

Frosh To Elect Two Delegates

To choose a WSGA senator and WRA representative, freshman women will meet in 110 Home Economics Building at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Nominated last week for freshman senator were Carol G. Blass, Laura Jean Davis, Mary E. Fleming, Elizabeth J. Funkhouser, and Helen J. Martin; for WRA representative, Yvette J. Bermak, Dorcas E. Newcomer, Elizabeth E. Pike, and Charlotte M. Taylor.

Patricia Diener, sophomore senator in charge of WSGA elections, announced that the meeting is compulsory for all freshman women. Penalty for absence from the meeting will be the removal of an 11 o'clock.

Campus women desiring to be excused from the meeting will submit reasons to their dormitory checkers, while town women will apply at the dean of women's office.

Freshman senator will take over her duties immediately. She will attend her first WSGA Senate meeting in the WSGA Room, White Hall, at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Supervising WRA election will be Julia H. MacFarland, sophomore WRA representative. Miss MacFarland announced that the new representative will serve on WRA Executive Board.

Bike Hike Planned For New Students

First in a series of six bicycle hikes in the recreation program for Summer session students will be held at 7 p. m. tomorrow, announced Miss Marie Haidt, associate professor of physical education, and Earle L. Edwards, instructor of physical education, co-chairmen of the program.

With a limited supply of bicycles available, only the first 25 or 30 who meet at 112 Miles street by 7 p. m. will be able to go on the two-hour ride under the direction of Arthur F. Davis, associate professor of physical education, Miss Haidt stated.

WRA has changed dates and combined activities to sponsor another Co-Recreation weekend July 24 to 26. Activities will include golf, tennis, weiner roast, and bicycle supper hike, Adele J. Levin '44, WRA activities chairman, announced.

Enlisted Service

(Continued from Page One) believes that under present conditions a substantial number of college students should remain in school until they graduate, it is highly unlikely that the Secretary of War will call them unless the necessity of war demands it, the Colonel said.

Included in the plan will be the provision retaining necessary students from the selected quota for advanced study, research, and faculty replacement for colleges.

So far as he has been advised, Colonel Ardery states that the selection of students between 18 and 45 will be made upon the basis of scholastic ability, physical condition, and if they have qualifications for entrance into the Officer Candidate School.

We, The Women How About Lifting A Few Faces?

A few Summer meanderings around campus seem appropriate with a view to a needed bit of face lifting here and there.

First of all, is there a priority on paint, or is it just that things like waste baskets aren't considered part of the scenery?

We've noticed particularly the contrast between the new well-kept lawns around Carnegie Hall and the rust encrusted refuse can that stands guard by the walk. It may be a relic of Penn State's past, but it certainly detracts from the scenery. A coat or two of paint would fix things up.

With daylight lingering till 9:30 these nights—when it doesn't rain—Old Main tower would be an excellent place for sightseers, as well as students who wish to while away a little time. Only it closes at 6 p. m. Is there any reason why it might not be kept open a few extra hours? The view from the tower is one of the most beautiful around here, and certainly worth showing off to visitors.

Some time ago there was talk of providing a place to house bicycles, now that cars are practically a thing of the past. So far, we've seen no signs of racks in dormitories or dotting the campus. We wonder if anything is going to be done about it. Or are the wheels of progress going in low gear?

Along the same line, bathing suits are being used exclusively for sun bathing these days by many students. It seems as though they will serve only that purpose for the rest of the Summer unless that proposed bus to Whipple's Dam becomes a reality.

Since when has the Mineral Industries Building become a center of musical interest? There seems to be a Steinway piano hiding among the rocks and dinosaur remains that might be put to better use in Carnegie Hall.

PSCA Calls Meeting Of Freshman Forum

There will be a PSCA Freshman Forum meeting in the Hugh Beaver Room in Old Main at 7 o'clock tonight following election of Freshman senator and WRA representative.

Chairmen and vice-chairmen of worship, program, music, social, publicity, and service committees will be introduced. The program includes skits presented by the various committees exemplifying their work.

Deans Ask Greeks To Set Examples

Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray and her assistants, Miss Nina M. Bentley, Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, and Miss Ruth H. Zang, visited sorority houses and suites last night and presented informal talks to sorority women, according to Miss Zang.

"Since sorority women work in groups, they should set examples for women enrolled in the College by enrolling in Defense Courses and making profitable use of leisure time," Miss Zang stated. "Only in that way can they cooperate with their school and their country," she added.

Education Honorary Will Sponsor Forum

Pi Lambda Theta, women's national education honorary, will initiate its Summer program with a panel discussion in southwest lounge Atherton Hall at 8 p. m. tomorrow. "How Can We, As Students and Faculty, Help Further the Good Neighbor Policy?" is the discussion subject.

Panel speakers are Dr. Henry J. Bruman and Mary J. Wyland, College-faculty members; Jesse G. Haven, principal of Nittany avenue school; John J. Serff, town high school faculty member; and Sara M. Bailey '43, women's debate member.

Coeds Okay No Corsages

First successful "no corsage" and semi-formal dance of the Summer semester resulted when over 500 persons attended the annual Cwens dance Saturday night. Proceeds are estimated at $150, according to reports made at a meeting of the sophomore honorary last night.

Mary Grace Longenecker '45, president, announced that the group would make a contribution of $50 to the World Student Service Fund as a result of the carnation sale.

Standing committees and sophomore members appointed by Miss Longenecker for the year include activities, Miriam L. Zartman, chairman, and Patricia Diener; "Tid," national Cwens' magazine, chairman, R. Christine Yohe; scrapbook, Jean E. Ogden; social, Florinne E. Olson, chairman, and Ruth A. Embury; ritual, Kathleen M. Osgood, chairman, and Barbara C. Painter.
