

Senate Specifies Victory Weekend Hours For Coeds

Regular houseparty weekend hours, a three o'clock Friday night and a two o'clock Saturday, will be granted to all coeds for Victory Weekend July 31 and August 1, as a result of WSGA Senate action taken last night.

Muriel S. Taylor '43, independent women's senator, reported to Senate that Mr. Robert Y. Sigworth, supervisor of utilities, was investigating the possibility of extending women's dormitory telephone service deadline from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m.

Miss Taylor was appointed by Margaret K. Sherman '43, WSGA president, to investigate the situation which has arisen since the advancement of coed weekday permission to 11 p. m.

Action on this issue may necessitate the addition of another dormitory operator, Miss Taylor pointed out.

Miss Sherman requests that all Summer session students living on campus abide by upperclass women's hours and conform to dormitory regulations. She asked that these students cooperate with dormitory quiet hours and that they return to dormitories by 11 p. m. on week nights and one o'clock Fridays and Saturdays.

Exceptions to these hours will be special permissions granted to coeds, such as three o'clock permission for Soph Hop.

With the recommendation of Marjorie L. Sykes '43, WSGA Judicial Committee chairman, Senate agreed that judicial members be approved by senior members of the Committee each semester with final approval resting in hands of Senate.

Sub-chairman of WSGA Freshman Council automatically becomes a member of judicial for a term of four years. In previous years a second representative was appointed from the freshman class by Senate.

Due to change in the semester set-up, the second representative will be elected in the Fall in place of the usual Senate appointment first semester.

Helen J. Martin, newly elected freshman senator, was introduced to Senate members at the meeting in the WSGA Room, White Hall, last night.

Four Home Eccers Receive Merrill Palmer Scholarships

Women To Attend School In Detroit

Dorothy M. Boring, Dorothy C. Clymer, Edith D. Dengler, and Mildred G. Feeser, junior home economics majors, will attend Merrill Palmer School in Detroit, Mich., the first semester of their senior year, according to an announcement by Dr. Laura V. Drummond, head of the home economics department, last night. These coeds and Dorothy L. Jones '44, alternate, were chosen by the home economics faculty on the basis of scholarship, activities, personality, and character, to attend the school which specializes in the study of child development and family life.

Miss Boring is acting junior senator, president of Ellen H. Richards club, junior home economics honorary; member of Interclass Finance Board, Ag Council, Home Economics Advisory Council, 4-H Club, Junior Service Board, editorial staff of Penn State Farmer, and former member of WSGA Freshman Council. Member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, Miss Clymer is also a member of the Home Economics Club, Ellen H. Richards Club, and editorial board of Co-Edition.

Also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Miss Dengler is a member of the Home Economics and Ellen H. Richards clubs.

Miss Feeser served as co-chairman of PSCA Freshman Forum Worship committee and is active in Lutheran Student work.

Seniors representing Penn State at Merrill Palmer next semester will be Esther M. Hall, Margaret K. Sherman, Selma Solomon, and Ruth E. Stamm.

Co-op Adds Members

Five new members were voted into Nittany Co-op last night by 35 actives. Requirements for membership include a two-week probation period and a vote of three-quarters of the members.

New members include Jack Lipman '43, and Freshmen Rose Bevecka, Geraldine Jordan, Alpheia Schaeffer, and Bruce Summerville.

Mortar Board Plans Defense Stamp Sale

Continuing a defense drive started last year, Mortar Board, national senior women's honor society, will sell defense stamps in dormitory lobbies at 6:20 tonight, according to Pauline Crossman '43, president.

Sales will be conducted in McAllister Hall lobby and outside Atherton Hall dining rooms each Thursday, members decided at a meeting Monday.

Seniors appointed to sell tonight are Louise M. Fuoss and Marjorie L. Sykes, Atherton Hall, and Lila A. Whoolery, McAllister Hall.

Margaret K. Sherman and Miss Crossman will conduct sales in Atherton Hall next Thursday and Patricia MacKinney will be in McAllister Hall.

8000 Women Enroll In College-Sponsored Home Front Classes

With nearly 8,000 women enrolled in its defense training courses, Penn State is a leader among eastern colleges striving for an "all out" war effort, according to recent national reports.

The College is conducting defense courses in 135 training centers in public school buildings and in cooperating colleges scattered throughout the state.

Registered for drafting, engineering, and accounting courses are students ranging from high school graduates to middle-aged women. Many are studying subjects such as ordinance and operations inspections, plastics, office management, chemistry of engineering materials, and foundations of engineering.

Among colleges sponsoring special training for war demand shortages is Connecticut College, which has announced a "War Session" from June 29 to August 22. Courses offered for college credit are industrial accounting, American government, chemistry-quantitative analysis, and statistics.

Courses directed primarily to short time training for war purposes are chemistry-industrial analytical techniques, and a training course for child care.

New Jersey College for Women is offering courses geared to the demand of war industries, each running for a varied period between June 15 and August 21. Under tuition-free Engineering Defense Training Courses comes work in mathematics for engineering problems and drawing, surveying and mapping, processing and inspection of metals, industrial chemical laboratory techniques, and industrial physical laboratory techniques.

Because Cambridge School of Architecture, affiliated with Smith College, will discontinue instruction in architecture, women will be admitted to the Harvard School of Design as candidates for degrees.

Miss Ruth A. Bonde, assistant professor of home economics, will be entertained at dinner at Beecher Home Management House Tuesday night.

Freshman women who wish to try out for debate will meet in 110 Home Economics at 7 p. m. today.

We, The Women There Ought To Be Some Changes Made

Ranging in importance from minor dormitory conditions to situations which affect national defense, there seem to be several unanswered campus problems.

We wonder why the proposed plan for airplane spotting by coed volunteers has not yet been put into action. A poll of women's organizations proves that enough enthusiasm has been shown by members to warrant going through with the idea. We are still waiting for orders.

Why haven't coeds taken advantage of Penn State's outdoor recreation facilities? How many students have ever climbed to the top of the valley's famous Mt. Nittany or have explored the part of campus beyond the Ag buildings?

WSGA House of Representatives has made a map of surrounding points of interest, and they will be posted in dormitories. Let's take advantage of this project and see the country, as well as lose a few pounds the easy way.

Coeds eating in McAllister Hall are just as anxious to know the day's menu as are those in Atherton Hall. Yet, day after day we call to find out what's cookin'. For several years Ath Hall coeds have been able to anticipate the day's fare with menus posted on bulletin boards. How about a similar system in Mac Hall?

Speaking of food, a little rice in salt shakers will prevent coeds knocking themselves out these sticky days.

And once again we ask—why is it that not more than ten coeds signed up for the airplane drafting course? It's your country, it's your college, and it's to your advantage. Indifferent? We hope not, but the answer is up to you.

House Maps Countryside

Maps of surrounding country showing picnic spots, hiking and swimming opportunities will be ready in two weeks, according to a report made by Geraldine A. Custer '43, committee chairman, at a meeting of WSGA House of Representatives yesterday.

The maps will be mimeographed and posted in dormitory lobbies and sorority bulletin boards, Dorothy K. Brunner '44, WSGA House speaker, announced.

H. Ione Cramer '44 was appointed to present necessary information to House members from a news letter from the American Women's Students, a national organization which sends a yearly letter to the group.

To further acquaint coeds with student government, copies of All-College constitution were distributed by Miss Brunner.

Still thanking women for the "Bars for Tars," more letters from sailors aboard the U. S. S. Atlanta were received and read yesterday.

Miss Brunner announced that next House meeting will be in 318 Old Main, at 5 p. m. Wednesday, July 15.
