

V-Weekend Gets National Publicity; 2 Name Bands Being Considered

Cast For Variety Show Almost Complete

Enlarging the scope of Penn State's Victory Weekend for Army and Navy Relief, the executive committee for the all-out holiday announced plans last night for publicity on a national scale.

Spreading knowledge of the College's action, the executive group felt, might cause other colleges to follow Penn State's lead in staging war relief benefits on a mass-production scale.

To head the special committee handling national publicity, Donald W. Davis Jr. '43, publicity chairman of the Weekend, appointed Herbert J. Zukauskas '43. Zukauskas will choose the committee members who will work with him in contacting newsreels, radio stations, and national magazines.

The choice of a big-name band for V-Weekend, meanwhile, has been narrowed still further, with the announcement by Les Hetenyi '43, dance committee head, that Jan Savitt's band will not be available for August 31.

Choice of the "big weekend's" band is now limited to two top-raters—Charlie Spivak and Harry James. Committee members believe that a slight chance of signing Benny Goodman also remains.

Most of the participants in the Glee Club-Thespians variety show, to be presented both Friday and Saturday nights of the celebration, have already been cast, according to Donald Russel '43, production manager of the show. "Tops" in Penn State talent is promised for the production. Cast members and plans for the show will be announced next week, according to Russel.

Other plans for Penn State's biggest social weekend include an All-College intramural meet, the traditional frosh-soph tug of war, and "something different" in entertainment as a surprise climax for Saturday evening.

Summer session this year is sponsoring one of its most active programs in the history of the College. In the past, the Summer Collegian, a weekly publication, covered the activities of the graduate students.

For the first time, a daily paper, The Daily Collegian, will serve both the Summer session students and the full-time student body. Competent reporters have been assigned to keep students informed of the many events scheduled this Summer, including up-to-date information on tournaments.

Freshman candidates for The Collegian will sell six-weeks Summer session subscriptions for $1 at Rec Hall registration during their periods and at campus stations during free periods. The paper will be delivered five mornings per week from Tuesday through Saturday.

Combined assembly meetings and student sings on Monday nights throughout the session, the Latin-America lecture series, concerts by the Band School, as well as other Summer session events, will be covered.

Subscriptions can also be bought in the Collegian office on the south side ground floor of Carnegie Hall, where subscriptions will be turned in daily by freshmen solicitors.

'Little Foxes' Tryouts For Session Students Set For Monday Night

Summer session students will have their only chance to try out for a Players' production of "The Little Foxes" in room 405 Old Main from 7 to 9 p. m. tomorrow and Monday nights, Lawrence E. Tucker, director, announced last night.

One of two major campus presentations for the Summer semester, "The Little Foxes" will be given the week of July 2, probably on the Wednesday night of that week. The other Players' show, "The Rivals," now in production, is scheduled for July 10 and 11, Soph Hop weekend.

In the cast of the recent Broadway and Hollywood hit are parts for six men and four women. There are also good parts for a Negro woman and a Negro man. The part of Regina Giddens, made outstanding by Tallulah Bankhead on the stage and Bette Davis in the movies, is by far the best part in the play.

Written by Lillian Hellman, author of "Watch On The Rhine," and "The Children's Hour," the play is laid in the deep South of the period about 1900. The other important characters are, Ben Hubbard, King of the clan if Regina is the Queen; Oscar Hubbard, the cruel, self-centered tool of Ben.

Since the show will be cast Tuesday and start right in with rehearsals, Mr. Tucker requested that all Summer session students should sign up at Student Union sometimes Monday to make sure of a reading that night. Tryouts Sunday night, however, do not necessitate signing up in advance.

Readings will last from 7 to 9 p. m. Sunday, and from 7 to 10 p. m. Monday. The tryouts are limited to Summer session students only.

Penn State Club Dance Classes To Start Thursday

Future jitterbugs and waltzers will start practice sessions next Thursday evening when the Penn State Club gets its All-College dancing classes under way, Kenneth D. Bair '43, chairman, announced last night.

Originally scheduled to start Tuesday evening, classes will not begin until Thursday because of draft registration on Tuesday. Beginners will have able instruction in all types of dancing.

Interested persons may purchase dancing class tickets at Student Union or the Penn State clubroom, 321 Old Main, for $2.50.

Other members comprising the dancing class committee are Harry C. Coleman '44, Thomas E. Wilcox '44 and John C. York '43.

The need for crop cultivation in Switzerland has necessitated a reduction in livestock, according to the Department of Commerce.
