning, and Pitcher Bonham had easy sailing the rest of the way in.
