

Cagers Whip Tech, 42-19, In Season's Finale

Grimes Tops Scorers With 11 Points

By GORDON COY

Failing to live up to the form expected of a NCAA representative, Penn State's Nittany cagers turned in one of their worst performances of the year as they completed the 1941-42 regular court season with a lop-sided 42-19 victory over Carnegie Tech in Rec Hall last night.

Despite their poor showing, however, Coach John Lawther's Lions wrote finis to the best season in the history of basketball at Penn State. With the triumph over the visiting Skibos, the Nittanymer extended their record victory streak to 12 straight and also boosted the season record to 17 wins in 19 starts.

Immediately after the opening tipoff, Herk Baltimore, Lion center, dropped in a quick field goal and Penn State took the lead which they never relinquished during the remainder of the game. In fact, the Lawthermen had widened the margin to 7-0 before Carnegie Tech found the hoop after six minutes of playing time had elapsed.

Going into the second quarter with a 9-3 edge, the Lions continued to play a deliberate and listless brand of ball. Their famed sliding zone defense was clicking as usual, but the offense bogged down and the Nittanymen consistently missed rebound shots. At halftime, the count stood 17-10.

What little fire the visitors showed came in the third period when they pulled to within five points of the Lawther outfit. Led by Patton, Skibo center, the Tech passers rallied and with only four minutes remaining in the third period, the Lions' lead was out to 21-16.

Suddenly the Lions' offense pulled out of its lethargy and Penn State moved out in front with a decisive last quarter drive. Two climatic long shots by Bob Ramin near the end of the game gave evidence that the Lions had finally found their usual scoring form.

SEEKS VICTORY—Boxing mentor Leo Houck and eight men will leave for Charlottesville, Va., at noon today with hopes of upsetting the favorites in the 19th annual EIBA boxing tourney.

Lion Boxers Leave For EIBA Tourney

Eight Lion boxers will depart for the EIBA tournament, to be held at University of Virginia in Charlottesville tomorrow and Saturday, determined to upset the favorites and to make amends for last year's results when the Nittanymen wound up in fifth place.

The boxers failed to take a single championship last season when they recorded the lowest mark since the first tourney was held in 1924. The only bright spot for the Lions in the otherwise dark contest, was the showing made by Bob Baird when he fought his way into the finals, only to be defeated by his old enemy Loren Schoff of Syracuse.

Penn State's copped the championship when the first EIBA tournament was held at State College 18 years ago. Since then the Blue and White punchers have always been considered as serious threats having captured six more first places, five seconds, four third positions, one fourth and one fifth.

If returning champions bolster the betting odds, Syracuse University would rate as the top contender for the Orange have three defending champs entered in the contest. Jack Roland will battle in the 127 pound division this year after he clinched a cup in the 120 weight in 1941. Loren Schoff, who meets Baird in the opener Friday went to the EIBA meet in his sophomore and junior years and returned to Syracuse both times with a trophy. "Toots" Mirabito is the other Orange champion left from last year who has tangled in collegiate bouts this season.

16 Win Championships In IM Wrestling Finals

By DICK McNAUL

Grunting and groaning their way into championship territory, sixteen fraternity and independent intramural wrestlers survived the finals staged yesterday afternoon on the Rec Hall mats.

Climaxed by two weeks of stiff competition, but marred by numerous forfeits and defaults, the tournament had repeat performances by two of last year's champions. Bill Emmons and Phil Mitchell were the only champions to repeat, but Mitchell was eliminated in the finals.

Yesterday's bouts were highlighted by a close match between Paul Woodland and Joe Nageotte. The battle of the Independent 121-pound class was forced into extra periods when Nageotte equalled Woodland's second period fall by a fall of the exact time in the third period. Woodland won the contest on another fall in 1:26 of the extra period.

In the fraternity division, Len Frescoln, Alpha Chi Sig, had to take his heavyweight fight with Malcolm Lebowitz, Gamma Sig Phi, into two extra periods before finally gaining the referee's decision.

'45 Trackmen Entered In IC4A Medley Relay

While their varsity brothers have been traveling to Boston, Philadelphia, Columbus, and New York, Penn State's freshman tracksters have not been idle. Those long hard days of practice on the Rec Hall runway under the supervision of Bob Grievé, freshman track coach, are going to pay dividends to four of the '45 thinclads.

Cliff St. Clair in the 880, Bill Shuman in the quarter-mile, John Dibeler in the 220, and Gerry Karver in the mile, will run in that order in the IC4-A freshman mile and seven-eighths medley relay this Saturday in Madison Square Garden.

The Frank Trent who lost his life in the Normandie fire was a trainer for the St. Francis College basketball team.

Lion Fencers Prime For Meet With CCNY

As the Nittany fencers practiced last night for their first contest with the City College of New York this weekend, Dr. H. Arthur Meyer, new Lion coach, expressed his confidence in the bladesmen who have won three and lost two meets this season.

The new swords-mentor, whose fencing experience began with private lessons while studying at the University of Zurich, has been practicing with the Penn State team for the past three years.
