

Lions Down Hoyas 6-3 At Princeton For Fifth Victory

Playing against one of the toughest teams in the East, Georgetown University, Penn State's golf team kept its unbeaten record for the present season by handing the Hoyas a trouncing to the tune of 6 to 3 yesterday on the course at Princeton.

The Lion linksmen are still tops in the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association and are sure to enter the play-offs for the championship at the Woodway Country Club, in Springdale, Conn., if play-offs are necessary.

However, if the Lions continue the blazing streak they have been burning through collegiate golf circles, and defeat Princeton, whom they play this morning, and the University of Pennsylvania in the match this afternoon, they will be undisputed champs without a play-off.

Coach Rutherford's boys this year are predominantly inexperienced men, only two of them let-termen from last year's team. One other man on the squad played in one match last year. The remainder of the team is all new material.

Captain Chuck Seebold has been holding down the number one spot on the team with Bob Wallace as a companion. Dick Stephens, Bill Swan, Jim Kramer, and Dent Holden the other squadmen, have been turning in excellent accounts of themselves in the meets this year.

Ed Fairchild, who missed playing some of the first meets, because of a sprained ankle made the trip to Princeton as utility man, as also did Joe Brucher. Although Brucher is not on the squad, the coach said he had been turning in good scores, and took him along in case the strain of three meets in two days is too much for any of his boys.

The Nittany golfers face an even harder task today when they meet both Princeton and Penn. These schools both turn out good golf teams, and will provide plenty of stiff opposition. The Hoyas, beaten by State yesterday, have been turning in good scores, several of the men shooting 69's and 72's in their matches this year.

Eagles Sign Wear

Another Penn State athlete placed his name on the sports record book today with the signing of Bob Wear, Nittany gridman, by the Philadelphia Eagles, National League professional football team. The senior Lion center will not have to change his colors to play the pivot spot for Alexis Thompson's team, since the Eagles also wear the Blue and White.

Frosh Lacrosse Team Plays Final Contest

Penn State's freshman lacrosse team will play its final game of the season when it meets the Cornell frosh on New Beaver field at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Last week, the Cub stickmen bowed to Swarthmore, 8-2.

Coach Leo Houck's frosh diamond nine is in Syracuse, N. Y., today, for a match against the Little Orangemen. The yearling diamond squad defeated Cornell, 8-2, in the season's opener, and defeated Kiski Prep in an unscheduled fray.

Next week, the Little Lions have two home games carded. Bucknell will invade Wednesday and Saturday will find Kiski back for a return tilt.

Gown Return Deadline

Senior caps and gowns must be returned to the Athletic Store by 2 p. m. following graduation exercises in Rec Hall tomorrow it was announced by committee officials last night.

John Stover May Get Mound Assignment

Two home baseball games, which few students are expected to witness, are on the card for Joe Bedenk's minions at 2:30 this afternoon and Monday.

Both games will be tough, for Syracuse, this afternoon's opponent, boasts a strong aggregation which whipped the Lions 10-1 in the previous game this season, while Bucknell, Monday's foe, has an all-veteran infield.

Continuing their vacation contests, the Blue and White travels to the Smokey City to battle the Pitt Panther nine next Saturday.

On the firing line for the Bedenkmen will probably be John Stover on the mound, Oggie Martella behind the plate, Captain Bill Debler at first, Sophomore Ed Sebastianelli on the keystone base, Bill Sidler at the hot corner, and Whitey Thomas as shortstop. Patrolling the outfield will be Fran Farris, Bob Perugini, and either George McWilliams, Jack Burford, or Joe Piontek.

Syracuse has several strong hitters on the slate including the three fielders, McPhail, Glacken and Whitesell, and First Baseman Hess. Mallette is the hurler who fanned ten Lion batsmen in the last fray.

Besides a veteran infield, Bucknell Baseball Coach John Sitarsky has three good hurlers in the ranks, including two veterans, Phil Stamm and Stan Bearm and a freshman southpaw, Bill Brader.

The Bisons were originally scheduled to meet Penn State twice this season, but the June tilt was cancelled.

Courtmen Seek No. 5 Over Pittsburgh Today

Back at the .500 mark after their defeat at the hands of a strong University of Pennsylvania net squad, the Lion tennis team will shoot for its fifth win of the season against Pittsburgh on the latter's court at 2 p. m. today.

Despite their unimpressive record, the Nittanymen are favored to win over the Pitt squad whom they defeated last year by an 8-1 count.

Leading the Lions this afternoon will be Cy Hull at the leadoff position, Ace Parker at number two, Bill Lundelius, Captain Chuck Bowman, Johnny Knode and Herb Kraybill.

Sophomore Al Hender has been forced from the lineup by the recurrence of an old muscle injury, and is out for the remainder of the season.

Ewell On Edge As Track Squad Meets Panthers

Track-interested eyes will be turned intently toward the Pitt Stadium to see a struggle in one of the most bitter track rivalries in the country when the Nittany Lion faces Pitt's mighty Panther this afternoon in an all-out effort to avenge a 79 1-3-60 2-3 defeat suffered at the hands of the Pittmen last year.

Facing each other for the 28th time since the series between the two schools started in 1907, both teams will be doing their utmost to gain this year's title for a special reason—should the Pitt spike-men take today's meet the series would be even up, 14-14. The Nittany thinclads will certainly be striving to hold the lead they have established.

Twenty-two Nittany runners and field men left yesterday afternoon for the steel city, making up as well-rounded a team as has ever competed against the usually strong Pitt aggregation.

The big feature will be, of course, Barney Ewell's personal grudge battle against the highly-touted Pitt sprinters, Bill Carter and Hap Stickel. The two-year-old rivalry will come to an end with this meet, with Barney making his last effort to get back the glory taken from him when Carter won the century dash in the Penn Relays this year.

Reports from Coach Chick Werner after the teams' return from the relays showed that Barney was tired from competition in more events than it is possible for even as good an athlete as Barney is to handle with best results. Werner said yesterday that Barney would probably enter only three events because return to the team of five missing members now makes it a full-sized outfit.

Lost to the Panther, giving some advantage in the field department to the Nittany men, are Dusty Rhodes and Red Tessup, usually dependable for scoring big points in pole vault, and Jim Eliot, star javelin man. Called to the Army, they have missed some of the competition this year, but the Pitt team is, nevertheless, very strong.

can slice off its share of victory. Donning masks and protectors for Penn State will be Thomas I. Davenport, James L. Framo, Wellington J. Graul and Charles W. Helie.

Lacrossemen To Meet Hobart Ten

Special To The Collegian

GENEVA, N. Y., May 8—Penn State's lacrosse team arrived here today to meet the stick-wielders of Hobart College tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Nick Thiel, hoping for his second win this season, will place a strong Lion team on the field in an attempt to score an upset over the Hobart stickmen.

Captain Bill Zeigenfus, Tom Gotwals and Tom Mitchell, outstanding lacrossemen this year, will lead the Nittany offense.

In five games this season, the Lions have won only one, dropping the other four. The only victory scored by Penn State was against the Big Red team of Cornell. Matches with Navy, Syracuse, Maryland, and Swarthmore proved unfortunate.

Frosh Foilers Tackle Indiana State Teachers

The frosh fencing team will meet Indiana State Teachers varsity team at 2 o'clock in Rec Hall today.

Since the opposing team is stacking its varsity squad against the Penn State freshman, the match promises to be a hotly contested one. The Penn State foilers have had only one match since introduction of the sport into first-year athletic activity. However, the frosh team is confident that it
