

'Bomb' Strikes White Hall As Phys Eds Light Fuse

Activity Program To Be Expanded

A "bombshell" struck White Hall when more than 60 women physical education majors gathered last Thursday night to light the fuse of a new dynamic program. No one knew what was coming off until they cleared away the debris last night by sending representatives to every sorority and dormitory, on and off campus, with information about their new plan.

For the benefit of the 50 per cent of coeds who remain in dormitories beside telephones on typical weekends, physical education majors have volunteered in White Hall from 7 to 10 p. m. Fridays and from 1 to 4 p. m. Saturdays.

Their plan is to promote a "friendly atmosphere" in White Hall for undergraduate women. There will be games and instruction with refereeing and playing by majors in all athletics. The swimming pool will be open Saturday afternoons for the first time in White Hall's history.

Community singing, bridge instruction, and social dancing in the lobby will be included. Music will pervade the whole building, and an additional attraction will be coffee and doughnuts for five cents.

The new set-up will be permanent. Majors have chosen as their theme the "Watch Bird," who will be seen around campus pointing to White Hall.

Physical education majors will meet again in Room 2, White Hall, at 6:45 p. m. Thursday for additional plans.

PSCA Holds First Cabin Conference

First annual cabin conference, planned by the Penn State Inter-Church Council and sponsored by the Penn State Christian Association, was held at the PSCA cabin last weekend.

B. Ned Linegar, PSCA associate secretary, presented the purpose of the fellowship in the opening talk Saturday afternoon. A discussion on "Planning the Year's Program" was led by Miss Ione V. Sikes, associate director of Westminster Foundation. Rev. Edworth Korke, Lutheran Student Association pastor, presented the Sunday school lesson.

The group consisted of six representatives from State College churches and special PSCA delegates. Executive committee included M. Elythe Moore '43, council president, Louise E. Carter '42, Elizabeth Home '42, C. Norris Smith '42, and John W. Walker '42.

Home Ec Juniors To Exhibit Foods

"Calorie-conscious coeds" are invited to a cereal and carbohydrate exhibit arranged by junior nutrition classes (home economics 402) in 209 Home Economics from 6 a. m. to noon today.

Foods will be displayed in 100-calorie portions. Future exhibits will show sources of proteins, fats, fruits, and vegetables.

PRAISES COEDS—Jean Babcock '42, WSGA president, returning from the Civilian Defense Council meeting in Harrisburg, said that Penn State women are recognized as being among the nation's leaders in defense activities and are unsurpassed by coeds in any other Pennsylvania college.

Your WSGA— Behind The Lines

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles describing the purpose and organization of women's student government.)

Within two months, women students will be electing new WSGA officers and representatives. We feel it is important for coeds to know duties of women whom they will be naming to offices.

The WSGA president calls and presides over all meetings of the Senate. Although she may bring matters to the attention of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, she may not vote in the House. The president is an ex-officio member of all committees and represents WSGA on All-College Cabinet. Perhaps least known of her responsibilities is acting as senior women's class president.

The junior who is WSGA vice-president assumes the president's duties in her absence. She presides over the House, organizes upperclass dormitories, and is an ex-officio member of WSGA Junior Service Board.

The secretary (senior) posts notices of meetings and hours, keeps minutes, and conducts Senate correspondence. WSGA's treasurer (sophomore) has charge of finances and serves on the Inter-Class Finance Board.

Both juniors and freshmen have two senators and sophomores and seniors each have one. Compensation for difference in senator representation is the stipulation that the secretary must be a senior and the treasurer a sophomore. Town coeds elect one senator.

Non-voting members of Senate are the editor of Co-Edition, women's editor of Collegian, and WSGA Judicial Committee chairman. The dean of women is an honorary member without power to vote.

Specialized senatorial duties include senior senator—activities committee chairman; junior sen-

STCD Courses Announced

2. Community Recreation. Consisting of six two-hour periods and one three-hour period, this seven-weeks' course has as its objective to teach students to serve as voluntary leaders in community recreation programs. Topics designed to give students insight into community recreation needs include the philosophy of recreation, agencies promoting recreation; program suggestions from the fields of music and dramatics, arts and crafts, games and sports, and nature and outings. Administrator of this course will be Ray M. Conger, instructor in charge of recreation.

3. Farm Tractor Operation and Maintenance. Its objective is to provide training in the operation and protective maintenance of farm tractors for men and women who may be required to operate farm tractors and equipment during the emergency. It will meet once a week for eight weeks and will be taught by members of the agricultural engineering department.

4. Public Opinion and Propaganda. The objective of this six-weeks' course is to explain the nature of war propaganda, its values and dangers, and to suggest ways in which the loyal citizen may protect himself against harmful influences and do his part in building morale.

Instructors will be Prof. Harold F. Graves, William K. Ulerich (The Newspaper), Raymond W. Tyson (Radio and Public Speaking), Frank S. Neusbaum (Propaganda in the Drama), and John S. Bowman (Propaganda in Fiction).

5. Home Nursing. Meeting twice a week for six weeks, this Red Cross course is designed to give to the student ability to meet more effectively situations involving health and sickness during the emergency. It will deal with problems relating to individual health and personal hygiene, hygiene of the home, and common emergencies, and community health and preventative measures. Instructors will be members of the home economics department.

6. Defense Forum Techniques. This course will meet once a week for six weeks and is designed to prepare students to organize and conduct defense forums as a part of the Civilian Defense Program in their respective localities.

ator—point system chairman; junior senator—Junior Service Board representative. Both juniors serve on the scrapbook committee and are ex-officio members of Junior Service Board.

Sophomore senator—organizer and chairman of Freshman Council; town senator—chairman of the big-little sister committee and organizer of town women; freshman senator (elected)—chairman of the big-little sister teas. Both freshmen are ex-officio members of WSGA Freshman Council.

WRA Stages Annual Dance

The fourth annual WRA Sweetheart Dance will be held in White Hall gymnasium from 9 p. m. to midnight Friday, February 13, with music by the Campus Owls, according to Patricia MacKinney '43, chairmen.

Admission will be $1.10 per couple, and women will invite men. The dance has been given every year since the building of White Hall. For the past two years the $100 taken in at each dance has been donated to Mrs. Hetzel's fund.

Proceeds this year will go to the same organization. An extra $50 made last year was given as a scholarship to Martha G. Duffman '43.

The dance will be formal to subdue the athletic angle. Last year's decorations included red and white valentines hung on the walls, while the year before, colored strings were stretched to the center of the room with hearts and valentines attached.

Women's Building Beats TPA, 3-0

Women's Building team 2 trounced Theta Phi Alpha, 3-0, and Theta's defeated Chi Omega, 2-1, in table tennis yesterday.

Peggy Good and Streaky Salonic played for Women's Building against TPA's Helen Mazur and Helen Wolf. Theta's Jane Berkebile and Anna Lee Carey defeated Chi O's Fran Angle and Dotty Radcliffe.

Kappa's defeated McCormick's Dorm, 390-336, in bowling. High scorers were Doris Ward, with 128 for the Kappa's and Sarah Hostetter, with 103 for McCormick's.
