

Lions Prepare For Colgate's Red Raiders

Regulars Rest While Reserves Scrimmage

Rough, tough scrimmages for the reserves, and light dummy drills for the regulars marked the Lion's first two nights of preparation for Colgate's Red Raider football squad.

Upset last Saturday by Duke after they had run roughshod over St. Lawrence, Cornell, and Dartmouth, the New York squad is still rated as one of the top teams of the East. Coach Bob Higgins isn't allowing the Blue Devil upset to take the edge off the Lion's appreciation of Colgate prowess.

The Lions came through the game unscathed for the first time this year, and should be at top strength for Colgate. The only anticipated shift in the Lion's lineup, might see Sophomore "Red" Moore as the starting left tackle in the position held down so far by "Big Mike" Kerns. Moore has played exceptionally well during the last three games.

Biggest job that faces the Lions this week is the development of a defense to stop the Micka-led Raiders. Crafty Andy Kerr, Raider coach, works his team from no less than eight formations. Kerr not only uses a single wingback attack like the Lions, but the veteran coach employs a deep and close double wingback-attack that especially adapts itself to tricky reverses and passes.

Wide open football, with passes and reverses playing a great part of the attacks, may be on tap for Homecoming spectators this Saturday, if Higgins decides to use Bobby Williams, who has been getting the spotlight in recent practice sessions.

Were Higgins to decide that the pass-tossing Williams has mastered the Lion-type offense enough to see action Saturday, Lion fans can expect to see more passing than has been exhibited on New Beaver Field since Big Bill Schmaltz graduated.

In practice scrimmage against the third team last evening Williams threw no less than three long touchdown passes to second team ends.

Independent League To Open Tonight

Kappa Sigma led the touchdown parade in last night's intramural football play on the New Beaver practice field, scoring a decisive 20-0 win over Phi Epsilon Pi while Alpha Chi Sigma, holder of the all-sports trophy, struck once through the air to register a 6-0 victory over Theta Xi and Beta Theta Pi leveled Phi Kappa Sigma, 7-0.

Kappa Sigma Vs. Phi Epsilon Pi
Kappa Sigma on the first play from scrimmage used the sleeper play that has scored for them several times this season to travel 70 yards to the 10. Held for downs, Kappa Sig struck again for 50 yards and a first down on the 2-foot line. Sapp to Lindzey scored. In the second half Allison intercepted a Phi Ep lateral on the dead run for a 40-yard score. Sapp to Stebbins to Armbrust went for 60 yards and the final tally.

Beta Theta Pi Vs. Phi Kappa Sigma
The Betas moved into the tournament quarter-finals when they won their bracket in squeezing out Phi Kappa Sigma, 7-0.

A closely contested first half ended scoreless with one first down apiece. In the second half the Betas moved from midfield to the three on a triple pass. Giles tossed to Detweiler for the extra point. On the last play of the game PKS completed a pass to the Beta nine but were unable to score.

Alpha Chi Sigma Vs. Theta Xi
The Alpha Chi Sigs registered their lone score on one of the most effective plays in this type of football. In the first half Jacoby gathered in a Theta Xi punt, ran forward a few yards and let loose with a 60-yard heave to Holler who had been drifting unnoticed along the side line for a score. Livingston and James were stand-outs for Theta Xi.

Tonight's schedule matches Phi Delta Theta and Alpha Zeta, 7:30; Delta Chi vs. Phi Sigma Delta, 8:20; Miller Club vs. Fairmount Hall, 9:00; Pioneer House vs. Ceramists, 9:40.

Werner Still In Search Of Number Five Man For Cross-Country Team

Competition for the number five spot on the cross-country team for this Saturday's meet with Syracuse is far from decided, it was learned from Coach Chick Werner last night.

Captain Norm Gordon, Jerry Karver, Curt Stone, and Mac Smith form a nucleus of four men that will be hard to beat, but there is no other man who has proved beyond a doubt that he is an outstanding runner.

Probably the outstanding contender for this vital spot is Joe Beach, sophomore runner from State College high school. He made a fine showing in the Manhattan meet by taking sixth place just behind the Lions' "Big Four" and a Manhattan man.

Howard Horne has shown promise in several time trials and will be a strong contender as will Johnnie McCall and Rufe Williams.

The need of a fifth man for the team has been noticeable from the beginning of the season. These contenders have shown much improvement, according to Werner, but they still have quite a long way to go.

The harriers raced over the freshman three-mile course last night in a short workout. Captain Norm Gordon and Jerry Karver finished seconds ahead of the pack.

A sore foot kept Curt Stone from taking part in the short run. His injury, however, is not serious and he will be ready for the Syracuse meet on Saturday.

The Lion-Orangemen dual will take place between halves of the State-Colgate football game. The starting line is on the southwest turn of the New Beaver field oval, and the finish line is at the fifty-yard line in front of the West stands.

The starting gun will go off about fifteen minutes before half-time of the game in order that the thinclads can finish during the half, twenty-five minutes later.

Following the Syracuse meet, the Lions will travel to East Lansing, Michigan, for a dual meet with Michigan State October 31 on the same course that they will run on in the National Collegiate meet later in the season.

Navy-JV Game Cancelled By AA

Cancellation of the junior varsity football game scheduled with Navy at Annapolis October 31 was announced yesterday by Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics.

The increasing difficulty to secure transportation for traveling athletic teams is the cause for the cancellation. According to Fleming, it is probable that in the future many junior varsity events will have to be curtailed in order to maintain varsity schedules.

Although this is the first game, outside of freshman schedules, cancelled by the College itself, several of Penn State's opponents have already postponed their contests for war reasons.

With the Navy game abandoned, the jayvee squad will end its schedule when it meets the Colgate B-1 team Saturday.

determined, and will be announced at the mass meeting by Galbraith at the conclusion of the round of addresses by the members of the Joint Board.

As was announced yesterday, all men's and mixed classes will be dismissed from 10 o'clock this morning until noon to enable every male student, including those already enlisted in any branch of the Reserve, to attend the meeting.

According to figures released through Galbraith's office, nearly 4000 students still remain to be enlisted in the reserve program. Except for a few of these who hold deferments as technical students, this group will face possible induction through the Selective Service by the end of the year.

All students who are already enlisted in either the AER, Air Force Reserve, Naval or Marine Corps Reserve, are also urged to attend the meeting since much of the information to be presented will concern the probable status of members of these branches.

glass medicine droppers and as soon as he gets proficient, he expects to try something more difficult.

Benny's fondest recollection is the time he blew up a sink in the Bull Pen by pouring a number of unlabeled bottles down the drain to get rid of them. One of them turned out to be fuming sulphuric acid. Another time he gave a holiday to almost every chem major by breaking a falsely labeled bottle of sulphuric acid just outside the building. The odor diffused in slowly; the classes moved swiftly out.

As for recreation, Benny is of the rod, reel, and shady spot school.

Werner Considers Jerry Karver As Best Prospect He Has Coached

(Editor's note: This is the fourth of a series of articles to acquaint readers with members of the cross-country team who run against Syracuse in their only home contest of the season Saturday afternoon.)

"Jerry Karver is the best distance prospect that I have ever worked with."

This was the statement Chick Werner, cross-country coach, made about his sensational sophomore runner. Remembering distance men like Billy Smith, and Pete Olexy, whom Chick has coached, we think Coach Werner thinks quite a bit of Jerry's ability.

Jerry is not a novice in this running business. He won the state scholastic mile, half mile, and cross-country championships in his last two years in high school.

He was undefeated in cross-country competition as a freshman and climaxed the season by capturing the frosh IC4-A individual title.

He was also undefeated in the mile and two mile events during the track season.

Running against varsity competition this summer, Karver won the mile event at Cornell. His best mile time is a 4:17 turned in at last year's indoor IC4-A meet.

Karver is five feet, eleven inches tall and weighs 150 pounds.

Coach Werner is hoping to put Jerry in a position where he will be able to oppose Haag and Anderson, the two Swedish runners who will soon be brought to this country to run.

Chick thinks that Jerry has the speed, ease, stamina, and judgment of pace to do this job. Dearest to a coach's heart, Jerry has an ability to absorb teaching and apply it to his running.

Only Seven Points

In the modern Penn State-Colgate series the Lions have only managed to score seven points against the Red Raiders.
