

28 Associates Named To Staff In La Vie Elections

Twenty-eight students were named to the Junior board of the 1943 La Vie at elections held last night in the yearbook office, announced Martin H. Duff '43, editor. The staff will serve until November when the new editor and Senior board will be chosen.

All busily engaged in getting out the "accelerated" yearbook, the staff has worked very hard this Summer, according to Duff.

Important announcement by Duff states that all Seniors graduating at the end of the month should leave their mailing addresses at the AA office, 102 Old Main. The La Vies will be mailed to them C.O.D. when they come out in December.

Students chosen are: William R. Pomerantz, Gerald B. Maxwell Stein, Robert W. Lewis, Harold E. Epstein, Carl Colombo, Theodore Green, Alan I. Brunstein, Wilson Oberdorfer, Frances Angle, Marion Dougherty, Mildred Greenes, Doris Stevenson, Jenoise Wherry, Sally Piollet, Rosene Stauffer, Mary Jo Powell, Priscilla McClellan, Ursula Frost, Beverly Miller, Mary Galt, Marion Robinowitz, Nancy Hamill, Nancy Shipman, Elaine Cox, Nancy Berkebile, Helen Neubert, Lucille Barton, and Harry Coleman.

The newly-selected board will meet today at 4 p. m. in 315 Old Main, Duff added.

Army Promotes Weske To Rank Of Major

Captain Jack H. Weske, recently transferred to Washington D. C. after thirteen years of service as a member of the ROTC faculty at the college, was promoted to the rank of major, it was announced by the War Department yesterday.

Major Weske is now an administrative and security officer in the office of the Assistant Chief of Ground Forces, Army War College.

Major Weske, who entered the Army as a private at Fort Sheridan, Ill., organized the Scabbard and Blade and Pershing Rifles groups while a member of the ROTC Department here.

Couples To Contend For Costume Prizes At IWA 'Prairie Prom'

Cowboys and prairies will take the spotlight at IWA's first All-College Dance, "Prairie Prom," as George P. Washko's Campus Owls swing out in Recreation Hall from 9 p. m. to midnight tomorrow.

With the band dressed in typical ranch clothes, Hazel E. Gassmann '43, IWA president, urges that dancers follow suit. A prize will be awarded to the couple most appropriately dressed to fit the prairie theme.

Although the dance is sponsored by coeds, men as well as women are urged by Miss Gassmann to invite dates. Tickets may be purchased at Student Union or at the dance for $1.10.

The Penn State Dating Bureau, sponsored by the Penn State Club and IWA, will accept applications until tomorrow noon, according to Marjorie A. Magargel '44.

Federman '44 was awarded for freshman manager work.

Last Open House Features Dance Band, Ping Pong

Vic Dimeo's Solid Seven will give an hour program of dance music in the lobby at the final Old Main Open House of the Summer semester, starting at 7 tonight.

In addition to the band, an All-College Ping Pong tournament will highlight the season's finale, Gerald B. Maxell Stein '44, OMOH chairman, said last night in releasing complete details of the program.

Faculty members as well as students are invited to spend "A Night in New York." Based on this theme, the entire Open House will try to create a cosmopolitan atmosphere by giving names of New York hot spots, theaters and sports centers to the fourth floor game room, the Little Theater, Old Main Tower and other places.

Defense stamps, presented by George Donovan, Student Union manager, will be awarded winners of the Ping-Pong tournament. All matches, except the finals, will be played in "Madison Square Garden" on the fourth floor.

In order to accommodate a larger gallery, the finals will be held in the first floor lounge.

There will be two showings of the motion picture "Trans-Atlantic Merry-Go-Around," starring Jack Benny and Mitzi Green, in the Radio City Music Hall, Room 405. The first showing is scheduled for 8:15 p. m. and the second at 10:20.

OMOH committeemen include Muriel I. Taylor '45, WSGA, Richard Kurtz '45, IMA, Adele J. Levin '44, WRA, Charles W. Thompson '43, PSC, Barbara E. Whitebread '43, IWA, George Donovan, SU, and Jack A. Jordon '43, IFC.

Freshman Week Schedule Includes 3 Mass Meetings

Despite the accelerated program, freshmen entering the College for the Fall Semester will have a period of orientation longer than the Summer semester freshmen had.

Beginning September 7, Freshman week will extend to 1:10 p. m., Thursday, September 10.

Scheduled for Monday, night, September 7, the first mass meeting for the new students will be under the direction of All-College Cabinet. Student government will be explained, activities and their leaders introduced, and a general over-all view of extra-curricular activities will be presented.

Tuesday night's meeting will be reserved for religious organizations, to present their organizations to the freshmen.

The third and last mass meeting, Wednesday night, comes under the heading of entertainment, when various campus groups will perform, and some idea of the lighter side of College life will be presented for the new class.

Dean Warnock said yesterday that IFC was to be commended for adding a section to the rushing code forbidding rushers to enter campus buildings in which freshman meetings are in progress. Complaints were received in past years of men climbing in windows and creating disturbances.

Student Union dances are scheduled in the Armory for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Ray V. Watkins, scheduling officer, said these mixers serve a very valuable function in acquainting freshmen men and women with each other.

Also on the program for the freshmen are song and cheer practices in Schwab Auditorium, a series of school meetings with the faculty, student counselors' meetings, placement tests in English composition and psychology aptitude tests.

AN EDUCATION DID IT — The value of a Penn State education was brought to the front recently with the announcement that C. Robert Longenecker, graduated from the College in 1932, was married to Ruth Hussey, movie actress in a surprise ceremony in Pala, California.

Longenecker '32 Weds Actress Ruth Hussey

Although he graduated from the College before Soc. 4 was instituted as a course, C. Robert Longenecker '32 accomplished what practically every Penn State man would like to do when he recently married Ruth Hussey, attractive brunette movie actress, in a surprise ceremony at Pala, California.

Longenecker has been stationed in Hollywood as a script writer with the Columbia Broadcasting System for the past several years. While at Penn State he majored in commerce and finance and played on the football and basketball teams during his junior and senior years.

He was a member of Delta Upsilon and according to Thomas Morgan, an employee at DU, he was a very studious man. Morgan stated that he seldom dated except on big weekends.

PSCA Will List Available Rooms

To help find rooming facilities for those evacuated from the dormitories, for incoming freshmen, and for upperclassmen returning to school in September, the PSCA and the Student Housing Board will cooperate in compiling room lists that will be available before the present semester ends, representatives of the two groups announced yesterday.

An annual service of the PSCA, the scope of the lists will be enlarged this year to alleviate the unusual conditions that have come up due to the increase of coed enrollment and the subsequent removal of men from the tri-dorms.

"The lists will only indicate availability and in no way show desirability of the rooms," explained Fred E. Clever '44, Student Housing Board Chairman.

"An effort will be made," representatives from the two groups explained, "to contact all of the rooming houses in town to determine exactly the number of rooms that will be available September 7."

First Aid Cards Ready

Red Cross First Aid cards for the students who took the first aid course from Jack Hulme during the period of January to March are available at the Student Union Desk.

MEET ME IN THE

— Traditional haunt of students during "sandwich hours" and after classes, the Sandwich Shop in Old Main basement will be converted into a dining room for the majority of the 270 coeds who will be housed in the men's dormitories. The others will eat in Atherton and MacAllister dining rooms.

To take the place of the "Shop" a plan to remodel the first floor lounge in Old Main into a refreshment room is being drawn up.

Priorities on construction materials may interfere with this proposal, however.
