

Between The Lions

With DON DAVIS

Football Hot Bed

Speaking of football, the University of North Carolina is rapidly becoming a hotbed for former Lion grid greats. Danny DeMarino '38, who left for his final physical as a V-5 physical instructor, expects to be stationed there along with Charlie Speidel. Also serving there on the physical fitness staff are Sammy Donato and Johnny Economos, co-captains in '38; Harry Harrison, halfback flash; and Frank "Red" O'Hara, quarterback in '37.

Here's Your Chance

The Woman's Recreational Association has planned for this Saturday an extensive co-recreation program. Just such a program as has often been requested by both men and women students. The schedule of events includes golf, tennis, archery, badminton, baseball, mushball, volley ball, and shuffleboard. If men students are in favor of such programs this Saturday's program should be well attended since it is to be a test to find out just how much interest there is in such projects. Any men interested should sign up at Rec Hall or Student Union by 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Eligibility Musings

Now that action has been taken to make the Summer sports schedule merely a continuation of the Spring season, we would like to pose one more question of eligibility brought up by the accelerated program. Namely, the using of freshmen on the varsity squad next fall.

At first thought the reaction to this is that it would be too tough on a player to go directly from high school to varsity college ball. Yet, according to Coach Bob Higgins, if such a plan were put into use, the freshmen would be used only sparingly as reserves. It would really be no harder on them than freshman ball, he said. However, the "Hig" would not favor such a move unless the varsity squad is so depleted through the draft, etc., as to make it necessary.

Far from unheard of, this system is to be employed at many colleges scheduled to meet the Lions this Fall, including Penn, Cornell, Syracuse, and Colgate. We are not definitely advocating the use of freshmen for the varsity as yet. At least not until the actual strength of the varsity is known. But if such a move should be necessary, we merely suggest that there would be nothing startling or especially upsetting about it.

Stephens, Swan, Smiley, Fairchild, And McCoy Head Lion Linksmen

Five men are sure of berths on the Nittany golf team when Penn State meets Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y., this weekend. Coach Rutherford announced last night that Dick Stephens, Bill "Ducky" Swan, Bill Smiley, Ed Fairchild, and Willis McCoy will be on the team making the trip.

Jack Dorrance, Stew Burns, and Jim McCormick played last night for the remaining position on the starting line-up and the extra man job with McCormick and Burns winning out.

Coach Rutherford just completed his 21st season with the Nittany Lion golfers, and it was one of the best in years. The Lions won the Middle Atlantic Division title for the EIGA, and played Yale for the championship.

However, the two veterans, Co-captains Stephens and Swan, should spark the team. Fairchild and Smiley saw some action last season and are not green players in intercollegiate competition. McCormick and Burns, however, will be facing competition for the first time.

Billy Soose, Lion 155-Pound EIBA Champ In 1937 Weds In East Greenville; Now In Naval Reserve

Billy Soose, ex-middleweight boxing champ and a sophomore sensation on the 1937 Lion boxing team when he won the 155-pound EIBA crown, was married Sunday in East Greenville to Miss Peggy Unger, who was graduated this month from Smith College.

Now enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve, Soose is working with Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champ, in the physical fitness division.

Declared ineligible for inter-college competition at the beginning of his junior year, Soose left school to turn professional. During his four-year pro campaign he scored ten straight victories before he lost a questioned decision to Johnny Duca.

Billy climaxed his career in a long awaited title bout with Ken Overlin, the middleweight champ, from whom he won the title last year. Some of his other outstanding victories were two wins over Ernie Vigh and a victory over Tony Zale, also the recognized middleweight champ at one time.

Blackout Preparations

Students living in rooming houses and apartments will have to depend on the proprietors or their own efforts. Blackout shades can be bought cheaply, or other material may be substituted.

Col. A. C. Marts, executive director of the State Council of Defense, declared that blacking out does not mean to turn out all the lights in the home and cease normal living habits.

"The way to blackout," he said, "is to shield or cover all windows in at least one room so that a minimum amount of light may be burned in that room but will not be seen outside or by enemy planes."

Corps (civilian); Richard V. Wall, continuation of leave with State Council of Defense; Elizabeth C. Bell, to continue with the Office of Emergency Management; and Eugene T. McDonald, to continue to serve as superintendent of speech education for Clinton and Centre counties.

Alpha Chi Rho Elects

Philip P. Mitchell '44 was elected president of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity at an election held Sunday evening.

16 Baseball Players, Half Sophomores, Leave For Colgate Ewell Leg Injury Improved; May Run Saturday

Penn State's baseball team will leave at noon today for Hamilton, N. Y., where the Nittany Lions meet Colgate University for the third and fourth times this season. The Blue and White diamondmen will return near midnight Saturday.

On two other occasions the Penn State nine split with the New York State lads, losing the away game and defeating the Red Raiders when they visited here.

Half of the team which Coach Joe Bedenk will take on the trip are sophomores, including three of the six pitchers. Warren Pyer will probably hurl Friday's tilt, but the moundman for the Saturday fray is a big question.

Helping out the Lions in the outfield will be Bob Perugini who has just completed his practice teaching period.

Making the trip will be Warren "Whitey" Pyer, Bob Bolger, Joe Golembeski, Mike Wardrop, Harry Boyuka, Sparky Brown, pitchers; George McWilliams, Sandy Bittings, catchers; Jack Weber, first baseman; Dale Bower, Bill Sidler, second base; Whitey Thomas, shortstop; Gene Sutherland, Don Sandercock, third base; and outfielders Ed Tuleya, Bob Perugini, and Jack Bennett.

Bill Debler, captain of the baseballers, who remained on the eligible list when it was decided the Summer schedule would be a continuation of regular season, will not be able to make the trip as a result of a recent foot ailment which confined him to the infirmary earlier in the week.

Alpha Chi Sigma Tops Alpha Chi Rho, 11-5

Only one game in the fraternity league of MM mushball was played last night, when the other teams failed to show up for their scheduled matches.

The lone contest found Alpha Chi Sigma, last year's winners and defending champs, coming out on the long end of a 11 to 5 score over Alpha Chi Rho. Jacoby, pitching for the titleholders, had a no-hitter until the 6th frame of the 7-inning game, when the underdogs pushed across their first tallies.

Score by innings:

ASC	341	300	0-11 13 0
ACR	000	004	1-5 5 0

Seavy, Gunning and Breisch were the heavy hitters for the victors.

Tomorrow's schedule follows:

Fraternity League

5 p. m.

TKE vs. Alpha Phi Delta

DU vs. Alpha Sigma Phi

Beta Theta Pi vs. Beaver House

Delta Sigma Phi vs. Sigma Phi Alpha

Independent League

7 p. m.

Watts Hall vs. Irvin Hall

Canal St. Firehouse vs. Electric Diner

Jordan Hall vs. Penn State Club

Miller Club vs. Matills

The games scheduled for Wednesday which were not played will be run off at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, John Silan '43, co-manager, announced.
