

Football Squad Scrimmages Outdoors

After several weeks of intensive calisthenics and conditioning, with occasional light scrimmaging, the football team is practicing almost entirely outdoors now that the weather permits.

Hard Competition Awaits Gymnasts At NCAA Tourney

The Penn State gym team will face a strong field when they compete in the NCAA tournament at the U. S. Naval Academy tomorrow afternoon. According to the contest officials 38 ranking performers have already entered with a few late entries still expected.

Although Coach Gene Wettstone's squad which is the first Nittany team to vie for national honors, copped the EIGA league title this season, Illinois and Minnesota are favored by Baltimore papers to win the team award.

Navy has entered a full team and will be strong contenders. Army and Temple have also entered star gymnasts, while Chicago, Maryland, Princeton, and Indiana are expected to send only their top contestants.

The NCAA rule banning the rope climb from counting toward team scoring and the substitution of the long horse for this event will be contested before the tourney officials tomorrow morning, Wettstone reported last night. The Lion mentor felt confident that either the rope climb event would be included in the scoring or else the long horse would be eliminated.

The Illini acrobats captured the Big Ten crown this year and have proven victorious in four out of the five national tourneys since 1938. Minnesota placed a close second to Illinois in the midwest circuit this season.

Harold Zimmerman, Captain Charlie Senft, Sol Small, Charlie Warrington, and other Lion champs will have their hands full when they make their title bids tomorrow since seven of the events will be defended by last year's champions.
