

Rothman' Carswell Capture Archery Title For Ath East

Bridge, Archery Contests Planned

Holding the lead gained in the semi-final contest Thursday, although reversed in positions, Juniors Florence Rothman and Mary Alice Carswell came through for Ath East when they captured first and second places in yesterday's final intramural Columbia Round archery tournament.

Miss Rothman led the scoring with 358 points, followed by Miss Carswell with 343 points, thus adding 8 extra points, 5 for first place and 3 for second, to their team's intramural score.

This is the first time in three years that the archery title has been taken from the Kappa Alpha Thetas, represented last year by Seniors Ada Lord and Marjorie L. Sykes, stated Grace L. Judge '44, WRA intramural chairman.

All participants improved their scores over semi-final results, with the exception of Miss Carswell's semi-final score of 383 points which remains highest score of the entire contest.

Final scores of other participants include Kathryn H. Thomas '43, Zeta Tau Alpha, 358; Diana Novich '44, Ath West, 232; and Florence I. Jaffy '44, Ath West, 205.

CO-REC NEWS

Results of Saturday's co-rec Columbia Round archery tournament reveal Melvin H. Wainer '44 as winner with a score of 396. Second place was won by Miss Carswell with 354 points and Helmut Kuehner took third position with a score of 331.

After the tournament, students attempted Clout shooting which consists of shooting up into the air at a target flat on the ground.

Students are reminded by Adele J. Levin '44, WRA activities chairman, of the co-rec bridge tournament to be held outside White Hall at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday. The program is sponsored by WRA Bridge Club, headed by Elizabeth J. McKinley '45.

Assisting with the progressive tournament will be Mrs. Edna C. Nichols, stenographer of the correspondence instruction division of the College and instructor for the Bridge Club. In the progressive system, the winning couple at each table moves on, exchanging partners with a losing couple, Miss McKinley explained.

"You do not need a date to enter the tournament, but will be assigned a partner at the contest," emphasized Miss McKinley. Prizes will be awarded to the high man and woman scorer.

SUMMER SESSION NEWS

Another outstanding archery contest will be the Columbia Round tournament for Summer session men and women students on White Hall field at 2 p. m. Saturday, announced Miss Marie Haidt, associate professor of physical education.

Anyone who knows how to shoot is eligible, Miss Haidt stated.

Miss Haidt reminds Summer session students of Talent Night tryouts scheduled for White Hall lobby at 7:30 tonight and urges everyone who can sing, act, do tricks, etc., to be present.

Dames To Participate In Exhibits, Meeting

Demonstration and exhibit on conservation of clothing will be held in 117 Home Economics at 2:45 p. m. Wednesday. Summer Dames, wives of Summer graduate students, are invited by the home economics department to attend.

Following a sugarless cooker demonstration and tea in the Home Economics auditorium at 2 p. m. Friday, Summer Dames will hold a meeting. The nursery playground is open to children of Summer Dames.

HEC Will Sponsor Tea, Demonstration

"Cakes and Frostings—The Sugarless Way" will be the topic of a demonstration given by Mrs. Helen Zoller, field representative and home economist from the Proctor and Gamble Company, Ivorydale, Ohio, at a tea given in Home Economics Auditorium from 2 to 4 p. m. Friday.

The program is sponsored by the social usage and demonstration foods classes, members of which will assist Mrs. Zoller in demonstrations, under the direction of Edith V. Harding, assistant professor of home economics.

Summer Session Dames, the Home Maker's Club, faculty wives, students, and townspeople are invited to attend. Children may be brought and left in the Home Economics Nursery School where they will be cared for by students under the direction of Miss Marion L. Carr, assistant professor in home economics.

Punch and tea cookies, prepared by the foods demonstration classes, will be served. Members of the social usage class will act as hostesses.

'Betty Coed' Assists 'Joe'

Less than a week away, Victory Weekend may seem thus far to have been a man's idea and a man's project, but contributions of College women show that Betty Coed will be a big aid to Joe College in this unique attempt to support the Army.

Mortar Board, national senior women's honor society, has taken the job of inviting patrons and guests who will attend both nights of the huge event.

By ushering at both performances of the Thespian-Glee Club program, Cwens, sophomore women's honorary, will offer its services.

Posters, signs, and special publicity features are in the hands of Panhellenic Council, sorority executive group.

With an unanimous vote last week, WSGA voted to present a $75 "victory award" to one deserving coed from each class. The awards will be made on the basis of need, scholastic average, and contribution to the College. Presentations will be made by an appointed committee during the V-Weekend schedule.

The coed governmental body also appropriated $25 to be spent for Victory Weekend where it will be most needed.

Individuals will prove valuable in musical numbers and other parts of the program which appears to be one of the largest student projects ever undertaken here.

Leon Rabinowitz '43, Weekend chairman, stated last night when asked about coed cooperation, "The coeds are doing a great job to help spell Victory with capital letters."

We, The Women You Can Take It With You—

Coeds should receive an indulgent pat on their suntanned cheeks for being so good about buying Mortar Board's defense stamps.

Before we do any patting, though, we'd like to mention something that has been bothering us a bit. A good portion of the money spent on these stamps has come from noble Summer session women, and not from the coeds themselves.

Maybe this is because Summer session women carry their purses with them everywhere they go, even to the dining rooms. Less cautious coeds leave pocketbooks in their rooms while they eat.

Maybe the Mortar Boards should make a weekly canvass of dormitory rooms to catch coeds with money bags. We think it would be more convenient for the women themselves to remember to carry cash with them to dinner every Thursday night.

Troublesome idea, isn't it? (Maybe you're tired of hearing about defense stamps, too.) But let's not forget that there are soldiers and sailors who are putting themselves to a lot more trouble than that, and who are even more tired than you are. K. M. P.

Trainer To Speak On Campus Plants

"Our Campus—Its Trees, Shrubs and Flowers" will be the subject for the fifth in the series of general meetings of the home economics department at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Walter W. Trainer, assistant professor of landscaping, will lecture as he leads a tour of the campus. All graduate and undergraduate home economics students, who are interested, should meet in 110 Home Economics Building.

Coeds To Broadcast

Mr. Clayton H. Schug, assistant of public speaking and women's debate coach, will lead the discussion, "Women in the Army," on a radio program at 2:30 p. m. Thursday over station WMRP, Lewistown. Members of the women's debate squad participating are Evelyn R. Wilner '43, C. Betty Friedman '44, Florence I. Jaffy '44, and C. Grace Goodlin '45.

Women In Sports

"Hats off" to WRA for providing able leadership and students for increasing enthusiasm as they were directed o'er hill and dale on successful weekend bike and hike trips.

With the co-rec idea gaining in popularity, just show WRA that you are interested and they will take care of the rest.

We would like to see more organizations become as quickly acclimated to the "accelerated" program.

It seems a shame that the free professional instruction being offered by WRA Golf Club is not being taken advantage of.

Supplementing supervised practice and instruction at Golf Club meetings on Holmes Field at 6:30 p. m. Wednesdays, is the professional advise of Robert B. Rutherford Jr., instructor in physical education, when the group meets on the golf course at 10 a. m. Saturdays.

If you own or can borrow a golf club why not try your hand at "teeing off?"

With six outdoor courts and free instruction available to all coeds, we would like to see women students cooperate with the WRA Badminton Club membership drive.

Headed by All-College badminton champion, Martha G. Duffmann '43, the club meets in White Hall gymnasium at 7 p. m. Wednesdays and is planning to sponsor a round robin tournament in several weeks. If you are a novice at the game, let WRA teach you a new "racket." If you are an old timer, why not improve your game? We dare you to try to beat "Duffy!"

Benedict House Coeds Honor Baby At Party

Benedict house coeds gave a party in honor of the home management house baby, Raymond Hyde, Saturday. A white lamb-shaped birthday cake sprinkled with coconut was the table centerpiece. Cupcakes, cookies, and gingerale were also served.

Guests included Dr. Laura J. Drummond, head of Home Economics School; Dean and Mrs. Marion R. Trabue; Mrs. Marion S. McDowell, Miss Della J. Avery, and Miss Ruth L. Bonde, associate professors of home economics; and Mrs. Mazie Hyde, the baby's mother.

WRA Golf Club will meet on Holmes Field at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Women Donate $45 For Charity Clubs

In answer to a request sent to all sorority and independent women, $45 has been turned into the dean of women's office for charity organizations, Miss Charlotte E. Ray, dean of women, announced.

Contributions which came from sororities, dormitory units, and Philotes, independent organization, will be divided equally between the American Friends Service Organization and the United China Relief Fund, it was decided.

Commenting on the surprisingly successful results, Miss Ray stated, "I am very much pleased with this contribution which has come not as a result of a specified drive, but as a voluntary sacrifice."

WSGA Junior Service Board will discuss Victory Weekend contribution at their meeting in the Alpha Chi Omega suite at 5 o'clock today, announced Mary Jo Powell '44, president.
