

Limited Contact Begins Tomorrow

Limited association with freshman and transfer women will begin tomorrow with "dutch treat" dates outside sorority houses and freshman and transfer rooms, according to Jean A. Crauser '42, Panhellenic president.

Freshmen and transfers are urged to attend the next open house Tuesday, October 28, visiting as many houses as possible for periods not exceeding 30 minutes at each. No personal invitations will be extended.

Panhellenic Council's barn dance headed by Dorothy C. Ellis '42, will be given for freshman, transfers and sorority women in White Hall from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. Thursday, October 23. Old clothes will be worn, and sorority women are requested not to wear pins.

A buffet supper will precede Panhellenic Council's meeting at the home of Mrs. F. L. Bentley, Panhellenic sponsor from State College, at 5:45 o'clock tonight.

PANHEL HEAD — Jean A. Crauser '42, Panhellenic president, stated that limited association between freshman and sorority women will begin at noon tomorrow.

Lederer Answers Letter

(Continued from Page One) but lose money. Why, the application to the PUC, alone, cost me more than I ever made. The fare didn't even pay for the gasoline.

"I suggested that students go to Sunday School," Lederer continued, "as a means of righting violators, instead of fining them. Bob Higgins will tell you that I've always treated the students and the College fairly. Only last year, I gave free rooms to several football and baseball players, so they could stay in school."

"In fact," Lederer concluded, "I don't care whether I'm elected Burgess or not. There were too many headaches the first time."

Exhibit Offers Hints To Calorie Conscious Coeds

C'mon you scale watchers—get wise. The way to stay slim is to keep an eye on your diet.

Did you know that one baked potato is equal to an entire stalk of celery in calorie content? Or that two glasses of tomato juice are needed to reach the hundred calorie mark while just one glass of orange juice does the same.

Such comparisons will be pointed out by the Home Economics 402 students who, under the supervision of Mrs. Emma Welch, home economics instructor, are putting on a nutrition exhibit in 209 Home Economics building from 8 a. m. until noon today. Hundred calorie portions of fruits and vegetables will be displayed.

Albino rats, which have been fed special diets for the past week will also be on exhibit. Specimens deprived of such essentials as vitamins A or G will be placed next to those kept on balanced diets.
