The Managerial Headache

Compared to the task of awarding numerals to freshmen in the next few years, the job of electing managers and assistants will be so complicated that Neil Fleming will need a certified public accountant to keep the list straight. Especially will this be true when the election of winter sports managers comes up in March.

For example, the 1943 varsity manager in boxing will be elected from the present junior assistants but he'll be graduated in December 1942 before the next boxing season comes around. In other words, he'll be boxing manager from March till December, during which period boxing will be conspicuous by its absence.

To get around this difficulty our graduate manager of athletics has devised ways and means to prepare our managerial system for the "duration." First, the junior elected manager will get his varsity award without actually working in his senior year. Now comes the complex but workable scheme devised.

In the early part of February, freshmen candidates will be called out to serve as second assistants. The latter, sophomores, will be elected first assistants at that time and at the end of the season one of them will be elected varsity manager for 1943. To make a long story short, there will be two 1943 boxing managers but only one will be here to do the job.

All this sounds complicated but if you sleep on it a few nights everything will become clear. Similar adjustments will be made in other sports and if an emergency arises and there won't be any student managers around, the coaches will have to do the dirty work themselves along with the athletes. Hand us a pair of gloves, Dr. Houck!

Lion Hockeymen Meet Georgetown

Handicapped by thawing weather conditions which have kept them idle for the past week, the Lion stickmen will seek to upset a favored Georgetown University squad tonight in Riverside Arena, Washington, D. C.

Undefeated, untied Georgetown boasts a veteran lineup which has averaged the astounding record of eight goals per game in five straight victories this season. Last week they humbled a strong University of Pennsylvania team, 4-1.

In their two previous meetings last season, State fought to a 4-4 extra period deadlock in the first game, but dropped the second by a 3-2 score.

The Lions were originally scheduled to play a doubleheader tonight, with Catholic University as the other opponent, but a last minute change in plans necessitated cancelling the latter tilt. Coach Art Davis will seek to reschedule them for a game to be played at Johnstown later in the season.

Tonight's lineup will again have Captain Larry Lightbody guarding the nets, and Bert Anthony and Tom Goodwin at the defenses. Mike Fedock and Earl Johnson will fill the wing spots, and Johnny Dufford will be at the center position.

Zimmerman Takes Two As Gymnasts Win, 30-15

Lou Bordo, Sol Small Suffer Hand Injuries

CHICAGO, Ill., January 23. — The Penn State varsity gym team, led by Harold Zimmerman who captured two first place positions, downed a favored University of Chicago squad in Chicago last night by a score of 30 to 15.

Zimmerman's triumph on the Parallel Bars over Courtney Shanken, national all-around gym champion, and his first place in Tumbling was the feature of the meet.

Coach Eugene Wettstone in commenting on the team's victory last night stated, "Zimmerman's two first positions and Ed Trybala's outstanding work on the Horizontal Bars practically clinched the meet, while the entire team came through in sensational style."

Lou Bordo and Sol Small received injured hands in tonight's meet necessitating their withdrawal in two events. Bordo won third places in the Tumbling and Parallel Bars events, however, before his injury. Small was forced out of the Rings and Parallel Bars but won an impressive victory on the Side Horse before retiring.

Charels Lebow gained a second place on the Parallel Bars being barely nosed out by his teammate Trybala. Trybala and Lebow showed excellent form in scoring wins over Earle Shanken of Chicago who won the National Horizontal Bar title last year.

John Teti scored a third place in the Side Horse and Syd Rudman entered the scoring column with an impressive second place position in the Rings.

Chicago scored all of its points by virtue of the outstanding work of the Shanken brothers—Courtney and Earle. Courtney tallied the only first position for his team when he won the Rings event. Previous to this, he had placed second on the Side Horse and Parallel Bars.

Not to be outdone by his brother, Earle Shanken pushed Zimmerman hard in the tumbling but had to be content with second place. Earle also scored a third place on the horizontal bars and the rings.

The team will invade the lair of the Golden Gophers of Minnesota tonight in what Wettstone forecasts an "unpredictable meet" due to the injury of Bordo and Small.

Frosh Swimmers Round Into Shape

Splashing right along with their varsity brothers, the yearling natators are rounding into shape for their two meets with the Cornell and Mercersburg neophytes less than a month away.

Termed by coach Bob Galbraith as "just a lot of boys who like to swim," the frosh have been practicing since November. Out of the 50 original candidates, 25 are still in the swim.

Although not possessing any individual stars, Coach Galbraith has a swell-rounded group of team swimmers who have been showing up well in practice.

Among the frosh who have been proving themselves in the various events are Clyde Bell, former captain of the Augusta Military Academy swimming team, who swims the breast, back and free-style strokes, and Dick Wesner, who dives and does the free-style.

Other outstanding swimmers are: Al Chamberlain, Frank Birchard, and Dan Meckley.

Military Communiques Provide New Textbook For German 6 Course

A course in which recent reports and official publications concerning the German navy, army, and air force will be the main texts is to be offered by the German department under the title of German 6 during the coming semester. The course is open to students eligible for German 4, for which this timely course may be substituted.

Included in the collection of communiques to be used is the German military notices of the invasion of Poland, Norway, and the Lowlands and France. Other data on a more descriptive plane will be the story of the November air raids on England and Russia.

Another newly introduced course is listed as German 5, a course in scientific German which is required of all seniors in the Chemistry and Chemical Engineering curricula.

A German literature course which may be counted as a literature elective will treat the work of authors who are well-known in world as well as German art.

Other literature courses deal with the life and works of Schiller and the German novel, while a specific course will handle the subject of German literature in English translation.
