

Tribunal Proves Original In Latest Frosh Penalties

Inventive ability was shown by Tribunal last night as it punished several frosh violators.

The show's fall houseparty will receive free publicity for the coming week as Joe Canon, member of the show's cast, will parade around campus with a revealing pant's style and signs stating "What's Coming Off?"

David Croll differed with Tribunal on its mode of punishment in an "off the record" discussion with the Lefler-led board. This forum led to a review of Penn State's and the U. S.'s laws.

David's punishment consists of dressing as a ghost with a sheet and pillow case and carrying signs stating, "Tribunal Didn't Give Me A Ghost of A Chance" and "My Blood Was Drawn."

Carrying two signs stating "Tribunal Jarred Me" and "I Am Herb Wohlman, Better Never Late," the above mentioned Frosh will be required to carry his "bible" in a five-gallon jar.

Showing no regard for high school records, the seven man board requested that Bill Shuman, last year's state champion in the 440 yard dash, wear signs stating "I'm A Record Holder" and carry phonograph records in each hand and around his body. Meanwhile, he will wear a 12-inch classic on his head to keep it from swelling in the rain.

House discipline was recommended for Howard Platt who shielded a fraternity brother from Tribunal punishment.

Those relieved of punishments, carried during the last week, were as follows: Al Wiener, Frank Honegger, Brenton Lowe, David Meinzer, Stanley Jallo, Jack Dempsey, Bob Sheck, Frank Blank, Murray Kreigel, Tom Thomas, Les Johnson, and Robert Matthews.

ROTC Announces Two Promotions

Two staff promotions now in effect, as well as several personnel changes were disclosed recently by the ROTC department. Tentative arrangements have also been made for competitive shooting between infantry and engineering cadet officers.

Captain Jack H. Weske has been advanced from a lieutenantancy and Staff Sergeant, James E. Marsh promoted from the position of a sergeant.

Major Lee W. Haney of the regular army infantry has been stationed on this campus and comes from Fort Knox, Ky., where he was a member of the newly organized 5th Armored Division.

Other new officers include Sergeant Charles E. Kisinger of the regular army infantry and Lieutenant Robert C. Chervanik from Fort Meade, Md., who replaced Lieutenant P. W. Riddleberger in the infantry.

Major Guy G. Mills of the engineers division, announced yesterday that tentative arrangements were being made for competitive rifle and pistol firing between the cadet officers of the two divisions, infantry and engineers.

Contest Deadline Set For 8 P. M. Tomorrow

The deadline for entries in The Daily Collegian football contest has been changed from midnight to 8 p. m. tomorrow because of the presence of several night games in the list of selections, according to James E. McCaughey '42, Collegian business manager.

A first prize of $5 and five additional awards of $1 will be given for entries having the greatest number of correct selections. Contest blanks postmarked before 8 p. m. tomorrow will also be accepted.

Savitt Boasts Classical Lineage

Jan Savitt, a Russian born violinist with a definite classical background, will bring his Top Hatters to State College Friday night, November 7, to play for Soph Hop, which is scheduled for the opening night of Penn State's new "joint weekend."

Under the joint weekend policy, the dance will be combined with Fall houseparty. However, a survey being conducted by The Daily Collegian shows that many fraternities plans to hold their formal house dance on Friday night in compliance with Houseparty schedules of past years.

This procedure will undoubtedly conflict with Soph Hop, since the dance is also booked for Friday night. Co-chairmen Jack J. Bard '44 and R. Kemp Noble '44 have announced that dress for Soph Hop will be formal and that dancing will be held in Rec-Hall from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m.

Savitt's history is classical all the way back. His grandfather was a close friend of the Russian composer, Tchaikowsky. His father conducted the Czar's imperial bands. But for a fancy for radio, Jan would probably be listed among the classical artists too.

Savitt's family immigrated to the United States and settled in Philadelphia when Jan was still a baby. He grew up with his violin and later became affiliated with the Philadelphia Orchestra as a violin virtuoso.

He took up radio concert work in 1935, and eventually organized a swing band which he took out "on the road" three years ago. Since then he has been nationally known as the band leader of the Top Hatters.

Colonel To Speak

Col. Crosby Field, of the U. S. Ordnance Department Reserves, will speak before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in 110 Electrical Engineering at 7:30 p. m. today.

Knox Commends Engineering School

Secretary Frank Knox of the Navy Department has commended Penn State's Engineering School for its outstanding work in training men for defense purposes, according to Dean Harry P. Hammond.

Citing especially the instruction given Naval Reserve officers in advanced courses in Diesel engineering, Secretary Knox mentioned that of the several institutions offering Diesel training, the first college to undertake the program was Penn State.

"This training has been of immense value and has resulted in the qualification for technical duty of a large number of newly commissioned Naval Reserve officers who are graduates of civilian colleges," Secretary Knox commented.

MI Research Funds Granted

The School of Mineral Industries has started to utilize a $60,000 appropriation granted it by the passage of the Wilson Bill in the last session of the Pennsylvania State General Assembly, according to Edward Steidle, dean of the School.

The funds were granted to be used with $35,000 which is being raised by mineral industries within the state for research in glass technology and ceramics, fuel technology, geology and the earth sciences, meteorology, geophysics, and production of petroleum natural gas, and alloy steels.

Another bill, the Williams-Kenehan act, provides for appropriations of $60,000 from legislature and $30,000 from industry for research on anthracite and bituminous coal, a project supervised by the State Department of Mines. Besides contributing funds the industries provide committees to advise the school on research problems.

"The significance of the bills," Dean Steidle says, "is the interest shown by legislature in mineral industries research, especially in this time of national defense."

Directory Out Soon, Hoffman Announces

The student-faculty directories will not be out until November 11, at the very earliest, Registrar William S. Hoffman announced yesterday. Final copy was sent to the printing company Tuesday and return of the directory within two weeks is promised.

Two new changes in the style of the directory have been added this year. A new technique will be employed in the school abbreviations to facilitate the picking out of the student's curriculum and make identification easier. The other change will be the setting up of standardized building abbreviations for the faculty division.

Editor To Speak Tonight At Convention Banquet

E. S. Bayard, editor-in-chief of the "Pennsylvania Farmer" and a trustee of the College for over 35 years, will be the main speaker at the twenty-first annual Poultry Convention banquet at the Nittany Lion Inn, 6:30 o'clock tonight.

More than 130 persons are registered for the five-day convention which will end tomorrow morning.

PLANS POLL — Thomas J. L. Henson, president of Interfraternity Council, announced last night that nonfraternity freshmen will be sent questionnaires investigating fraternity rushing problems.

IFC To Conduct Freshman Poll

All non-fraternity freshmen will receive questionnaires at the end of next week to find out why they didn't join a fraternity and if they plan to pledge sometime in the future, Thomas J. L. Henson, president of IFC, announced last night.

"Despite the fact that fraternities experienced a successful rushing season, they frequently need pledges throughout the year and freshmen often find it possible to pledge a fraternity at times other than formal rushing season," Henson pointed out. "The questionnaire should be of importance to both groups."

George W. Ferguson '42, chairman of the rushing committee, will prepare lists for fraternities as soon as the questionnaires are returned to him. Other members of the committee are, Lloyd A. Dixon '42, Howard H. Earle '42, and John J. Long '42.

Henson also announced that the first meeting of the Association of Fraternity Advisors held their first fall meeting at the Sigma Pi fraternity Tuesday night.

At this meeting, Charles Schlow, reporting as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, stated that there were no serious infractions of the IFC rushing code this fall. He said he believed the present rushing code was very satisfactory.

In order that the Association may help in investigating the possibilities of cooperative buying, a committee consisting of Professor E. W. Callenbach, Professor R. H. Carey, and R. Y. Edwards was appointed to hold discussions with the IFC Caterer's Association.

Frosh Cliques Name Additional Party Officers

Freshman political activity was increased last night when both the '45 Campus and Independent parties met to elect officers other than clique chairmen already elected, and to further organize their parties in preparation for frosh elections to be held the latter part of November.

The exact date of the election as well as the deadline for candidate's petitions will be decided tonight by the Freshman Elections Committee in 305 Old Main at 7:30 p. m., it has been announced by Jerome H. Blakeslee, committee chairman and junior class president.

The '45 Campus party elected Ruth A. Embury, secretary, and Marjorie G. Walton, treasurer, while the frosh Independent clique named Burdette Coldren Jr., vice-chairman and James T. Oakes, treasurer.

Platform formation will be started by both groups at their next meetings, party chairmen announced. The Independent group will meet again at 7 p. m. Monday and the '45 Campus party at 7:30 p. m. next Wednesday.

With about 65 freshmen present at the Campus meeting, chairman Walter C. Price appointed platform, zoning, finance, and publicity committees. Murray Friedman, Independent chairman, will make committee appointments at their next meeting. Approximately 40 attended the Independent meeting.

A third political meeting was held last night by the '43 Campus group, and organization for the year was started. Chairman Patrick J. Boner announced that another meeting will be held in about two weeks.

67 Report For First Naval Unit Meeting

Sixty-seven men reported last night for the first meeting of the Penn State unit of the Naval Air Corps, according to Thomas W. Allison '42, seaman, second class, V5. The next meeting will be held November 12, at which time a definite date will be set for physical examinations.

Bearing the name "Nittany Lions," the unit will begin active flight training at the Philadelphia Navy Yards on June 15. However, trainees may begin the course as early as February 12, if they so

Committee To Study Advisor Problem

A seven-member committee to study the faculty advisor problem was named by Frank R. Flynn '43, co-chairman of the student-faculty relations committee which met last night in the Hugh Beaver room in a two-and-one-half hour session.

The advisory committee includes Thomas E. Wilcox '44, Clarence E. Kunz '42, Robert B. Jeffrey '42, John J. Raves '42, Jean L. Liminger '42, Prof. M. M. Babcock, and Prof. C. A. Bonnie.
