

'45 Coeds Dine In Mac Hall

Ninety-three freshman women from downtown dormitories will be present at the PSCA-WSGA Freshman Banquet in McAllister Hall tonight, Ruth H. Zang, advisor to PSCA Forum executive committee, stated last night.

"All upperclass women who have not been assigned to dine at freshman downtown dormitories will be allowed to eat in the dining commons," Miss Zang said.

Miss Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, will greet freshmen and open the program which will be presided over by Miriam L. Zartman '45, committee chairman, and Patricia Diener, WSGA freshman senator.

A talk on "Students Around the World" by Jack McMichael, former president of the National Intercollegiate Christian Council, will climax the program.

Flags of many countries will decorate walls and hostesses in native costumes of various nations will be stationed at each table.

Dean Ray Honors Mrs. Arisman

Miss Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, will give a tea in the lounges of Women's Building from 3 to 5 o'clock today in honor of Mrs. George Arisman of Lancaster, formerly Miss Matilda A. Bentley, assistant dean of women.

Serving as hostess with Miss Ray is Mrs. William D. Phillips of Washington, Pa., first woman trustee of the College. Another tea was given in Mrs. Arisman's honor yesterday.

Sophs Continue Winning Streak

Catching the juniors off-guard, sophomore soccer players scored the lone goal in the opening minutes of yesterday's game. After a surprise drive, Ellen Esther Sherk made a long kick which won the game.

Undefeated sophs rate first in the series. Juniors have won one and lost two while frosh are ready to start over with one defeat and one victory.

Alumnae Plan Tea

Town alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta will hold a tea for active members at the home of Mrs. Hummel Fishburn from 3 to 5 p. m. today.

Mail From 37 States Swamps Miriam Rhein

Holding her own in the "Hour of Charm" contest, Miriam L. Rhein '43 has been swamped from top to toe with fan mail from 37 different states, placing her higher than any other contestant in state representation.

Mail has floated in from mid-Pacific islands, and photographs of Miriam from town newspapers have been sent to her from Chicago, Florida, and Washington state.

Poet laureate at Long Island, Miss Harriet Fowler sent an autographed copy of her own song, "To an Oriole," which she said reminded her of Miriam.

In numerous letters from army camps, men have tried to strike up acquaintances, and Miriam says they were "very polite" about it.

From Kentucky came a recording of the program in which Miriam sang, while Richard Kurka, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., has been sending copies of his own newspaper, "The Daily News." Answering his request for comments about it, Miriam told him it was "quite breezy."
