

V-Weekend Ticket Sale Begins At 8 A. M. Tomorrow

Sale of Victory Weekend tickets, last-round phase of the holiday preparations, will begin at the Athletic Association windows at 8 a. m. tomorrow, the V-Weekend executive committee announced last night.

Slogan of the day will be "$4.40 For Freedom," according to the V-Weekend planners, for $4.40 is the price of the single ticket admitting a couple to the Army Relief festival's entire program.

Outstanding among the events included in the single admission price are a four-hour session of dancing to Benny Goodman, a Thespian-Glee Club Revue, Saturday afternoon's Field Day, and a Dantz-a-poppin program that will present four campus bands and then "dare you to dance."

Leon Rabinowitz '43, general chairman, stressed the economy of Penn State's biggest social holiday. "The price," he stated, "is lower than any dance-show combination in the history of big weekends at Penn State."

WSGA's Judicial Committee, co-ed equivalent of Student Tribunal, will match the men's tug-of-war by sponsoring an all-coed version of the traditional inter-class battle.

Final dress regulations for Saturday's Dantz-a-poppin program were announced yesterday by Bernard M. Weinberg '43, program co-chairman for V-Weekend.

Only male students accepted at Rec Hall Saturday night will be those without ties, long sleeves, or coats. Rolled-up sleeves, polo shirts, numeral and sweaters are suggested for the roughhouse climaxer to V-Weekend, according to Weinberg.

On the feminine side, blouses, skirts, and low-heeled shoes are the only outfits to be okayed by the door attendants, Weinberg stated. "Couples bringing dogs or cats," he reminded, "will be required to keep them on a leash."

FREEDOM'S FIRST LADY—Gail Twitchell '45, winner of a Froth-conducted contest to choose the typical coed-of-today, will rule as Victory Girl for this week's Army Relief festival. The V-Girl won over a field of 11 nominees, all of whom were enrolled in technical courses. Details of the election are included in the special Victory Issue of Froth that goes on sale today, according to Robert W. Cooper '43, editor.

Deadline Set For Principals' Conference Ends With 2 Meetings

Deadline on orders for announcements, invitations, and caps and gowns for the August graduates has been set next Thursday at 4 p. m., according to David J. McAleer, senior class president.

"Orders for the graduation items will be taken at Student Union desk from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily between now and next Thursday, and with commencement only four weeks away, it is doubly important that all orders are placed by Thursday," stated McAleer.

Invitations sell for five cents and programs for 50 cents. A five dollar deposit is required on the caps and gowns with a refund made upon their return. The refund amount depends on the number of graduates.

Frank R. Flynn '43 heads the committee named by McAleer in charge of the invitations and announcements. Working under him are Betty J. Lindemuth, Dorothy A. Young, Lewis J. Palazzi, Charles E. Gundlach, and Thomas Ridge. All are seniors. McAleer will serve as chairman for the Summer commencement in the absence of Flynn.

William T. Richards and Pauline M. Kline have been appointed to serve as co-chairmen on the caps and gowns committee which includes Muriel S. Taylor, William C. Mazzocco, Ridge, Gundlach, and Palazzi. For the Summer semester, Ridge will act as chairman since Richards and Miss Kline are not in school.

All of these committees which usually are appointed to serve for one commencement will do double duty this year.

'Tug' To Decide Frosh Customs

Two conferences today will wind up the three-day superintendents and principals' confab in session on campus starting Tuesday.

"Physical Fitness in War and Peace" is the topic at a conference in Schwab Auditorium at 9:30 a. m. today, and "Legislation Necessary for a Better Program of Financing Education" will be discussed in the auditorium at 1:30 p. m. At the Phi Delta Kappa dinner in the Sandwich Shop at 6:30 p. m., Dr. C. R. Carpenter, associate professor of psychology, School of Education, will speak on "Climates of the Far East."

Trustees Will Discuss Jap-American Question

The outcome of the freshmen-sophomore tug-of-war Saturday afternoon on the New Beaver Field practice field will definitely decide how much longer freshmen will be required to wear customs," Charles H. Ridenour, '43, Student Tribunal chairman, announced last night.

Regardless of the result, all freshman customs will be suspended for the weekend starting tomorrow noon. If the frosh win the contest Saturday, customs will be permanently lifted for the remainder of the semester, Ridenour stated. Attendance for all freshmen is compulsory.

All freshmen and sophomores who signed up for the rope pull are requested to report at the practice field at 1:45 p. m. Saturday.

Hetzel Names Galbraith War Service Advisor

In a move to consolidate the student recruiting program on campus, the president's office announced yesterday the establishment of the Office of Faculty Advisor on War Service, and the appointment of Prof. Robert F. Galbraith to supervise its functions as Faculty Advisor on War Service.

The newly created office, located in 243 Sparks, will be charged with maintaining complete files of orders and information on the Enlisted Reserve Corps of both the Army and the Navy.

In his role as Faculty Advisor on War Service, Professor Galbraith will take over the difficult job of advising and counseling draft-age students and faculty on opportunities and procedures necessary to enlistment in any of the Reserve Corps programs.

All information released by the War Department, the Navy Department, and the War Man-Power Commission, will be made available to the students and faculty through the facilities of the newly established office.

Warnock Warns All Fraternities

A special letter of warning from Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, was sent to all Penn State fraternities yesterday.

"A situation is developing in which it may appear that the fraternities, instead of setting an example of what a student body should do in wartime, are becoming liabilities to the College in its effort to serve the country's wartime needs," Warnock admonished in the form letter.

The letter, caused by College officials' worry over the unusually large number of mid-semester below grades, was written after a meeting of the Council of Administration on the problem, according to Warnock.

Other events leading up to the letter were listed in the opening paragraph of the page-of-warning.

"At about 3:30 early Tuesday morning," Warnock's message began, "I had to dress hurriedly and investigate the reason for loud singing outside sorority houses on the east campus. I found that it was being done by five freshmen, who said they were required to do it as a part of 'Hell Week' at their fraternity."

"On the day before," the letter continued, "I had handled the case of a freshman who had missed a class test and had told his instructor that he had been kept up all night by 'Hell Week.'"

Warnock's letter urged that fraternities set an example of studying during the month of August, and thus help insure that Penn State will not be a failure in the nation's march to victory.

Debate Tonight

Concluding the Summer inter-collegiate debates, two coeds, members from the men's debate squad, and two Colgate representatives will discuss "War Mariages" in the Home Economics Auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.
