OF THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

VOL. 39—No. 8

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 5, STATE COLLEGE, PA.

PRICE: THREE CENTS

REPLACED—Harold L. Zimmerman, sophomore class president, and William T. Richards, senior class historian, both of whom did not return for the Summer semester, will forfeit their positions if action by All-College Elections Committee last night is sanctioned by All-College Cabinet.

Committee Sets Frosh Elections For October; McWilliams '44 Head

So that freshmen entering in September may have representation in their class government, All-College Elections Committee decided to conduct elections for the Class of '46 sometime in October. Other discussion at last night's meeting concerned the replacement of class officers not attending the Summer semester and the proposed Student Government Training School.

Freshman elections will be held soon after September 7 when the Fall semester begins. The officers named then will serve until January when the officers elected at All-College Elections, tentatively set for November 17, 18, and 19, will assume office.

Since the September entering group is expected to equal or pass the June enrollment, the committee felt that it would be unfair to eliminate them completely from the voting. Thus it was decided to postpone the elections until all freshmen were present even though it meant a shorter term for the class officers.

George C. McWilliams, elected junior class vice-president, will continue to serve as president in place of Harold L. Zimmerman, who is not in school for the Summer semester. McWilliams will serve for Zimmerman's complete term.

The committee recommended

May Sets Record For Rainy Weather

After giving out with the driest month of April in 27 years—only 1.63 inches of rain fell during the 30-day period—Ole Man Weather followed through with a complete change of pace to add a record-breaking wet month of May.

According to Prof. Hans Neuberger, College meteorologist—State College had 6.55 inches of rain during May—more than two and one-half inches above normal, and the heaviest rainfall recorded for the month since 1933.

Most of the total was recorded during the first half of May, when an unprecedented heavy rainfall blanketed the eastern seaboard, rendering hundreds homeless, disrupting traffic, and causing property damage amounting into millions of dollars in Pennsylvania alone.

Nine thunderstorms in this area have been recorded since May 1, with an additional eight days of fog adding to the unseasonable conditions. Thirteen days of rain were also recorded during the month—almost half the total.

Highest temperature of the month according to Neuberger was a scorching 92 degrees registered Friday, May 1. A low of 42 degrees was recorded several times during the month.

Collegian Board Meeting

Compulsory meeting for all members of both editorial and business staffs will be held in Room 8 Carnegie Hall at 7:30 p. m. The meeting will not last longer than 8:15 p. m.

250 Will Register For Inter-Session With Freshman Class

In addition to more than 600 freshmen expected to arrive here this weekend, approximately 250 inter-session students will register in the first floor lounge, Old Main, Monday.

Registration for freshmen is scheduled from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., but inter-session registration will have to be completed before noon, in most cases, since classes start at 1 p. m. Monday. Freshmen begin at 8 a. m. Tuesday.

Total enrollment next week will reach 4,250, but with the coming of 1,500 students for the main session from June 29 to August 7, student population will probably mount to 5,500.

Featuring the three-week inter-session will be two events from June 22 to June 26. A Dance Symposium will cover early American and modern social dancing, and the Institute on Professional Training for Clinical Psychologists will convene, with several famous psychologists participating.

Post-session will be conducted from August 10 to August 28 when the Summer semester ends.

IFC Head Warns Fraternity Daters

A special warning was issued to fraternity daters last night, as Penn State's 47 social fraternities swung into their first Summer semester membership drive in College history.

M. William Lundelius '43, Interfraternity Council president, called special attention to section eight of official rushing regulations, providing that women shall not be used in rushing.

The section of the rule that should be watched most closely, according to Lundelius, is the one which states that "women shall not be present in fraternity houses at any time rushees are present."

"Although rushing is not yet in high gear," Lundelius stated, "fraternity men are strictly prohibited from bringing their 'dates' to

Board Chairman Names Montz, Norman, Trustees

Harry W. Montz, of Wilkes-Barre, and George M. Norman, of Fairville, were named to the College Board of Trustees today by Col. J. Franklin Shields, president of the Board.

The new members will fill the unexpired terms of Boyd A. Musser, Scranton, who died on May 27, and John G. White, New York City, who died Tuesday. The terms of the deceased members were to expire on June 30.

A graduate of Penn State in the class of 1907, Mr. Montz has had two sons also graduate from the College. W. Curtis Montz was a member of the class of 1933 and Robert W. Montz received his diploma last month. The elder Montz was awarded the technical degree of engineer of mines from Penn State in 1933 during the graduation ceremonies of his son.

Chief mining engineer for the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., Mr. Montz has always been active in community affairs as well as in those relating to his alma mater. He is past-president of the Penn State Alumni Association and served for many years on the executive board.

In Wilkes-Barre, the new trustee is past-president of the Rotary Club, a member of the Irem Shrine, and former trustee of the Mining and Mechanical School at Freeland, an endowed school for boys of the anthracite region. He is also former president of the Alpha Delta Association of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

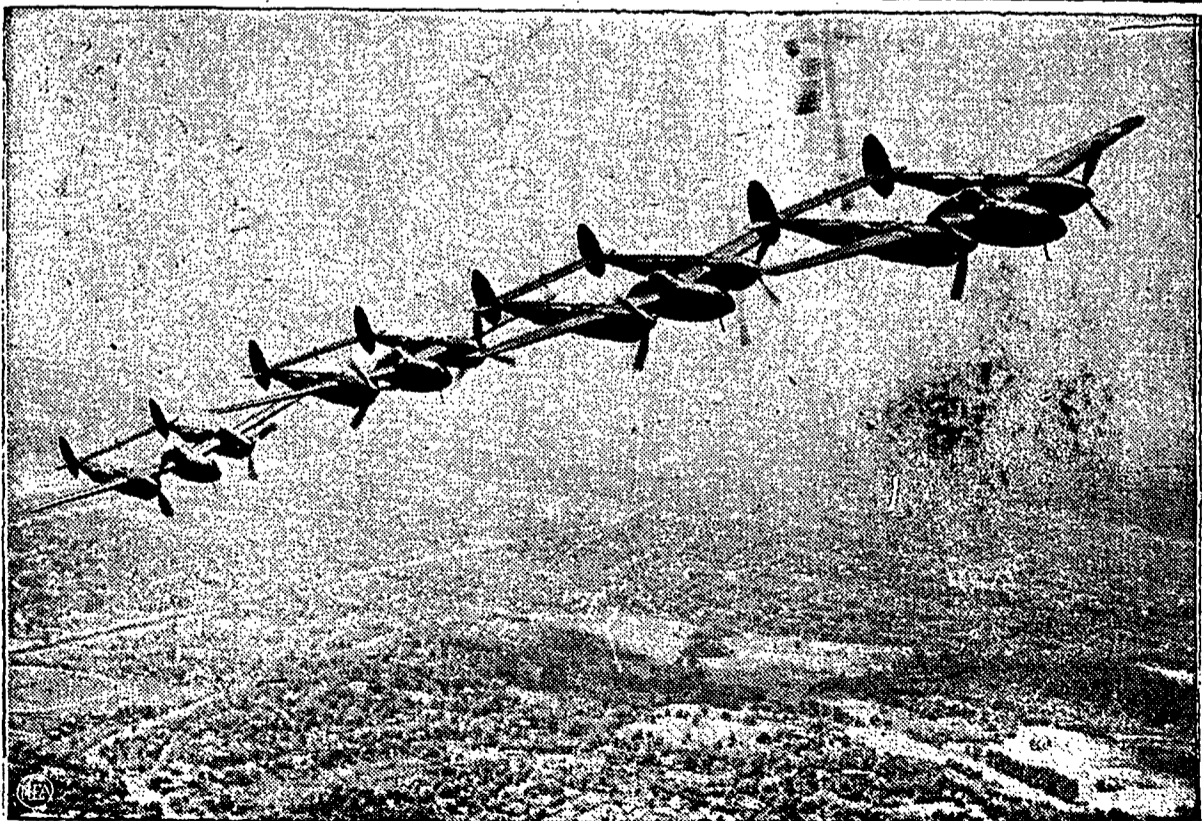

Now director of the Hercules Powder Company, Mr. Norman was graduated from Penn State in 1899 after preparing at the Bloomsburg Normal School. He has had a distinguished career as an industrialist.

Employed by the Illinois Steel Co. and the General Chemical Co. after his graduation from Penn State, Mr. Norman was engaged in graduate work at the University of Wisconsin in 1904 and 1905.
