

Senate Coed Drinking Plan Upset By Cabinet Voting

Unchaperoned Mixed Drinking Forbidden

All-College Cabinet last night overthrew potential WSGA Senate action regarding coed drinking, by voting unanimously that WSGA accept Dean Charlotte E. Ray's proposal which forbids coeds from drinking in surrounding community and roadhouses.

Senate yesterday had formulated plans to refer a proposal, permitting women students over 21 years of age and with parents permission to enter roadhouses, for approval of President Ralph D. Hetzel.

Because of unanimous voting, Senate, as a branch of All-College Cabinet, must accept the decision without taking the measure back to the house of origination. The regulation will become effective at once.

The statement which was to have been submitted to President Hetzel was to be compiled today by Miss Ray, Jean Babcock '42, WSGA president, and Jeanne C. Stiles '42, Judicial chairman.

At Senate meeting yesterday letters from coeds in regard to the drinking issue were read by Miss Stiles. The contents of the letters lead to suggestion of the age-parent sanction plan by members.

Priscilla C. MacLellan '44 was appointed co-chairman of the Christmas Dinner, to assist Nancy E. Gosser '43, chairman. The newly inaugurated petition system will be used in selecting other committees. Sign-up blanks for dinner committee will be turned in next week.

Invitations to attend the next Senate meeting will be sent to Misses Mary J. Stevenson, Nina Bentley, assistants to dean of women, Audrey R. Dice '42, M. Jocelyn Walsh '43, Beverly J. Miller '44, Betty Cresswell '45, and Priscilla Powers '45.

E. Miriam Jones '43, town senator, and Patricia Diener '45, freshman senator, announced additional appointments to Big-Little Sister Tea committees. Freshmen named to the property and decorations committee are Julia McFarland, chairman, Marcia Crichton, Betty Griffith, Polly Huber, Martha James, Barbara Keast, Louise Murbach, and Betty Robinson. Clean-up committee appointments are Vivian Martin, chairman, Ola Rokos, Harriette Lenker, Molly Moyer, and Lillian Valish.

Margaret K. Sherman '43, WSGA vice-president, and speaker of the House of Representatives, stated that contacts to obtain coed participation in the defense unit will continue.

Dorothy L. Jones '44, sophomore senator, announced that Freshman Council members will dine in McAllister Hall Thursday, November 20.

Houseparty Import Sticks Out Her Chin For The Big Weekend

Too many people have been pitying too many houseparty homebugs lately. It's time for someone to give the poor little import some sympathy.

She's the little lady who slaps on her finest rags, endures the bumps of an all-day bus ride to Penn State, meets a two-by-four college hot dog at the terminal, and lets a glimmer of exaltation drift over the circles under her eyes.

And after all that agony, what does she get? A raking over the coals by those innocent homebugs and a raking over the dance floor by the hot dog.

With most of her weight being concentrated in the circles under her eyes, the import is the one who discovers what houseparty really is: a jam session where people lose both their sleep and their perspective at the same time.

Refusing to admit that she's had a perfectly lousy time, she'll be back next spring to stumble through the whole thing again. And the homebugs will be on hand as usual with their subtle brick bats.

EXPRESSES PLEASURE — Miss Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, stated last night that she considered it a great privilege and pleasure to have H. W. Prentiss, Jr., new member of the College Board of Trustees, speak here.

New Trustee To Speak Here

H. W. Prentiss Jr., new member of the College Board of Trustees and president of the Armstrong Cork Company, will be guest speaker at an open student mass meeting in Schwab Auditorium at 4 p. m. Friday, November 14. He will speak on "Roots of Liberty in America."

Mr. Prentiss will also address groups of engineering students Friday night in behalf of the Society of Promotion of Engineering Education which will meet here then on "Education of Free Men."

Students are urged to attend the mass meeting to hear Mr. Prentiss who is a well known speaker on citizenship and democracy. He was appointed trustee of the college last Spring.

Huntington Presents Bronze Work To College

"Peacocks Fighting" is the title of the bronze work which Mrs. Anna Hyatt Huntington, sculptress from New York City, has presented to the College. It has been temporarily placed on the reference desk of the central library.

Mrs. Huntington is known for small bronzes of animals. Outstanding is her equestrienne statue of Joan of Arc on Riverside Drive, New York City. The late Gutzon Borglum, sculpturer of the four heads of presidents at Mt. Rushmore, South Dakota, was her teacher.

"Peacocks Fighting" is thought to be the only bronze on campus.

PSCA To Participate In Program Planning

Miss Ione V. Sikes, associate director of Westminster Foundation, will direct the first meeting of the PSCA Program Planning Group discussion of "What is a Good Program?" The meeting will be held in 304 Old Main at 4:15 o'clock today.

To build more effective programs for local churches and PSCA, a series of study groups have been planned to discuss the issues: "How Do We Plan," November 12; "Resources of Art, Drama, Poetry," November 19; "Resources of Music, Silence, Prayer," December 2; "Planning for Christmas," December 9.

Virginia M. Krauss '44 has been named chairman of the PSCA study group.

WOMEN IN SPORTS

Army Beats Navy, 4-1

Despite occasional rain and a slippery field, a determined Army eleven decisively defeated the Navy 4-1 in the third game of the annual hockey classic.

A sustained drive into Navy territory resulted in three Army goals in the first half, with Betsy McGee scoring twice and Pauline Rugh, once. Betty Robinson made the lone Navy goal.

Both teams remained scoreless in the second half until the closing minutes when a foul by the Navy goalie called for a penalty bully. Rugh scored.

Navy's inability to score was credited to excellent Army defense, sparked by Janet Holmes, left fullback, and Ann Sheffield, goalie.

Debaters Discuss Labor Regulations

A practice debate, "Resolved, that the federal government should regulate by legislation all labor unions in the United States," was held in 103 Home Economics last night.

The affirmative was argued by Florence I. Jaffy '44, constructive case, and Evelyn R. Wilner '43, cross examination. Lois J. Hunter '42 debated the negative constructive case and Sara R. Lipser '42, cross examination.

Dr. Adams To Speak

Dr. Clifford R. Adams, instructor in education and psychology, will speak on "Women in Education and Marriage" at a meeting of Pi Lambda Theta, national women's education honorary, in northwest Atherton lounge at 8 o'clock tonight. The public is invited to hear Dr. Adams' talk. A coffee hour for members will be held later.

Kappa Kappa Gamma officers will be entertained by town alumnae at the home of Mrs. Carl C. Seashore at dinner tonight.

Memo For Coeds Attending Houseparty

A reminder of Houseparty hours includes three o'clock permissions Friday and Saturday for all coeds. Freshmen women will be allowed to date until 9 p. m. Sunday; 10 p. m. for upperclass women, and 11 p. m. for second semester seniors.

Freshmen women must obtain written permission from home to keep hours and will be allowed to date for the Syracuse game Saturday.

Lists of freshmen women with Houseparty permission will be posted.

More Than A Kiss For Defense

"Kissing the boys goodbye is not the only good deed Penn State women intend to do for national defense," stated Margaret K. Sherman '43, speaker of the WSGA House of Representatives and in charge of women's defense work on campus, yesterday.

"College women have a two-fold aim in defense," Miss Sherman stressed, "that of acquiring practical skills and the important purpose of helping democracy to live."

The College is expected to offer instruction in defense courses next semester, the most popular of which are first aid, office methods, and elementary mechanics.

"Women are interested in this defense program because they want to do their part, as the men are doing theirs by going into the army," Miss Sherman pointed out. "However, their interests are being hampered by complications involved in making overall courses for women, part of the College curriculum."

Three organizations, British War Relief, Friends Service Committee and Red Cross, have already lauded the work of coeds.

Miss Sherman added that approximately 300 women have enrolled in the courses beginning second semester, but House of Representatives hopes for a total of 500.

Attend Conference

Miss Phyllis K. Sprague, Mrs. Kathryn E. Clawson, and Miss Mary D. Stockton, home economics instructors, will leave today for New York City, where they will attend a Food Service Directors' Conference at Hotel Commodore, November 6 to 8.

"Dieting" was the subject of a talk given by Dr. Anna O. Stevens, College Health Service physician, at the Kappa Kappa Gamma chapter meeting Monday.
