

Limited Contacts Include 'Sisters'

Big sisters may not visit their little sisters in rooms during the present limited association period, but may treat them, Frances E. Haley '43, Panhellenic rushing chairman, stated last night.

She emphasized that limited association, which will continue until January 19, does not include room visiting and is "dutch treat."

Freshman and transfer women are urged to attend the second open house from 4 to 5:30 p. m. Tuesday. The final one will be Thursday, November 13. No invitations are extended for them.

Dates for two get-togethers between Thanksgiving and Christmas with attendance by invitation only, will be announced during November.

Dorothy C. Ellis '43, Panhellenic Council representative, has announced that the Panhellenic barn dance for freshman, transfer, and sorority women will be in White Hall from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. Thursday. Sorority women will not wear pins.

Panhellenic Council will meet in the apartment of Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, assistant to the dean of women, at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Dad's Darling Daughter Does Her Duty, Too

Too much praise has been heaped on Dad lately. How about a plug or two for Dad's daughter?

While Papa is worrying about being the guy who pays for his daughter's education, he might concern himself a little with the results.

Penn State coeds may lavish money on cokes and cigarettes, but when exam week rolls around, they make up for it by proving their worth intellectually.

Statistics show that their grades are higher than the men's. This may be because they are chosen from a higher group of high school students, since only a limited number of women are admitted to Penn State.

On team trips away from home Penn State's assistant football managers always pack two complete uniforms for each player.

OPENS PORTALS—Betty L. Zeigler '42, WRA president, has announced that parents are invited to visit White Hall from 7 to 10 o'clock tonight.

WOMEN IN SPORTS

Six coeds have qualified for the All-College golf tournament, announced Marge King, Golf Club president. They include Johnnie Fleming, who shot a 43 in the nine hole preliminary round; Marge King, 45; Eleanor Freedman, 47; Ginny Berkhouse, 51; Adele Levin, 53; and Janet Herzog, 60.

In the first match, King defeated Freedman, 2 and 1, and Herzog defaulted to Berkhouse. Fleming and Levin have not played.

Twenty-eight women have been named to the Army and Navy hockey teams that will play a three game contest next week.

Players include Navy—L. Dunkelzger '43, G. Fitting '43, M. Haverstick '43, B. Hooper '44 and M. Robison '45, forwards; F. Burke '44, A. Levin '44, M. Weldy '44, P. Gregory '45 and M. Longnecker '45, halfbacks; A. Drivas '43, A. Burwell '44 and E. Brown '45, fullbacks; S. Scrivanich, goalies.

Army — P. Crossman '43, P. Rugh '43, F. Angle '44, B. McGee '45, and A. Radle '45, forwards; M. Devling '43, M. Duffman '43, T. Jackson '43, M. Cookerly '44, and P. Cauffman '45, halfbacks; J. Holmes '43, G. Judge '44 and R. Ernst '45, fullbacks; A. Sheffield '43, goalie.

Around Her Neck She Wears—Most Anything

Around her neck she wears—well, anything from the legendary purple ribbon to twisted loops of macaroni painted with nail polish. Wild and whacky is the motto and coeds go out of their way to devise clever necklaces.

One of the most popular materials is the sea shell; all kinds and all colors are combined with no set pattern governing arrangement. Gaily colored pencils and gaudy rubber bands are used either separately or together for adornment.

Strands of cantalope seeds and strings of acorns are flaunted by energetic souls who made them. Paper clips have their own group of supporters since they aren't so difficult to string.

Pitt ROTC Inducts Coeds

University of Pittsburgh inducted 12 senior women as honorary coed officers of the University ROTC regiment last week. A tradition at Pitt, the coeds are selected by the cadet officers, approved by the dean of women's office, and finally passed upon by the head of the military department.

From Diapers To Dances—Ask Dad

From babies to coeds, the reactions of Dad to our existence can be arranged in chronological order. This weekend we will honor the man who:

- 1—Paced the hospital corridor.
- 2—Beamed when relatives said we looked "just like him."
- 3—Pretended he didn't hear us cry in the middle of the night.
- 4—Willingly posed for pictures, holding us gingerly in his arms.
- 5—Did our first grade arithmetic.
- 6—Played with our Christmas presents.
- 7—Evaded punishing us, after Mother had threatened, "Wait until your father comes home."
- 8—Paid for broken windows.
- 9—Suggested we play the piano for visitors.
- 10—Suffered through our recitations at church functions.
- 11—Gave us movie money, when we needed to study.
- 12—Called us ungrateful and spoiled.
- 13—Talked endlessly to our dates while we wondered just what he would tell them next.
- 14—Tells lurid tales of his college days.
- 15—Lectures us on smoking; then buys us cigarettes.
- 16—Gives unlimited advice.
- 17—Flirts with our college friends.
- 18—Always helps us out of a "jam."

'Squeaky' Likes Freshman Coeds

"Squeaky," the squirrel rescued by coeds in front of Women's Building after he fell from his nest, has successfully completed a three weeks program of orientation.

Although he has become accustomed to college life, he hasn't mastered the rudiments of good manners. Squeaky persists in climbing over visitors where he makes his home. He also has a annoying habit of hiding things in her knitting basket.

The squirrel sleeps in the waste basket. His "three-squares" consist of peanuts, acorns, apples, and marshmallows.

The problem confronting his owners is whether to return Squeaky to his natural habitat or keep him safely sheltered in Women's Building.

We, The Women To Sorority-Minded Frosh, Transfers

With sorority rushing season in its fifth week, freshman and transfer women are confronted with the problem of whether they should join a sorority and if so, which one.

A sorority gives a coed the opportunity to cultivate a broader interest in campus and social activities.

However, do not think that such opportunities are open only to sorority women, for many independent women have been outstanding in campus and social life without the assistance of a sorority.

If you are doubtful about pledging, don't let yourself be swayed by the idea of either "belonging" or being "left out." You won't be left out of anything as long as you, as an individual, have something to offer the College.

Above all, learn to distinguish between saletalk and sincerity of women who are rushing you.

If you are interested in becoming part of a sorority group, whether you are being rushed or not, it is wise to attend Panhellenic functions and sorority open houses, for only through them can sorority women know of your interest.

It is also advisable to make sure that the women of the sorority you choose have interests similar to yours.

And remember—you don't have to join a sorority.

Senate Grants Frosh 10 O'clocks

WSGA Senate granted a request from WRA President Betty L. Zeigler '42 that freshman women be given 10 o'clock permission to attend the WRA Hallowe'en Party in White Hall following the mass meeting Tuesday.

Freshman women are required to sign out for the party with dormitory hostesses and check in at White Hall.

Janet V. Holmes and Gladys S. Fitting were appointed to WSGA Junior Service Board by Senate members to replace Henrietta H. Hayward and Elizabeth K. Heath who left school. Betty J. Patton '42 was named WSGA activities senator and E. Louise Hack '42, chairman of the WSGA dance.

WSGA has requested that political cliques do not hold meetings in fraternity houses since freshman women are not permitted in houses during the week.

Freshman Council will meet in McAllister Hall at 5 p. m. Thursday.

Paine '43 Appointed Finance Board Member

Elizabeth V. Paine '43 was appointed junior women's representative to the Interclass Finance Board by Jerome H. Blakeslee, Junior class president, yesterday. WSGA has approved the appointment.

The board determines class budgets, approves expenses, and designates annual class assessments.

It is composed of chairman, senior and past junior class treasurer, class treasurers and woman representatives from each class. A graduate treasurer and presidents of the three upper classes are ex-officio members.

Home Ec Council Elects Painter, Thompson

Barbara C. Painter '45 and Sara Thompson '45 were elected to Home Economics Advisory Council Thursday.

Composed of two representatives from each class and presidents of Ellen H. Richards Club and Home Economics Club, the Council has been in existence three years. It integrates home economics activities and serves as a liaison for student-faculty relationships.
