Two Coeds Pledged

Alpha Chi Omega pledged Mildred B. Schmidt '43 at 8 p. m. and Charitides pledged Betty J. Frable '44 at 6:30 p. m. yesterday.

Nominating To Follow Freshman Mass Meeting

A compulsory meeting of freshman women will be held in 110 Home Economics Building directly following the mass meeting in Schwab Auditorium tonight. Nominations will be made for WSGA freshman senator, and for the first time for freshman representative to WRA Board. Elections will be next week.

Betty L. Zeigler '42, WRA president, pointed out that a class representative would serve as a medium of promoting freshman interest in WRA organizations.

When nominees are introduced, their qualifications must be given, said Dorothy L. Jones, sophomore WSGA senator, in charge of nominations. A 1.5 average must be maintained by the freshman WSGA senator and a 1.2 average is required of the WRA Board representative.

WOMEN IN SPORTS Frosh Beat Juniors

Freshman hockey players defeated juniors, 1-0 in the season's first intramural game on Holmes Field yesterday, when Anna Radle scored in the last half.

Although juniors succeeded in keeping the ball in opponent's territory most of the game, their one goal made in the last half was declared illegal because of a player out of position. Ann Drivas, stalwart junior right forward, suffered a leg injury when she was hit with the ball near the end of the first half.

Coeds have until 5 p. m. Thursday to sign for All-College tournaments in archery, tennis, and golf. Prospective contestants for archery and tennis should sign at the WRA office and golfers at the caddy house.

To plan for the annual Christmas recital, spring concert and special acts, the concert dance group will meet in the Rhythm Room, White Hall, at 7 o'clock tonight, announced Dorothy C. Ellis '43, president. Try-outs for new members will be held this week. Present members, all sophomores, include Jean Esh, Marion E. Hora, Anne W. Jenkins, A. Ruth Krimmel, Marjorie A. Kronick, Selma Solomon, and Lila A. Whoolery.

Proteins, Fats To Be Displayed

Second in a series of nutrition exhibits will be held in 209 Home Economics Building from 8 a. m. to noon today when 100 calorie portions of protein and fat foods will be displayed.

Students of Home Economics 402, under supervision of Mrs. Erma W. Welch, instructor, will be in charge of exhibits which will continue this semester on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, director of the College Health Service, urges students to attend the exhibits. He said they would be especially helpful to students who eat in restaurants as the displays illustrate foods essential for general health.

SDE Elects Officers

Officers elected recently by Sigma Delta Epsilon, graduate women's scientific fraternity, include Miss Emily T. Wolfe, botany assistant, president; Miss Lillian L. Arent, chemistry instructor, vice-president; and Mrs. V. R. Haber, secretary-treasurer.
