An Adroit Shift

It seems to be the thing to do these days to write about the forthcoming Victory Weekend. And finally an angle has turned up that fits into the sports page. Namely the adroit switching of three varsity meets with Cornell University so that they will take place August 1 during the "Big Weekend."

Thanks to the ready cooperation of Graduate Manager Neil Fleming, the change was made so that a baseball game with Cornell may be included in the Saturday afternoon Field Day program. Tennis and golf matches will also be held during the afternoon.

Absent-Minded . . .

Sidelights on Saturday's four team special event track meet at Cornell . . . It seems that when the boys lined up for the start of the sprint medley relay, the Syracuse and Cornell entrants had overlooked a very important detail. They had neglected to get their batons. Thanks to the aid of Penn State's Marty Schiff, who stood up after the starter had given the boys their marks, attention was called to the oversight. The batonless runners got up sheepishly and procured their necessary wooden sticks. Incidentally, Cliff St. Clair turned in the best run of the relay by coming from 40 yards behind to win.

A surprise entrant in the 600-yard run, Burnham from Dartmouth, gave the crowd a thrill by turning in a win over Colgate's IC4-A champ, Diebolt, and Cornell's Art Smith. Burnham is the boy who recently defeated Les MacMitchell at the Metropolitan AAU meet with a 4:09 mile.

The relative standings of the teams, as figured out by an informal team point system, found Penn State ahead with 21 points, followed by Colgate with 19 and Cornell with 14.

IM Finals Near In League Windup

The Fraternity Intramural Mashball League moved into its final stages last night when Alpha Sigma Phi emerged the victor over Delta Chi in a bitter pitchers' duel, 2-1, and Theta Chi outslugged the Sigma Phi Alpha nine by a top heavy 14-9 score.

Play in the Independent League was featured by a 6-3 victory for the Canal Street Firehouse boys over Fairmount Hall. This win enabled the Firehouse to further extend their league lead over the second place Matils who only held their own in conquering Jordan Hall, 11-2.

Nicklas of Alpha Sigma Phi gets the brass ring for the day's outstanding performance for hurling an airtight 2 hitter, handcuffing the Delta Chis. Fanucci and Kleckner of Matils and Adams of Jordan Hall led the hitters when they pounded out the only round trippers of the evening.

Theta Chi succeeded in giving Folwell, Sigma Phi Alpha hurler, a thorough going over when they touched him for 18 hits. The SPAs collected 13 hits from Theta Chi's Goss. The Delta Chi-Alpha Sigma Phi fray showed tight pitching on both sides since both teams could garner only a total of seven hits.

Standings failed to change in the Independent League in the two contests played there. It was a case of superior hitting in both tilts. Matils' explosive eight in the sixth inning put the cap on their 9-5 win over Jordan Hall. The league leading Canal Street Firehouse was pushed through 4 extra innings before they rallied to force 3 runs across the plate in the eleventh inning.

With the conclusion of the present fraternity schedules, new leagues will be formed among the ranking members of each league. Plans, leagues and schedules for play will be announced later this week in The Daily Collegian, according to Bob Redmount '44, IM manager.

Engineers Plan Employment Book

The School of Engineering is making plans to issue its annual employment booklet which will be distributed during the "recruiting season" to seniors and employers alike, the committee in charge announced today.

The employment booklet will contain the name, picture, curriculum, college activities, occupational experience and personal details of each senior who helps share the expense of printing it. Material will be grouped by departments within the school and sent, as in the past, to many employers.

Those who participate will receive two complete: departmental booklets, 25 pages on which their personal data is printed, 25 additional individual pages which will be kept on file in their department or sent to industries, free circulation of the booklet and pages, the original photograph and halftone.

To defray the cost of printing, a fee of $6 must be paid by each participating student by Tuesday, July 14, the committee announced. Students may place their reservations with the following seniors: Charles Handschuh, architecture; George B. Schroyer, civil engineering; Robert L. Markle, electrical engineering; Lawrence B. Hawes, industrial engineering; and Don W. Dickinson, mechanical engineering.

3 Varsity Games Added To V-Weekend Program

Cornell Baseball, Golf, Tennis Teams To Play

Varsity baseball, golf, and tennis games with Cornell have been added to Penn State's ever-growing Victory Weekend program, Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, announced yesterday.

Six of the seven contests on the Penn State-Cornell Summer sports card have been re-scheduled to make possible the change, according to Fleming.

The three games were formerly scheduled to be played at Ithaca, N. Y. To balance the shift of the battle scene to State College, the three contests originally scheduled to be played here July 18 have been changed to Cornell's home grounds.

The varsity baseball game with Cornell, now scheduled for 2 p. m. August 1, will open V-Weekend's Saturday afternoon field day. Starting time of the tennis and golf matches has not yet been set, according to Fleming. Time for their opening will be fitted into the holiday schedule.

Still another addition to the Saturday afternoon program was announced last night by Bernard A. Plesser '43, program chairman for the V-Weekend field day. Plesser stated that the State College Drum and Bugle Corps, national champions since 1940, had agreed to present a drill-concert performance as part of the celebration.

A varsity lacrosse game with Colgate, the annual frosh-soph tug of war, with customs at stake, and presentation of V-Weekend proceeds, will round out the Saturday afternoon program.

Band Concert

"Savonic Rhapsody No. 2," by Friedman.

The third section of the program is Texidor's "March Amperita Roco" and "Park Avenue Fantasy," by Signorelli. Concluding part of the evening's performance will be made up of a special band arrangement of "Rhapsody in Blue," by George Gershwin and John Philip Sousa's "Semper Fidelis."

The closing number will be Doctor Howard's special low-key arrangement of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Pierre Henrotte, a member of the Summer sessions visiting faculty, and Hummel Fishburn, acting head of the department of music, will assist with the direction of the concert.

Summer Session Plans Rec Hall Fun Night

tional events are under the direction of Earl Edwards, Rec Hall. Edwards said he expects the horse shoe pits to be busy Friday. He emphasized the advisability of wearing comfortable clothes for the event.

Competition in archery will get underway on Holmes Field at 2 p. m. Saturday with a preliminary and final Columbia round tournament. Although the College has archery equipment, those who have their own sets are asked to use them in the tourney.

Two bicycle trips are carded for the week, one to start at 7 o'clock tonight from 112 Miles street. Another will start from the same place at 7 a. m. Sunday, when bicyclers will ride to the College Lodge, eat breakfast, and return. Those expecting to participate should sign at Student Union before noon Saturday, or contact Miss Marie Haidt, White Hall, or Earl Edwards, Rec Hall.

Linksmen Prepare For Centre Hills

When the Lion golfers meet the Centre Hills Country Club team this Saturday, another mass meet will be featured, if present plans mature. The matches will be patterned after those held on the College links June 27 when the Lions defeated Centre Hills 6-3.

Playoffs are under way this week to determine the starting lineup, which will probably include Co-captains Dick Stephens and Bill "Ducky" Swan, Bill Smiley, Jim McCormick, Ed Fairchild, and Charlie McClay.

Coach Rutherford has no set lineup, but lets the players fight it out between matches for the starting positions in the next matches in a series of round robins in which the whole squad takes part.

Texas Professor Will Talk On Housing

"Housing Problems in the Present Emergency" is the subject of a talk by Miss Mary Mason, assistant professor of home economics, Texas State College for Women, in 110 Home Economics at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

A conference on instruction will be conducted in 10 Sparks at 3:15 p. m. today on the topic, "What Should the Activity Concept of Learning Mean to Classroom Teachers?"

Films in schools were discussed at a session in 121 Sparks last night.

Wrestlers Called

Candidates for freshman and varsity wrestling are to report to Rec Hall on Tuesday and Thursdays at 4 p. m. Practice has already begun in preparation for the coming season, according to Charlie Ridenour, varsity wrestler.
