

Courtmen Seek To Upset Cornell In Season Finale

Coach Ted Roethke's varsity netmen will make a final all-out attempt to break into the win column in intercollegiate tennis competition when they meet Cornell on the College courts at 2 p. m. Saturday.

The match will be their final scheduled intercollegiate contest of the Summer season, and their second meeting with the Cornell Big Red. The Lions were turned back by the New Yorkers by a 7-2 score in Ithaca, N. Y., two weeks ago.

In five scheduled contests this Summer, the Lions have been able to cop only one victory, a 10 to 5 trouncing of the College faculty team. They have dropped three close ones to Colgate and the one to Cornell.

Despite the fact that Cornell tied Northwestern for the Intercollegiate Tennis Title only last Spring, Saturday's match is expected to be a close affair, and the Lions are conceded an even chance to come through with a win over the Big Red.

Cy Hull, Lion captain, will be out to avenge his defeat at the hands of McNair in their match two weeks ago. McNair also holds a victory over Hull, which he won in their first encounter in freshman competition two seasons ago.

Kraybill and Lundelius, who both won singles victories for the Lions at Ithaca in their first meeting with Cornell, are expected to repeat in Saturday's match. Jim Lawther, Dick Armbrust, and Stan Spurgeon or Horace Smith are expected to get the starting nod at the other singles positions.

IM Tennis

With progress greatly hindered in intramural tennis run-offs because of the difficulty in contacting players, Robert D. Schirer '44, IM tennis manager, said last night that all entrants in both the fraternity and independent tournaments are to follow announcements in The Daily Collegian concerning matches scheduled for the day.

Scheirer said that the first six courts on the west side of the clay courts have been reserved for intramural playing. Because of this, contestants are asked to report promptly at the hour scheduled, unless they have first notified Scheirer by telephone at 761.

Lion Golfers Battle Cornell

Their winning streak broken by Colgate last Saturday, the Lion golfers will be out for a kill this weekend when they meet Cornell on the College course Saturday afternoon.

Arranged as a special attraction for V-Weekend, the Cornell match was switched so that the Nittany linksmen might play here during the holiday. Trouncing the Big Red once before this Summer, the Lions stand a good chance of repeating the win.

Led by Co-captains Dick Stephens and Bill Swan, the same lineup that has started the last few matches will probably tee off this Saturday. At present, Dick Hastings and Ed Fairchild, and Chuck Maclay and Jim McCormick are in the beginning spots.

Stephens shot a one-under-par 68 last week in his match, and should come through in the Cornell meet to spark the Lions to another victory. Swan has been playing a good game, but dropped one of his matches last Saturday.

The golfers have won every game on the schedule since last April except for the close one they dropped to Colgate Saturday, 5-4. The match was so close that

Lion Nine To Meet Cornell In V-Weekend Grudge Contest

Victory Weekend baseball fans will witness a grudge battle on the New Beaver field diamond at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, if the players' attitude after the last Cornell fray at Ithaca, N. Y., is any indication.

Leading 7-4 in the seventh inning at Cornell, the Lion squad saw their lead overcome and passed as the Big Red eked out an 8-7 win over the Penn State lads. Three times Coach Joe Beden's players held leads, only to be overtaken.

Whitey Pyer, who was taken out of the game after he helped lengthen the Blue and White lead, may have a chance to repay the New York state lads Saturday. Eddie Tuleya, who hurled his first game in three months against Colgate recently, will also be on hand for mound duty.

Saturday's tilt is the last on the Penn State schedule, and it is doubtful if any more games will be added now. Lock Haven State Teachers' College had two games listed on the roster, but dropped them because of inability to form a team.

one of the last players was stretched to 20 holes before the match was decided.
