A New Awning

On walking by the Corner yesterday we noticed that something new had been added across the way. Yes, a bright new orange and green striped awning adorns the front of Grahams on which is printed in bold letters "Graham's A. C." Of a curious nature we dropped in to find out just why and when this smoke shop was dubbed as an Athletic Club.

Hanging by the back stairway we discovered a framed shingle declaring "To All Those Interested, We The Undersigned Are Charter Members of Graham's Athletic Club." And in scrawling signatures were listed the following, as typical a group of A. C. boys as could be found: Maynard Wood, Froth Editor; George Lashish, football captain; S. W. Saville, lacrosse manager; David Long, football halfback; Will Stemple, a short fellow who thought he could play ball; C. J. Wetzel, the boy that always wore tennis shoes and never had any money except after a crap game; and George "Sugar" Manukas, the coed's delight who never got a date.

Through the years it has been a real honor to be one of the "in group" on the "bench." Reserved usually for letter men and coaches, Grahams is the place to find out the inside dope on an approaching boxing meet or to hear just what was right and what was wrong with the ball game played that day. For those who like to hash and rehash their sports, this leafing spot has become one of Penn State's athletics institutions. Incidentally the Club recently passed its 10th anniversary. It was founded May 30, 1932.

'More Engineers Needed'—Dean

Diversion of the nation's supply of engineers to non-technical branches of the armed forces should be halted at once, Dr. H. P. Hammond, dean of the School of Engineering, stated in an interview yesterday.

The flow of engineers from technical to non-technical military jobs should be reversed immediately, Dean Hammond said. "Every engineer serving in non-engineering military positions should be sought out and ordered to civilian or military engineering jobs."

Claiming that drastic measures should be taken by the government Dean Hammond pointed out that the shortage of engineers is acute, and may be a bottleneck in the whole war effort.

He reported that the War Production Board has estimated that 70,000 qualified engineers "who are not now practicing" will be needed by war industries before the close of this year.

In addition, he said, the Civil Service has estimated that 40,000 more engineers, aides, and inspectors will be needed for civilian posts before June 30, 1943.

Complete requirements of the armed forces are not known, but are certain to be large, according to the Engineering School head. The Army Signal Corps, for example, needs two thousand radio engineers immediately, and will require many more as the army is expanded to 6,000,000 men.

Glenn To Enter AAU Meet Today

With Barney Ewell scratched from the National AAU roster for the meet, Captain-elect Johnny Glenn will carry the Lion banner alone into that fray this afternoon.

Glenn, the Lions' big gun high jumper, will be rated as some what of a dark horse because of the uncertainty of his condition this season. He has been out of competition since before the Penn Relays meet with a sprained ankle suffered during a physical education contest just before the meet.

Glenn left yesterday with Coach Chick Werner. Werner was driving as far as Lancaster yesterday and was undecided whether he would go on to the meet. Glenn was to have proceeded to New York, though, to prepare for entry in the high jump in the Triborough Stadium meet this afternoon.

The last actual competition in which Glenn took part was at the end of the indoor season just before he injured his ankle. The last meet of that season was the IC4-A's in which he tied for third place with a jump of 6 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Notables in the high jump today will be Richmond Morcom, New Hampshire, and Adam Berry, Southern California. They will be the big competition against which Glenn will have to fight.

Phys-Ed School To Give Square Dancing Course

A course in square dancing for teachers and community leaders will be held under sponsorship of the School of Physical Education and Athletics from June 22 to June 26.

Instruction will be under the direction of Albert E. Haynes, of Sumbury, Mass., who will give similar courses at Harvard this Summer. Faculty members of the Phys-Ed School will serve as assistant instructors.

Students are permitted to enroll in the course, but will be required to pay the $6 fee, according to Miss Marie Haidt, associate professor of physical education.

Paul Waner Registers 3000th Major League Hit, Boston Teammates Lose 7-6 To Pirates

Yesterday was a day of hits in the major league ball parks of the nation as eight teams banded out a total of 109 hits in an afternoon's schedule of five games.

Another hit angle registered in the big leagues was that of Paul Waner's. The Boston right fielder knocked out a single in the fifth inning of the Brave-Pirate tussle to add one run to his RBI total and chalk up his 3000th major league bingle.

Despite the fact that Waner's teammates sailed into Lefty Lloyd Dietz for 16 hits, Casey Stengel's club came out on the short end of the score with the Buccos winning 7-6 in 11 innings.

Meanwhile Brooklyn's Burns picked up a game on the second place St. Louis Cards by whipping Ernie White, Redbird southpaw, 4-3. Both teams had eight hits. Whit Wyatt was the winning pitcher for the league leaders, who pulled six and a half games ahead of Billy Southworth's club.

Chicago's Cubs and the New York Giants hooked up in a doubleheader yesterday and came out of it all even with the Ottmen winning the second game, 6-5, with 14 hits, after losing the first one, 7-4. Chicago had 13 hits to the Giant's 12 to win out over Dave Koslo, second-year Giant hurler.

Detroit pounded out a 5-1 victory over the Washington Senators, despite two errors turned in by the Tiger infield. This was the only game in the American League.

Nittany Golfers Open First Summer Schedule Against Colgate Today

Nittany Lion golfers are playing the first match in the Summer schedule at Colgate today where they will take on the Red Raiders.

Co-Captains Dick Stephens and Bill "Ducky" Swan are leading the linksmen in this first battle of the season. Two other team members, Bill Smiley and Ed Fairchild, are seasoned players, having faced intercollegiate competition during the Spring meets.

Jim McCormick, Willis McCay, and Stu Burns are the new additions to the squad. Coach Rutherford said before leaving that although he didn't know much about the opposition his boys would be up against this trip, he expected them to take care of themselves rather well.

Commenting on the Summer meets, Rutherford said he liked the idea, and that it would give the boys some excellent training for the regular season next Spring. The only difficulty, he added, is the problem of finding a means of travel.

Penn State Club Sponsors Picnic Hike

Penn State Club will hold a hike and picnic at the American Legion Cabin tomorrow afternoon, John C. York '43, club president, announced last night.

Members may attend with or without dates. There will be no charge for the event.

Two Faculty Members Win Research Medals

Two faculty members from the School of Mineral Industries have been awarded the Charles B. Dudley medal of the American Society for Testing Materials.

Dr. A. W. Gauger, director of mineral industries research, and Dr. Francis C. Todd, assistant professor of petroleum and natural gas engineering, won the award for a paper on "Studies on the Measurement of Water Vapor in Gases."

6 Fraternities, 1 Independent Team Advance In IM Mushball Tilts

High scores were recorded by six winning Fraternity league teams and one Independent league team in last night's scheduled intramural mushball tilts.

IRVIN HALL VS. WATTS HALL

In the lone Independent match, Irvin Hall managed to squeeze home a run in the final inning to edge out Watts Hall, 17 to 16. Tied going into the seventh frame, Grimes scored to break the deadlock for the victors.

Irvin Hall 662 020 1—17
Watts Hall 335 301 1—16
Winning pitcher—McNeely.
Losing pitcher—Lovell.
Home runs—Edson, McMinn, Irvin; White, Watts.

SIGMA NU VS. SIGMA PHI ALPHA

Behind the superior pitching of Mattern and the slugging of Maseth, Sigma Nu rode rough-shod over Sigma Phi Alpha, 28 to 7. Pratt and Cahee were the big guns for the losers. Folwell was the losing pitcher. Gales, umpire.
Sigma Nu 5410 630 0—28
SPA 320 200 0—7

GAMMA SIGMA PHI VS. KAPPA DELTA RHO

In the first of their two games played last night, Gamma Sigma Phi shut out Kappa Delta Rho, 9 to 0. Perloff was the victorious hurler.

GAMMA SIGMA PHI VS. ALPHA PHI DELTA

Having won their first game, Gamma Sigma Phi was not so fortunate in the second as Alpha Phi Delta took their measure, 26 to 7. Tony DeCillis was perhaps the outstanding star of the day as he clouted two homers with bases loaded each time.

Alpha Phi Delta .. 526 661 0—26
Gamma Sigma Phi 004 120 0—7
Winning pitcher—Scicchitano.
Losing pitcher—Perloff.

PHI KAPPA PSI VS. THETA CHI

In a closely contested game not decided until the sixth inning, Phi Kappa Psi chalked up three runs to top Theta Chi, 12 to 9. Elliot, Ervin, Walker, and Minnich together slugged a total of 10 runs for the Phi Psi's. VanLenten and Hellie kept the losers in the game right up to the end.

Phi Kappa Psi ... 400 206 0—12
Theta Chi 015 002 1—9
Winning pitcher—Walker.
Losing pitcher—Goss.
Umpire—Gales.

PHI KAPPA SIGMA VS. DELTA CHI

With a score more indicative of a real baseball game, Phi Kappa Sigma limited Delta Chi to three runs to come out on the long end, 4 to 3. In spite of Bates' nine strikeouts for Delta Chi, the losers were never able to overcome the one-point margin gained in the third inning. Osbourne, pitching for the Phi Kap's, allowed the Delta Chis only seven well-scattered hits.

Phi Kappa Sigma .. 022 000 0—4
Delta Chi 010 100 1—3
Home runs—Briner, Lunt, Delta Chi.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA VS. SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

The final game of the evening saw Phi Sigma Kappa trounce Sigma Alpha Epsilon to the tune of 25 to 16. Arnold was the winning pitcher. Stambaugh pitched for the SAE's.

Today's schedule follows:

FRATERNITY LEAGUE

2:30 p. m.

Pi Lambda Phi vs. Alpha Phi Delta
Beta Theta Pi vs. Alpha Chi Sigma
Beta Eigma Rho vs. Phi Kappa Sigma
Delta Sigma Phi vs. Sigma Phi Alpha

Tennis Squad Meets Colgate's Red Raiders

Penn State's varsity tennis team meets a powerful University of Colgate squad on the latter's courts at 2:30 p. m. today, in their first game of the "extended" Spring schedule.

With only two men in the lineup having varsity experience, the power of the Lion team remains a question mark, and the outcome of the match will depend largely upon the four inexperienced sophomores who will start this afternoon.

Cy Hull will start at the number one spot for the Blue and White, and Herb Kraybill, the other regular back from last season, will start either at number two or three position.
