

Twenty Expected At Camp Confab

Twenty coeds are expected to attend WRA's fourth Camp Counselors' Conference at the WRA Cabin from 1:30 p. m. tomorrow until 10 a. m. Sunday, according to Dorothy J. Jennings '44, general chairman.

The program will include demonstrations of fire-building, wood chopping, campcraft, and blanket rolling.

Prospective counselors will cook a one-pot meal for supper and pancakes and bacon on tin cans for breakfast. Songs, star-gazing, Indian wrestling, and stories will compose Saturday night's campfire program.

Application blanks for counselor positions will be distributed by Miss Mildred A. Lacey, instructor in physical education, in charge of counselor placement.

Instigated by R. Helen Gordon '42, the first confab was held in the Fall of 1939 and included panel discussions, movies, and guest speakers.

Two conferences were held last year, in the Fall and Spring. The first stressed swimming and arts and crafts, and the second considered recent and future trends in camping in a forum discussion.

Plan Hallowe'en Parties

Hallowe'en parties will be given tonight at Phi Mu and Bart's Dormitory. Phi Mu members and dates will come in costume. Gladys Mullen '42 and Grace G. Naylor '42 are in charge at Bart's Dormitory.

We, The Women By Way Of Cooling Coed "Firewater" Flames, We Suggest Regulated Drinking As A Solution

Smouldering embers of the coed drinking situation burst into flames with the proposal that women students be barred from imbibing in surrounding communities and roadhouses.

Another rule or request does not seem to be a practical solution. Prevalent disregard of present regulations is proof of that. An addition to this rule would seem to bring continued indifference.

Such a rule, to be effective, would have to be enforced. Enforcement would demand a policing system and such a method is not acceptable.

IFC's campaign drove drinking into the open. If approved, the new plan would drive it under cover—a vicious see-saw and the inevitable outcome.

In finding a plausible solution to the recognized problem, several factors must be considered. Lawmakers should ponder the location of the College and amusement facilities offered.

Coeds should recognize their part in upholding the name of the

STARTED CONFABS—R. Helen Gordon '42 instigated the first Camp Counselors' Conference in the Fall of 1939. She will lead the campfire program at the fourth program at the fourth confab at the WRA Cabin this weekend.

Archery Club Plans Novelty Tournament

Clout shooting, balloon and loop shooting, archery, golf, and a game hunt have been planned for the Archery Club's novelty tournament on the field between Grange Dormitory and White Hall at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Coeds with archery experience are invited by Josephine H. Beljan '42, club president, to participate. The committee includes Nora R. Stern '43, Diana Novich '44 and Dorothy Mognet '45.

WOMEN IN SPORTS

Another 2-2 Tie

Army and Navy hockey teams battled to the second successive 2-2 standstill yesterday. Sis Fitting, Navy forward, repeated her last minute rush of Wednesday's game and scored the tying point with only a minute left to play.

Army opened the game with a blitzkrieg, scoring twice in the first half. Goals were credited to Anna Radle.

Late in the second period, Navy forwards began to click. A short pass, Longenecker to Robinson, resulted in a score, followed by another drive and score. Fitting made both points.

Laila Dunkelberger, substituting for Navy fullback Ann Drivas, played an outstanding defense game, continually pushing back the Army attack. Drivas suffered an injured finger.

The stickmen will resume playing Tuesday and continue daily games until one team wins two games, announced Pauline Crossman '43, intramural manager.

The lineup: right wing—Angle, A. Longenecker, N; right inner—Crossman, A. Brown, N; center forward—Radle, A. Fitting, N; left inner—Rugh, A. Haverstick, N; left wing—McGee, A. Hooper, N; right half—Jackson, A. Weldy, N; center half—Duffman, A. Burke, N; left half—Devling, A. Levin, N; right back—Ernst, A. Drivas, N; left back—Holmes, A. Burwell, N; goalie—Sheffield, A. Scrivanich, N.

Substitutions: Army—Cookerly, Cauffman; Navy—Gregory, Robinson, Dunkelberger.

WSGA Grants 3 O'Clocks For Houseparty Weekend

WSGA Senate has granted three o'clock permissions November 7 and 8 to all women attending Houseparty. Hours Sunday are 9 o'clock for freshmen, 10 o'clock for upperclass women, and 11 o'clock for second semester women.

Freshman women must present written consent from parents to attend. Others are required to keep regular hours.

Lists of freshman and second semester senior permissions will be posted with dormitory hostesses.

Freshman women will be permitted to date for the football game Saturday.

Dean Ray Will Speak

"Democracy—For Whom?" will be discussed by Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, at the annual Founders' Day dinner of Pi Lambda Theta, women's national education honorary, at Pittsburgh University, Saturday.

Puzzled Rushees Ponder Panhel

During the maze of sorority rushing, bewildered freshman and transfer women may stop to wonder who started the whole thing.

It all began in 1922 when the first women's social groups, called women's clubs, were established on the Penn State campus. In 1923 a Club Council was formed, consisting of representatives from each group.

During that year the clubs started petitions to join national sororities, achieving their purpose in 1926.

From their efforts sprang Panhellenic Council, part of a national organization, which replaced the Club Council. It was organized to rule over sorority problems and to foster good will among sororities. The presidency of this council rotates annually among the sororities. The first president was Edan Roderick '30.

Important Battle Gets Under Way With Incoming Bomber Favored

First in a series of five bouts will be staged at every fraternity house beginning about 5 p. m. next Friday.

In one corner slugging it out for the glory of her Penn State sisters, is the coed. On the other side of the canvas is the Import Bomber, hell-bent on getting the Houseparty crown.

Dinner bells will sound, calling combatants to the center of the ring. Referee, average Penn State man, will whisper instructions and advise both fighters to break clean.

Odds are heavy against the coed. Her success story is one of seven-weeks of concentrated training on tactics and intrigue. She fights not for self-esteem but for the cause of coeds sick at home by their radios.

Her favored opponent aims her hooks well. Self-confident of success, she pulls no punches. Home-town wide-eyedness awaits her if she is victorious. She is a battle-scarred veteran of many Houseparty wars.

Her trainers are former well-known imports of old knock-em-down, drag-em-out affair.

The fray is on. Seconds are tying on the gloves; may the best woman win.

Cast-Off Pins Fan Love Flame

Believe it or not, fellows, love is the main incentive for coeds accepting fraternity pins according to a recent survey.

A loyal freshman remarked that her pin symbolized true love and she didn't care who had it before. She had it now!

An experienced junior, when questioned, sighed, "This is for keeps—the real thing. The other three pins don't count."

Then there is the senior who nabbed a pin her freshman year and still wears it as faithfully as her dirty saddles.

The true sophomore can be distinguished as the coed who indignantly denies she took a pin to avoid the sophomore slump.

In the minority are coeds who hide pins on petticoats, collect them in a snug jewel box, or substitute the sacred emblem for a missing button.

Chi-Teh-Wang, a young Chinese aeronautical engineer, is pursuing graduate study at Rensselaer Polytechnic institute.

Hetzel Instigates Civilian Campus Defense Unit

(Continued from Page One)

All-College vice-president; Ross B. Lehman '42, editor of The Daily Collegian; Thomas J. Henson '42, IFC president; Elden T. Shaut '42, IMA president; A. Leonard Krouse, senior class president; Jerome H. Blakeslee, junior class president; Jack R. Grey, sophomore class president; Jean Babcock '42, WSGA president; Betty L. Ziegler '42, WRA president.

If Dr. Shigley complies with the petition and approves the nominations the executive committee of the College Division will appoint sub-committees on air raid warning, fire protection, American unity (morale), first aid classes, conservation of defense essentials, and men in service.

AT THE MOVIES

CATHAUM: "Father Takes A Wife"
STATE: "Married Bachelor"
NETTANY: "In The Navy"

CLASSIFIED SECTION

FOR RENT—Corner room in Irvia Hall. Reasonable price. Call 841.

LOST—Girl's wrist watch, Jules Ferguson, brown band, pink watch. Lost in vicinity of Wiley Dorn or Hotel State College. Call Rae Weinstein, Wiley Dorn. Itch 30 M.

Rides Wanted

R.W.—Man and wife to Pittsburgh Friday afternoon. R. Sunday afternoon. Call 2660.

R.W.—New York. L. Friday, R. Sunday. C. Roberts, 2919.

P.W.—Pittsburgh or vicinity. L. Friday or Saturday, R. Sunday evening. C. 4850, Bob McLaughlin or Don McKenzie.

1tpd M.

Eugene H. Lederer
REAL ESTATE
114 E. Beaver Ave. Dial 4066
State College

Thespians Present
'What's Coming Off?'
DOLORES SAYS:
The funniest thing I ever heard was Sock Kennedy telling the Thespians, "For God's sake, fellows, let's make this next show a clean one."
Fri. & Sat. Nov. 7 & 8 7 p. m. Schwab Auditorium

A Common Expression in Town and Campus
"YOU CAN GET IT AT METZGER'S"
HUNTING SEASON IS HERE
CHECK YOUR HUNTING EQUIPMENT NOW
WE CARRY THE MOST COMPLETE LINE IN CENTRAL PENNA.
WE ISSUE HUNTING LICENSES
Shop At METZGER'S