

Christmas Gifts for Betty Coed

So you don't know what to give her for Christmas, Joe College? The family's taken care of, but you still can't think what to get your true love, Betty Coed. Having first hand information on what Santa Claus is featuring this year, we'll let you in on it.

Even if you can't seem to afford a convertible coupe or a diamond bracelet on the remains of your allowance, Betty Coed will love you if she gets a make-up kit filled with all those things that help beautify. They come in all sizes and prices.

Along this same line are waterproof lined cosmetic bags, brightly colored and very useful. Compacts, lipsticks, manicure sets, and powder puffs done up in tricky packages will help her to keep that smooth look you like so well.

If you really want to thrill her, how about a quilted housecoat, a bed jacket, or a long pullover sweater?

To decorate your dream girl we suggest pins, not the fraternity kind, and clips; there are some nice ones in leather and wood. Long necklaces that dangle to the waist are popular this year worn with sweaters.

If you are the practical type and she is, too, Betty will like bookends in metal or plastic or a lamp for her room. There are some very nice ash trays, too. Pictures, small tables, and knick-knack shelves are useful and won't wear out.

For the girl who travels we suggest pullman slippers that fold up into a small bag or a travelling clock both for travel and to use in her room. She might take the hint, too, and be ready for dates on time.

The old man with the whiskers remarked that on his list every year are mittens, kerchiefs, and scarfs. He must know what weather at Penn State is like.

What about a purse and gloves, a wallet, or a cigarette case? Always favorites, she'll be sure to like them.

If you know Betty Coed carries on a good bit of correspondence—jealous, aren't you, Joe College?—she'll appreciate writing paper. Stamped with her sorority seal it would really be welcome. Perhaps she needs a new fountain pen, too.

With the war going on and the embargo and everything, stockings are becoming a real luxury. Nylons come in gift boxes, but be sure to get the right size.

If your true love likes to read, get her something hot off the presses, or an old time favorite. She might let you read it sometime.

Of course there are many more things that would please Betty Coed on Christmas morning, but that's about all Santa could suggest right off-hand. You know, he's getting old, and his memory isn't so good any more.

You don't like these suggestions and you're still in a quandry? Then get Betty Coed a carton of cigarettes or a box of candy. If she doesn't indulge, send her flowers; they aren't fattening.

Students, Faculty, Townspeople To Attend Annual Carol Sing

Attracting thousands of students, faculty members and townspeople, the annual Christmas Carol Sing will be held on the terrace in front of Old Main at 8:30 p. m. December 18. Gerald F. Doherty '42, All-College vice-president, will preside at the program.

Jane M. Roush '42, program chairman, announced Mrs. Harriet D. Nesbitt, instructor in public speaking, will read a Christmas selection. Words for the carols will be projected on a screen at the head of the Old Main steps, and it is expected the College Choir will present special numbers.

The event is being sponsored by the PSCA and department of music with the aid of visual education and grounds and buildings departments. Prof. Hummel Fishburn, department of music education, will lead the group singing.

Lighted Christmas trees will be placed on the steps. Betty C. Rose '42 is chairman of the committee on decorations which also includes Raymond C. Lee '44 and Betty Louise Schaeffer '44.

Members of the publicity committee are Frances G. Reist '42, chairman; Kehl Markley III '44, Miriam L. Rhein '43, Lloyd H. Shenefelt '42, Phyllis E. Garrison '44, Dorothy F. Beam '42, and Ilse M. Springer '42.

Arrangements are under William C. Paterson '43 and Roy R. Smith '44, co-chairmen. Other members of the committee are Marlin S. Savidge '43, Robert G. Kintigh '43, Chris B. Zimmerman '44, and Burnet C. Cerlton '42.

Last year, after the last hymn was sung, a period of silence was observed and chimes from the First Presbyterian Church were heard.

College Will Be Closed

All offices and buildings of the College will be closed during the period from noon Wednesday, December 24 to 8 a. m. December 29 and on New Year's Day except offices and buildings that must be kept open for the public's convenience, according to an announcement issued by President Ralph D. Hetzel.

PSCA Forum Plans Christmas Party

The Freshman Girls' Forum of the Christian Association will hold their annual Christmas party for the boys of the Freshman Council in the Little Theater at 7:00 p. m. this Tuesday. The boys in turn will hold their party for the girls on December 16.

Headed by Miriam L. Zartman and Violet K. Siegle, respective chairmen of the Social and Program committees, who have combined the resources of their groups, the Forum will play hostess not only to the freshmen here but also to 50 students from Bucknell who will participate in the program.

After the assembly in Room 304, Old Main, the group will meet in the Little Theater to witness the Christian Association's production of the one-act play, "The Finger of God." Directed by John Miller, the cast includes Calvin Maynard '45, Paul M. Heberling '44, and Jean E. Hershberger '43, Dorothy L. Mognet '45 is in charge of the properties.

Plans for the Freshman Council's program have not been fully completed as yet. Lloyd W. Ellison, chairman, has announced that it will probably include a party and dance in the Sandwich Shop. Robert D. Edelman '44, a member of the freshman advisory committee, is acting as advisor for the affair.
