For A Normal Semester

For the first time in the history of the College, a Summer intercollegiate athletic schedule has been prepared and was released late yesterday by Neil Fleming, graduate manager of athletics. A quick glance at the schedule shows that we will have eight baseball games, six golf matches, six tennis matches, one track meet, and three tentative lacrosse games.

Might we say that we were surprised and pleasantly so with the relatively extensive program. Fully aware of the difficulties in arranging such a schedule for the Summer semester, we would like to go on record as commending highly the athletic office and Neil Fleming for making possible this schedule. We all realize the value and importance of continuing intercollegiate athletics this Summer, but some of us may not realize just how difficult it was to make the necessary arrangements.

In the first place, few colleges, and especially nearby colleges were anxious to take part in such activity this Summer. Many schools that are carrying on regular Summer semesters either are lacking in interest or financial means necessary for a Summer program. Another problem of course is transportation. But even this will be overcome.

No More Pullmans

Naturally the corners have been cut all the way along. For instance, the baseball squad will meet Lock Haven Teachers College on a home and home basis. The golf team will meet the Center Hills Country Club twice, and the tennis team will meet the College faculty in one of its six encounters.

In all probability the teams will not travel in quite the style that has been the case during regular seasons. Teams may stay in dormitories instead of hotels. Local officials may be used. But despite all these really unessential niceties, Penn State intercollegiate competition will continue in a fairly normal manner. And after all that is what really matters. Incidentally, we were pleased to note that a Lion team will meet a Service squad for the first time this Summer, namely a tennis match with the Naval Reserve on June 27. More such matches in the future would be enthusiastically received, we are sure.

Cornell Comes Through

That Cornell track meet listed for July 4 at Ithaca will be more than one might think. To be sponsored by the Ithaca Junior Chamber of Commerce, four teams will take part in the cinder carnival, all the receipts of which will be used for Army-Navy relief. Special events on the program will be the 120 high hurdles, the quarter, half, and mile runs, the 880 yard relay, and a special 600 yard run.

1942 Sports Card

Penn State's Summer sports program, first in the College's history, will roll underway June 19 when the Nittany baseball squad meets Colgate's diamondmen at Hamilton, N. Y. The official Summer schedule, released yesterday by Neil Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, includes 24 athletic contests in baseball, tennis, golf, track and lacrosse. The Fall sports schedule also released last night, lists 32 contests. Following are the complete Summer and Fall athletic programs:

Bike Hike Initiates
Co-Recreational Program

Initiating WRA's calendar of co-recreational Summer sports activity will be a co-recreational bicycle breakfast hike to the WRA cabin at Shingletown Gap at 6:30 a. m. Sunday.

Sponsored by the WRA Outing Club, which is headed by Jean B. Ogden '45, the bike hike is the start of a Summer program to include men with women's sports activity. Men and women should sign up at Student Union by Saturday noon, and meet at the Miles Street bicycle shop Sunday morning. The group will return by 10 a. m. Sunday.

Rushing Code Change

There will be no silent period at the close of this year's official rush season; the IFC rushing committee chairman reminded fraternity members.

Thorman, Glenn
Elected Track
Manager, Captain

In elections held this week and at the track banquet several weeks ago Arthur R. Thorman '43 and John D. Glenn '43 were named track manager and captain respectively, Bernard A. Plasser, Athletic Association president, announced yesterday.

Associate managers named are Samuel P. Brown '43 and Edward J. Meyers '43. The new managerships are effective beginning with the IC4-A meet in New York this weekend and include, with those named, Wallace G. Murfit '44, Jack Hunter '44, and Howard S. Guttman '44 as first assistants.

With the manager announcement came also the names of letter winners from this year's squad. They are Captain Joseph Bakura, Norwood H. Ewell, Donald D. Dolbin, Herman Goffberg, Alexander L. Bourgerie, Orvis C. Krug, and James E. Hartman, manager, all of the class of '42.

Juniors winning letters were Norman W. Gordon, Plessler, Glenn, Saul Hanin, Leonard O. Frescoln, and Kenneth D. Schoonover. Sophomore letters went to Martin Schiff, McClain B. Smith, Edwin W. Miller, Curtis C. Stone, and H. Eugene Nevill.

Special awards were presented to five seniors: Harold L. Thiel, Robert W. Noll, William D. Huttinger, Elmer A. Gross, and Max S. Peters.

TRIPLE DEFENDER — Barney Ewell, Nittany speed merchant, will be defending his triple laurels when he tries to better the record of eight outdoor titles in the IC4-A meet in Triborough Stadium this weekend. He will lead 12 other Nittany spikesmen in an attempt to take the team title from a strong NYU team.

Lion Nine Aims
For Memorial Day
Game Against Pitt

Aiming to put their last game of the season on the winning side of the books, Penn State's baseball team went through a spirited practice yesterday afternoon. The Lions face a tough Pitt nine in a game against Pitt for Navy Relief here at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Joe Bedenk, coach of the Penn State squad had "nothing to say" as he drilled the Lions in preparation for the Memorial Day benefit on the New Beaver Field diamond. If weather postpones the match, tickets will be honored at a Cornell game July 18.

Slated for the mound post is Warren Pyer, sophomore right-hander, while Johnny Stover will be ready for relief chores. Ed Tuleya, who was an almost constant starting hurler at the outset of the season, has taken an outfield post in favor of underclassmen. Eddie also suffered a leg injury which kept him off the pitcher's slab.

Leading the Blue and White aggregation into the fracas will be Captain Bill Debler, stalwart of the Lion nine. Debler's hitting has improved a great deal since the beginning of the schedule and his first base play is almost flawless.

Taking care of the keystone base will be another sophomore, Eddie Sebastianelli, who starred with Leo Houck's frosh nine last year. Either Sparky Brown, ace base runner, or Bill Sidler will take up third base duties, and Whitey Thomas will be stationed at short stop.

Lions May Play Camp
Lee Teams At Richmond

Officials at Camp Lee, Va., requested last week that Penn State's next football and basketball squads meet Camp Lee teams in exhibition games near Richmond, Va.

Action will be taken on the request at the next meeting of the Athletic Advisory Board. Penn State's basketball team is already scheduled to meet the Camp Lee basketballers at Rec Hall during the next court season.

Lion Team Set For IC4-A Meet
With Ewell Defending 3 Titles

With qualification trials for the IC4-A Intercollegiate set for tomorrow afternoon, the Nittany Lion's chances are growing by the day as the team rounds back into mid-season form.

Completed yesterday by the return of Captain Joe Bakura to the Beaver Field practice grounds, the team is now ready to tackle its foes, the greatest track men in the country in the Randall's Island stadium.

Records and titles will be at stake and heartily defended by the former titlists who are still eligible for competition this year. Vieing strongly for the team title will be the Violet of NYU and the Nittany Lion, both holders of IC4-A team titles. NYU holds the outdoor title won in New York last Spring.

Despite the fact that experts believe the Violet to be State's strongest opponent, Coach Chick

Werner insists that several stronger teams will be in the running for the team honors. The teams he will be watching for are the "dark horse" Dartmouth and Yale outfits which placed eighth and nineteenth respectively in last year's intercollegiate meet.

Entries from these colleges which are fairly close to New York City and the city teams will be large and a big factor in minor point-gaining, always a help toward winning the meet. Penn State and other colleges will be limited in entry numbers by their distance from the site of the meet.

Two factors in deciding the outcome of the meet will be the leaders of the two favored teams, NYU's Les MacMitchell and Lion Barney Ewell. Both will be defending titles, MacMitchell in the mile and half-mile and Ewell in the sprints and broad jump.

On these two stars, both teams will base their bids for the title. Ewell, trying for a triple on a triple, will be trying to break the meet record of eight titles established over 40 years ago.

Other title defenders, out to retain the lead they have set up for themselves, are Jack Campbell, Fordham, in the 440, Al Blozis, Georgetown in the shot put and discus, Warren Broemel, Columbia, pole vault, Harold Stickel, Pitt, low hurdles, Bob Nichols, Rhode Island State, two-mile.

This fast field and veterans State has tackled in dual meets this season, Bill Carter, Pitt, and Lynn Radcliffe, Syracuse, always thorns in the Lion's side will make the job of the Nittany spikesmen one of the toughest they have ever tried to handle.

PSGA Employment Bureau
Calls For Applicants

Men students who wish to secure part-time jobs should call at the Christian Association office, 304 Old Main, and fill out application blanks.

Students who registered during the Spring semester, and who are still available for employment, should stop at the office and fill out their Summer semester schedule.

Although the student applicant is not assured of work, the Association Employment Bureau expects that they will have a number of odd jobs available during the Summer months.
