

Fireside Sessions List 34 Speakers

With 34 professors and administrators making 103 speeches, 36 fraternities and dormitories are participating in the annual PSCA Fireside Sessions.

Beginning last week, the sessions will continue for two months. They are being arranged by the executive members of the Fireside Sessions committee who include David E. Garfinkle Jr. '44, chairman, Kenneth D. Bair '43, Mary E. Sheffer '43, and David N. Back '44.

Edward D. Ardery, colonel of the corps of engineers, will speak at Alpha Gamma Rho tonight on "The College ROTC in War Time."

Clifford R. Adams, instructor of education and psychology, will discuss "Adjustments in Sex and Marriage" at the Burr-Nitt Club tomorrow.

Next week's sessions include Monday, Howard R. Cottam, associate professor of rural sociology, at Cris Hall, "Marriage and Courtship Problems"; William V. Dennis Sr., professor of rural sociology, at Alpha Omicron Pi, "Drink and Morals"; D. Ned Linegar, associate secretary of PSCA, at Alpha Chi Rho, "Is It Enough To Stop Hitler?"

Mary Jane Meany '45, who was pledged last night by Phi Mu, was unintentionally omitted from Monday's pludge list.

Women Will Cast 'Queen' Ballots

All coeds were requested last night to participate in preliminary elections for Senior Queen in the first floor lounge, Old Main, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. today, by Jean Babcock '42, WSGA president.

Ballots will be counted by Mortar Board members and Miss Nina M. Bentley, assistant to the dean of women. The winner, to be announced at Senior Ball, will be chosen at final elections Tuesday from three coeds remaining from preliminaries.

Dorothy L. Jones, sophomore senator, was placed in charge of posting election hours in downtown dormitories. Candidates include Joyce L. Brayton, Florence K. Goll, E. Louise Hack, Dorothy J. Johnson, Betty M. Martin, and Barbara Torrence.

Nazi Youths Teach Profs

"Since the reign of Hitler the attitude of German students has changed from taking advice of professors to telling them how to run the university," said Dr. Howard E. Yarnall, instructor in German, in Atherton Hall's Fireside Session last night.

In his discussion of "My Experiences as a Student in Germany," Dr. Yarnall contrasted educational conditions before and after Hitler. He said that there is a marked decrease in the number of women students, in accord with the Nazi belief that woman's place is in the home.

"Majority of women who attend college are from families having intellectual tradition and moderate income," Yarnall stated.

We, The Women

Panhel—Ribbons Or Blackballs?

A slap on the back or a slap in the face—Panhel has earned both this year.

Before handing out ribbons and blackballs to Panhellenic Council, we should consider it as a heterogeneous group of Greeks attempting to act as a homogeneous one.

So far as debating and forgetting individual house representation, Panhel acts with merit. As a defense action, council members voted to reduce informal party budgets $5 each. This money plus an additional sum from the treasury will provide a $100 defense bond and a coed scholarship.

Disagreement arises when problems pertinent to rushing are brought before the council. After vague consideration, a more vague motion is passed, recorded in the minutes, and remembered by all except guilty houses. Innocent ignorance is inevitably the plea presented to Panhellenic Judiciary Board.

A member of one campus house disregarded limited contact by playing bridge in the Sandwich Shop with a frosh rushee. Another Greek phoned for a basketball date at noon when Panhel stated that dates should not be made until 6:30 p. m. Still another sorority woman talked with rushees during strict silent period. Each offender was from a different house and would have burned had she witnessed the same acts.

Panhellenic's rushing code has received the acid test of experience and has been revised annually, but it still inadequately covers arising disputes. Since any code seems to have discrepancies, the plausible solution seems to lie in additional cooperation of every house since each is responsible for successful sorority rushing and relations.

Mass Meeting Will Be March 10

WSGA Senate decided at a meeting last night to hold this year's elections on the following days: mass meeting, Tuesday, March 10; preliminaries, Thursday, March 12; and finals, Tuesday, March 17. WRA elections will be scheduled for the same dates.

Senior Ball hours were set for a 3 o'clock Friday and a 1 o'clock Saturday, after a motion by Anne M. Borton, senior senator, and a second by Margaret K. Sherman '43, WSGA vice-president.

Sunday night hours will remain unchanged.

Miss Sherman announced that blood donors' petitions will be due in the dean of women's office by 5 o'clock today. The deadline was shifted from last Tuesday to today because few petitions have been submitted.

Opinions Vary At Art Panel

Opinions on art, music, and creative writing from controversial viewpoints were discussed at the panel discussion, sponsored by Pi Lambda Theta, women's education honorary, last night. R. Helen Gordon '42, president, was chairman.

Harold E. Dickson, fine arts department; Hummel Fishburn, music department; and Joseph J. Rubin, English composition department, followed their five minute speeches with an informal discussion prompted by audience questions.

Possible integration of the fields was advocated. It was suggested that removing the artificial atmosphere from arts would encourage student interest.

35 Students, Profs Attend Talent Night

Thirty-five home economics students and faculty members attended the annual talent night sponsored by Home Economics Club in Grange playroom last night.

Leon Rabinowitz '43, Dry Dock master of ceremonies, was present to scout for talent. He said that monologists showed particular talent and will be contacted for possible Dry Dock entertainment.

Directory Shows Cologne In Home Ec; Bramble In Forestry

In this topsy-turvy world, even the education system is getting things mixed up. "Cologne" scents the home economics department, "Cook" flavors the economics department, and "Carpenter" pounds away with psychology cohorts, according to the College directory.

Miss Rose M. Cologne is assistant professor of home economics; Franklin H. Cook is an economics instructor; and Clarence R. Carpenter is an associate professor of psychology.

Some relationship can be seen in a "Bramble" in forestry, an "Ash" in the petroleum refining laboratory, and a "Cannon" in chemistry. William C. Bramble teaches forestry, and Thomas L. Cannon, chemical engineering, while Harold G. Ash is technician in the petroleum laboratory.

The polls will be open until 5 p. m. Vote for your choice for Senior Queen.
