Since WSGA Junior Service Board, the "baby" of WSGA, was established as an experiment three years ago, it has developed from a precocious infant into an energetic adolescent.

Started primarily to provide an activity for coeds possessing latent ability, the Board is now generally recognized as one of the most worthwhile campus groups. Junior Service Board members are the ones who do all the little duties so vital to the smooth functioning of WSGA.

They are the ones who compile activities points; they are the coeds who remember to visit transfers in downtown dorms; they are the only women who bother to give a party for coeds who commute. In other words, they do all the things which others always intended to do but never found time for.

Contrary to popular opinion, WSGA Junior Service Board is not an honorary. It has no national affiliations as do Cwens and Mortar Board. Because of its accomplishments, because of its prestige, to be named a member is undoubtedly an honor.

It is an honor because it indicates that the retiring Board and WSGA Senate believe the new members to possess dependability, thoughtfulness, and willingness to work hard.

Our hope is that this group will grow and expand until it becomes as definitely a part of this campus as the cow barns and Old Main tower.

Philotes, independent women's organization, will hold its annual formal banquet at the Hotel State College at 6 p. m. Monday. Mr. Paul R. Beall, instructor in public speaking, will speak.
