Underdog Matmen Set For Michigan; Lion Five Meets American U. Tonight

Teams Deadlocked, 3-3, In Series Record

Plenty of fur will fly today when the cagey Nittany Lions tangle with the vicious Wolverines of Michigan at Ann Arbor in effort steal away a victory which will eak the inter-team series record 3 and 3.

Coach Charlie Speidel's gruntand-groan artists will find the Michigan squad a tough opener for three difficult matches as the Penn State men prepare to face Syracuse and Navy next week.

With Michigan casting hopeful eyes on the Big Ten championship this season and with the Lions throwing an unbalanced but determined squad into their initial match, the contest promises to be a good test for both teams.

Lou Bordo, Charlie Lebow, Syd Rudman and Ed Trybals, are all within a few points of each other on the horizontal bar, while a close race for leadership on the side horse is seen with neither Jim Bush, Sol Small, John Teti, or Charles Warrington holding an appreciable edge.

Filling the huge gap left in the rope climb event, which was dominated by Roman Pio last year, is Captain Charlie Senft, Two minutes and 56 seconds of the only senior on the squad, who

Unlike most coaches, Charlie would just as soon spend his time teaching a pair of green youngsters as tutoring seasoned matmen. Winning to him is merely secondary and if he can impress on his boys the importance of keeping their bodies in good physical shape all the time, he feels he has done a good job. It's because of this and the wholesome admiration his squad invariably To glance at the trim, compact has for its coach, that State turns
