

Blue Band Starts Spring Concert Series On Sunday

Since the Blue Band wrapped its Fall marching unit up in moth balls, it has not been idle. The popular band has been preparing specialty numbers and musical varieties for its appearance on the Sunday afternoon complimentary concert series starting on Sunday.

Last year the concert series was patronized to capacity. Each year the concerts have proven highly popular, judging from the attendance.

Prof. Hummel Fishburn will direct the Blue Band in Schwab Auditorium at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. Sponsored by the music department, the Blue Band's concert will be the first of five Sunday concerts.

Sunday's program has not been released, but it will probably include several novelty numbers and special arrangements, some of them prepared by students themselves.

"Something new in the way of concert numbers will be offered to the students," Fishburn said.

Dates have also been set for the other four concerts in the series. The combined Military band will give a concert on March 22. Two music honories, Louise Homer Club for women and Phi Mu Alpha, men's, will present a concert on March 29.

The College Choir of 100 Voices has arranged a concert for April 5, and the College Symphony Orchestra will play on April 12.

All concerts will be given in Schwab Auditorium at 3:30 p.m., Richard W. Grant, head of the music department, has revealed.

Entries Due For IFC Bridge Tournament

Entries for Interfraternity Council's annual bridge tournament may be made tomorrow and Friday at Student Union, Sidney R. Geist '42, chairman of the tourney, announced last night.

Cost per team will be one dollar. Each fraternity may enter more than one four-man team. Harold F. Graves, professor of English composition, will supervise the match play, Geist added.

It will be a duplicate bridge tournament, the chairman explained. According to this system of play every team has a chance to play the same hands. The actual playing of the game differs from contract bridge only in the scoring.

Campus Clique Picks Blakeslee, Fardella For All-College Ticket

The final political lineup in the Campus '43 party for the coming elections was approved last night. Jerome H. Blakeslee will run for All-College president on the ticket and Jess V. Fardella will support him as vice-president mate.

Charles H. Ridenour, the 121-pound Eastern wrestling champion last year, received the nomination for senior class president. Richard S. Peiffly landed the candidacy for senior class vice-president.

As senior class secretary nominee, Marjorie E. McFarland won approval. Robert H. P. J. Jordan will be the candidate for class treasurer. Charles R. Sorber got the nod for class historian.

There has been one change in the '43 Independent party lineup.

As the political pugilists are about to climb into the ring and fight it out for All-College elections on March 24, 25, and 26, the Elections Committee has released in its entirety the Elections Code so that there can be no misunderstanding about the rules of the game.

Article I—Time of Voting

Voting will be extended from 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 24 until 8 p.m. Thursday, March 26. The polls will be open from 12:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday until 8 p.m. and from 9:30 a.m. until 8 p.m. Thursday. These hours may be extended if, in the opinion of the Election Committee, such an extension is necessary in order to give everyone an opportunity to vote.

Article II—Place of Voting

Elections will be held in first floor lounge of Old Main.

Article III—Eligibility for Office

All candidates shall be required to have a 1 average for their entire College career. The registrar's list shall be official in determining the candidates' average.

Article IV—Method of Voting

Any regular student meeting the above requirements shall be eligible for nomination to any All-College or class office.

To be nominated a candidate must file a petition with the chairman of the Elections Committee by noon Thursday, March 12.

Accompanying the petitions must be a statement of platform. The Elections Committee shall approve all platforms but shall reserve the right to censor any pro-

Members Justify Representation On College Cabinet

In an effort to determine just how representative and active the various organizations represented on All-College Cabinet are, a special session of Cabinet was held last night at which members gave brief resumes of the organizations' activities for the year.

The general opinion of Cabinet at the close of this discussion was that "basically the system of representation now used is the best possible, but that improvements may be made to improve the efficiency of the body."

One suggestion made by Gerald F. Doherty '42, All-College vice-president, to better orient incoming Cabinet members with the student government setup and problems was, that a non-credit course be given for interested juniors that would acquaint them with student government and its functioning.

Included in this course for potential Cabinet members could be talks by members active on Cabinet at the time. For instance the Interclass Finance chairman could explain the complete system of interclass funds. It was suggested that the dean of men might be in charge of such a course along with the All-College president.

"When students finished such an orientation course, and then took their seats on Cabinet they would be in a much better position to legislate and decide problems of the student body than is the case under the present system under which members come in cold," Doherty pointed out.

Reports were given by representatives of all school councils, IMA, and Philotes. It was evident that the accomplishments of the school councils varied considerably.

Some question was brought up as to whether Philotes really was a representative group of independent women, and whether IMA was for men. It was pointed out that Philotes represents only about 40 or 50 individual women and does not represent groups of women.

Jack R. Grey '44 was appointed chairman of a committee which he will appoint for Cabinet's approval, to cooperate with the Alumni Association in the annual Sophomore alumni drive. A five year membership in the organization may be obtained by the payment of $2 each semester for four semesters, Edward K. Hibshman, Alumni secretary, pointed out.

Salvage Material Vital For Defense

"What we have—we must take very good care of; what we need—we must learn to do without,"

Harold W. Loman, purchasing agent for the College and co-chairman of the State College Conservation Committee told committee members last night.

That preference ratings are not being issued for items using critical materials unless a clear connection with our war effort can be shown, was also made clear by Mr. Loman. It is important that all schools consider the elimination of items involving scarce material until the end of the emergency, substituting non-critical material when possible, he said.

Until now the committee has worked on the salvage drive, collecting over 20 tons in the first two weeks through local organizations. Loman stressed that we must continue to salvage everything that a junk dealer normally buys, but that we must also begin to conserve while we still have tires, gasoline and clothing.

Film spools and typewriter ribbon spools are scarce and the War Production Board has announced that it won't be long before typewriting ribbons will not be sold unless an empty spool is brought in CHASES INSOMNIA—Con McCole, one of the few after-dinner speakers who can keep a crowd awake after a heavy dinner, will be the featured guest at Sigma Delta Chi's annual Gridiron Banquet to be held March 18, at 6 p. m., in the Nittany Lion Inn.

Beauty Expert Selects 6 Coeds

Pictures of six comely Penn State coeds chosen by John Robert Powers, New York beauty expert, will appear in this year's LaVie as representative of Penn State Beauty. The girls selected are Mary Betty Anderson, Jane C. Gibboney, Lois Jane Hunter, Janet F. Twitchell, Helen Swanson Adessa, and Mary E. Shelly.

Powers, in a letter to Joseph T. Reichwein, LaVie editor, stated that in choosing the six girls from a group of 17 submitted by the staff, he had based his choice on the features and contour of their faces, their simplicity, their apparent intelligence and alertness, and their feminine charm.

"Glamour per se does not appeal to me," wrote Powers. "I have always taken part in championing the superlative qualities of the 'Natural Girl.' In making this selection I have tried to include as many different types as possible."

8 Coeds Added To WSGA Slate

Women's nominations for WSGA and WRA offices were climaxed when eight names were added to the WSGA slate and one to the WRA ballot at the coed mass meeting last night.

Dorothy K. Brunner '44 was nominated from the floor and presented as WSGA vice-presidential candidate. Floor nominations for president were not permitted since both organizations require that presidential candidates must have served a year with them.

Additional WSGA floor nominations include Gloria G. Greene '45 and Ione H. Trovatioli '45, treasurer; Helen L. Schmelz, junior senator; Carolyn Emerick and Joan K. Miller, sophomore senator; and Ruth Clyde '45 and H. Elizabeth Furst '45, town senator.

Frances M. Burke '44 was added to the WRA slate as vice-presidential candidate. WSGA floor nominations were approved by senior WSGA Senate members last night.

Present officers of the two organizations presented their candidates and listed their qualifications prior to floor nominations.

Preliminary voting will take place in the first floor lounge, Old Main, from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. tomorrow, and final voting from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Collegian Gives Personality Profiles Of Two Prospective Honor Men

(Editor's Note: These are the second two in a series of sketches of campus leaders that have been nominated for the five senior honor men positions—spoon man, barrel man, cane man, pipe orator and class donor. Two sketches will be published each day this week after which senior men will vote on the candidates.)

William F. Finn, last fall's football manager, has had a good share of presidencies during his four years at Penn State. He was head man in Blue Key, junior honorary, and is now serving as president of Parmis Nous, senior honorary. Vice-president of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary fraternity, Finn is also president of Phi Kappa, social fraternity.

Bill was elected to Lion's Paw, highest senior honorary this year. "The Fightin' Irishman" managed a very successful football squad this fall. He is majoring in advertising.

H. Leonard Krouse, better known as Len, is a triple-threat man in any league. Captain and one of the stellar players on this year's football team, Krouse was invited to play in the All East-West game in New Orleans.

In the Spring when thoughts turn to politics, Len went in for
