

WSGA, AAUW Will Stage 'All-Out' Benefit Festival

Defense, Charities Will Get Proceeds

In an "all-out" effort to raise money for defense organizations and local charities, WSGA and AAUW will sponsor a Mid-Winter Festival either late this month or in early February. The place has not been chosen.

Patterned after an indoor carnival and with the potentialities of a three-ring circus, the festival will include two orchestras, a floor show, and numerous concession booths. All participants will donate their services.

The price of admission, 55 cents, will entitle attendants to dancing and admission to the floor show. A "swing-band" will play for "jitterbugs" while a "string band" will provide waltzes.

Concession booths will sell carnival food—"peanuts, popcorn, and candy"—and operate games of chance. Women's campus and town organizations may volunteer to set up booths.

AAUW plans to contribute its proceeds to the Red Cross and student loan fund. Individual groups operating booths will name the defense group or charity to be their beneficiaries. Possibilities include the USO, Red Cross, Defense Bonds and Stamps, and student loan and fellowship funds.

Members of the central planning committee are Patricia Diener '45 and Carolyn H. Fisher '45, WSGA representatives and Mrs. A. W. Cowell, Mrs. J. Ewing Kennedy, Mrs. Joseph F. O'Brien, and Miss Ruth H. Zang, AAUW representatives. Additional committees will be named next week.

Senate Approves 'No Finals' Action

man of the Senate Committee on Student Welfare.

The Senate also gave certain powers to the Committee on Academic Standards and the Courses of Study Committee.

The Committee on Academic Standards will be able to act by itself, without the final approval of the Senate, so as to speed up action on any cases that may come up during the emergency.

Students who will be forced to leave college because of military service will be eligible for diplomas, Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, head of the committee, pointed out.

The Courses of Study committee will have the same power—that of acting by itself.

"During the emergency," said Charles L. Kinsloe, professor of electrical engineering and chairman of the committee, "the Courses of Study committee is empowered to act by itself on all proposed changes in courses and curriculum in order to speed up the College program."

In the event that something came up that was in the interests of both committees, a joint meeting would be held, Professor Kinsloe added.

Late News Flashes

LONDON—British sources reported that in the North African fighting, General Ramel's remaining Nazi troops took advantage of sandstorms to flee from Saranayka province. It was also reported that the Italians have expressed fear of a British invasion should the Axis forces be completely driven from Libya.

Committee Hears Talk On Laurelton Inmates

Reviewing several case histories and telling of various experiences at Laurelton Village, institution for mentally deficient women, Dr. Anna O. Stephens, college health service physician, spoke before the PSCA Laurelton project committee last night.

Dr. Stephens declared that Laurelton Village was the only institution of its kind in this state. Delinquents come from poor environments and are given physical and mental examinations to determine what type of work for which they are best suited, she said. Interested inmates may go to ungraded school and some advance two or three years in intelligence.

The meeting was held in quiz program form. Rosalind M. Nelson '43, chairman, acting as mistress of ceremonies, with Dr. Stephens the center of information.

We, The Women

Panhel Makes Wise Decision

Despite the whirlwind schedule adopted by most groups to comply with the shortened College semester, Panhellenic Association has not tampered with the rushing schedule. This, we feel, is the wisest move possible.

Because fraternity women want to further the interests of their respective houses, they want ample opportunity to associate with prospective sisters. Had intensive rushing been eliminated, such would have been impossible.

Rushes, naturally, have been trying to decide in which house they will be happiest. Formal rushing helps them make final conclusions.

Greeks have been planning for these ten days, less than a month away, and, in many instances, already made purchases. Such things could not be easily upset.

These women's fraternities are organizations that will outlive the present emergency. The way their affairs are conducted now will have a definite bearing on their future status.

Time is paramount in making stable decisions. Merely issuing bids, as was suggested, after a month of limited contact, would hardly have insured wise preparation for the future.

As a final spree before intensive rushing begins, sorority women and their dates will swing out at the annual Panhellenic Ball at the Nittany Lion Inn from 9 o'clock until midnight tonight.

Walt James and his Penn Staters will provide music for the first formal of the year. Frances E. Haley '43, acting Council president, hopes to top last year's attendance of 300 couples.

All sorority women are reminded to bring packs of cigarets to be sent to Penn State men stationed in army camps.

Stray Greeks and sorority advisors will be guests of Panhellenic Council. No tickets will be necessary, but all guests planning to attend should be included on the door list. Marjorie B. Strode '42, chairman, may be contacted for further additions.

Chaperones will be Miss Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women; Misses Nina M. Bentley, Ruth L. Zang, Mary Jane Stevenson, all assistants to the dean of women; Mrs. Arthur K. Anderson, Mrs. Franklin L. Bentley, Panhellenic Council advisors; and Mrs. Grace L. Hall, Miss Jeanette Oswald, Miss Kahryn Pontzer, Mrs. Hermance M. Reese, Mrs. Anne B. Searle, dormitory hostesses.

McDowell At Confab

Mrs. Marion S. McDowell, associate professor of home economics and director of the college nursery school, will attend a defense planning conference in Harrisburg today. The meeting is being held in conjunction with organization of child-care centers in Pennsylvania.

Third Semester Still A Mystery

often more helpful to vocational aims than it is detrimental, Dr. Bernreuter said students should not take a wrong attitude. Answering a question about the advisability of a student's changing his course to aid national effort, the psychology head stated a student shouldn't make a needless sacrifice and change completely unless later compelled to. He said slight changes would be advantageous if a student had a particular war service objective.

The News Behind the News

What do you find in the newspaper you are holding in your hands?

On the front page, headlines; late news bursting into shape before your eyes

Then, on the inner pages, news you might not at first recognize as such advertising from your local stores . . . an assortment of wares, varied and complete.

News? Yes! Not to shake the world, perhaps, but important to matters you care about. The new dress you want for the Prom (you had no idea it would cost so little). Or your new ice skates (you could not very well have guessed that the sporting-goods store was having a sale!).

Newspaper advertising saves you money—you can compare prices better than you could by store-to-store searching. It saves you time—you can decide just where to go before you start. And it saves you mistakes—these goods are sold exactly as advertised!

So read all the news in the newspapers! Sometimes the advertisements can mean more to you than all the foreign dispatches on Page One!
