

Who's Who Lists 20 Outstanding Campus Leaders

Twenty senior campus leaders have recently been chosen as Penn State's representatives in the 1941-42 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Chosen on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship and potentialities, biographies of the following seniors will be included in the eighth annual edition of this student's Who's Who: Robert D. Baird, All-College president; Jean Babcock, WSGA president; Gerald F. Doherty, All-College vice president; William F. Finn, football manager; Thomas J. Henson, IFC president; A. Roswell Gilbert, Froth editor.

Ross B. Lehman, Daily Collegian editor; Raymond F. Leffler, Tribunal chairman; Jean A. Krauser, Panhel president; H. Leonard Krouse, senior class president; Charles F. Mattern, Skull and Bones president; James E. McCaughey, Daily Collegian business manager; James McAdam, Thespian president; Alice M. Murray, Mortar Board president.

Arthur Peskoe, Penn State Club president; James W. Ritter, AA president; Joseph T. Reichwein, La Vie editor; Sara P. Searle, PSCA co-chairman; Elden T. Shaut, IMA president; and Betty L. Zeigler, WRA president.

Besides being an incentive for students to get the most out of their college careers and being means of compensating outstanding students, this list of biographies is being used more and more as a list of recommendation for the "business world."

3 Groups Subscribe 100 Per Cent As PSCA Reports $2,090 To Date

Two sororities and one fraternity have reported 100 per cent subscriptions to the PSCA drive which at the end of the second day of canvassing is $270 ahead of last year's student total of $20, with $2,090 recorded to date.

Every member in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house pledged a contribution, and Alpha Omicron Pi and Alpha Epsilon Phi were unanimous among the sororities in contributing. Nearly every division head reported last night, according to Andrew P. Szekely '42, men's chairman.

Last year, the men collected $528 on the second day compared to $840 yesterday, while women last night raised $254 against $214 in the 1940 campaign. Men students have collected 61 per cent of their $2,500 goal, and the women

PERSONALITY MAN — Dr. Robert G. Bernreuter, professor of psychology, advised the class of '45 at their mass meeting last night of the importance of a good personality in campus and later life.

Freshmen Hear 'Personality' Talk

"Ways to Improve Individual Personalities," was the subject of a speech by Dr. Robert G. Bernreuter, professor of psychology, given at the last regularly scheduled freshman mass meeting in Schwab Auditorium last night.

Dr. Bernreuter emphasized the importance of a strong as well as likeable personality in regard to all forms of social contact. The speaker based his statements on information gathered from the psycho-educational clinic's experiences with more than 900 students who were tested and advised last year.

Miriam L. Rhein '43, Penn State's singing coed was called back for two encores when she sang at the beginning of the meeting. James A. McAdam '42 led the freshmen in songs and John W. Dague '42, head cheerleader, was present to direct cheering. James A. Leyden '42 was the accompanist.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Jerome H. Blakeslee '43, freshman election supervisor and president of the junior class. At the close of the meeting Blakeslee introduced Mary Betty Anderson '42, chairman of the Freshman Mass Meeting Committee.

Miss Anderson expressed her gratitude to the freshman class for supporting the mass meetings and thanked her committee for its cooperation. Her committee included Phyllis R. Watkins '44, Eugene R. Yeager '43, Daniel C.

Independents Act On Social Plans

Discussion of facilities and general plans for co-operative social activities was the principle business at a meeting of social chairmen of independent groups called by Eldon T. Shaut '42, IMA president.

The girls all declared that they were willing to work with the men's groups in building a program of events to fill the void left in the independent student's school life by the absence of a student union center.

Frazier Hall where 20 transfers live invited a group of men to a Halloween party this week-end. Their representative stressed the fact that although they had been here about six weeks, they were still comparative strangers.

Plans were made to continue these meetings of the social chairmen for the next few weeks on Tuesdays at 7 p. m. At these meetings definite plans will be made for exchange affairs since each group now knows what the others want to do and what facilities are available.

Professor To Speak At Hillel Town Meeting

The first town meeting of the year at the Hillel Foundation will be held at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. The topic of discussion will be "What Is the Crisis of American Democracy Today?"

Participants in the discussion will be Dr. C. R. Carpenter, associate professor of psychology; Dr. John H. Ferguson, assistant professor of political science; and a third speaker to be announced. Rabbi Benjamin M. Kahn will serve as moderator. The meeting is open to the public.

Student Audit System Proposed By Cabinet

Two Students Put On Year's Probation

A year's probation for the two students accused of mixed drinking was announced last night by Raymond F. Leffler '42, Tribunal chairman.

The seven-man board reprimanded the two juniors for their actions which were described as breaking the honor code of ethics at Penn State, and told them that any recurrence would probably bring dismissal from school.

"This power, seldom used by Tribunal, is exercised only in cases similar to these recent ones," Leffler said.

The two students involved were requested to report to Tribunal every four weeks.

Following this decision, Leffler requested the presence of a representative of each hat society at the meeting to be held in the Alumni office tonight to try recent freshman violators.

Final Enrollment Figure Is 5,614

Enrollment on the campus is 5,614, 94 below last year, and total enrollment is 6,805, according to final statistics released yesterday by Registrar William S. Hoffman.

Mont Alto, graduate and two-year students, and those at undergraduate centers are included in the total enrollment figure which shows a decrease of 405 from 1940.

Instead of dropping as expected, Mr. Hoffman said, enrollment in the senior class increased from 1,194 to 1,236 students. Freshman enrollment also rose, from 1,511 to 1,592.

The sophomore and junior classes each decreased more than 100 from last year. Sophomore enrollment is 1,580 and was 1,685 last year. There are 1,206 juniors on the campus as compared to 1,318 in 1940.

Donovan Calls For Talent

A request for student talent has been issued by George L. Donovan, Student Union manager. All who can play a musical instrument, dance, sing, or entertain in any other way are asked to register at Student Union. Plans for a talent bureau are being rounded into shape, and according to Donovan all that is needed is a varied list of entertainers.

Action On Plan Postponed One Week

Action on the constitutional amendment that would require auditing of all student activity accounts by Student Union was postponed for a week by All-College Cabinet last night, pending comments by the student body.

Under the proposed amendment, four organizations—IFC, IMA, PSCA and Panhel—will be required to submit their accounts to the student accounting office under the supervision of Student Union. At present, these four organizations are the only ones that do not have their accounts audited in this way.

Ross B. Lehman '42, in voicing the opinion of the committee that proposed the amendment, said, "Funds controlled by student activity groups are independent of either administrative or student government supervision, and are not to be confused with the money controlled by the Interclass Finance Board, which has charge of administering funds received from student fees."

The committee in charge of by-laws and amendments, which offered this proposed amendment, includes Lehman, editor of the Daily Collegian; Jean Babcock '42, WSGA president; A. John Currier '42, co-president of PSCA; Gerald F. Doherty '42, All-College vice-president; H. Leonard Krouse '42, senior class president; and Elden T. Shaut '42, IMA president.

Following is the complete amendment:

1. A student activity shall be defined as an activity whose members are students and whose funds are derived all or in part from student sources.

2. All members of Cabinet shall represent student activities.

3. All student activities with representation on All-College Cabinet shall have their funds audited through the student activities system under Student Union.

A by-law, authorizing the appointment of the All-College president as an ex-officio member of all student activity groups, was accepted by Cabinet. Four by-
