

Zang Takes Personnel Job With Brewster Corporation

Assistant Dean Ends Three Years' Work

Miss Ruth H. Zang, assistant to the dean of women, will leave campus December 17 to accept a position in personnel work in the engineering department of the Brewster Aeronautics Corporation.

Miss Zang's resignation brings to an end three and one-half years of work with Penn State coeds. A State graduate, the assistant dean became affiliated with the dean of women's staff in September 1939. In 1941 she was promoted to the office of assistant dean in charge of freshman women.

Concerning her work with Penn State women, Miss Zang said, "My association with coeds at the College has been one of the finest experiences anyone could have had, an experience I shall never forget. Nor will I forget the many women I have known here."

"My work has been very challenging and very interesting. The spirit of cooperation among coeds is splendid; I doubt if I shall find similar spirit anywhere."

Besides being graduated from State with a bachelor of science degree in agricultural biological chemistry, Miss Zang has begun graduate work here in industrial psychology. She explained that her position with Brewster's will enable her to combine her technical training with personnel experience.

The assistant dean said she expects to be stationed in Philadelphia for a period of three months and then to transfer to another branch of the corporation in Long Island.

CORPORATION OFFERS ENGINEERING COURSES

Because of the increased demand for trained engineers and the simultaneous decrease in the number of men able to complete their college technical training, Curtiss-Wright Corporation, one of the three largest aeronautical concerns in the country, is planning to offer basic courses in engineering to women students.

The program is not an attempt to replace engineers, the corporation stresses, but is rather designed to prepare coeds to perform specific primary jobs so that the few available graduate engineers may be free for work on more complicated processes.

The program, of a year's duration, will be carried out in college engineering schools. Women selected will be stationed at colleges where they will receive tuition, room, and board free, as well as a salary from Curtiss-Wright. At least two years of college education, including elementary mathematics, are required of applicants.

A Curtiss-Wright representative will visit the College December 15 and 16 to interview interested coeds. Later notice will be given concerning time for scheduling interviews.

IWA Will Hold Informal Victrola Dance Tonight

Because of popular demand for a dance similar to the informal victrola dance held by IWA Penn weekend, members of IWA will hold another in Grange playroom from 9 until 12 o'clock tonight, according to President Marjorie A. Magargel '44.

Admission is 10 cents per person, and stags will be admitted, Miss Magargel stated.

Hostesses appointed for the dance include Harriette Block '44, Mildred L. Cookerly '44, Gertrude Y. Cohen '45, June R. White '45, Helen L. Schmide '46, and Norma F. Schwab '46.

The committee in charge comprises general chairman Norma R. Stern '44 and Sydney H. Rivenburg '44, Miss White, and Florence A. Porter.

Lakonides Installs

Grace L. Judge '44, and Vivian I. Martin '45, were installed as president and vice-president, respectively, of Lakonides, women's physical education honorary, at a meeting Wednesday night. Ruth Ernst also took office as treasurer. Next meeting of the group will be held jointly with Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education honorary, to discuss "Co-recreation on Campus."

Coed Surprised With $50 Bond

Manna from heaven—in the form of a $50 war bond—dropped into the lap of Betty Ann Griffiths '45 this week when she discovered she had won fourth prize in the Pittsburgh Penn State Alumni Association raffle.

It was all pure gravy as far as Betty Ann was concerned. As a matter of fact she didn't even know that such a thing as the Pittsburgh Alumni Association raffle existed. Her father, All-American football player and a Penn State graduate in '21, who was recently elected to Congress from Ohio, bought several of the raffle tickets and signed her name to one of them. That one turned out to be a winner.

The raffle was held last Saturday at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Hummel Fishburn is chairman of the tea. Her committee includes Mrs. F. Joseph Bedenk, Mrs. Michael Farrell, and Mrs. Joseph F. O'Brien. Mrs. Edward M. Friear, and Mrs. Carroll D. Champlin will pour.

Kappa Alpha Theta pledged Evelyn L. Wasson '46 Thursday.

Swimming, bowling, bridge, badminton, ping pong, fencing, and volley ball will be available to coeds at White Hall from 7 to 10 o'clock tonight.

WRA Swimming Club will be in charge of the Open House, and will serve refreshments at 8:45, according to Phyllis R. Watkins '44, Club president.

A pantomime of "Murder of Lidice" by Edna St. Vincent Millay will be presented by the modern dance concert group in Schwab auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Members of WRA Dance Club will take part in the presentation with Marion A. Hora '43, as the leading dancer. Coeds who will dance are Harriette Block '44, Harriet G. VanRiper '44, Shirley V. Hadley '45, Madeline L. Mahuran '45, Anna E. Radle '45, and JoEllen Loop '46.

Civil Service Men To Interview Coeds

War Work Offered Graduating Women

Civil Service representatives will visit campus Monday and Tuesday, December 7 and 8, to conduct personal interviews with woman students graduating in December, who are interested in doing war work after graduation.

Lieutenant McNally of the Naval Aircraft Factory will address the coeds in room 315 Sparks at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Positions open to coeds are inspectors of engineering and aeronautical materials. Salaries range from $1600 to $2000. Opportunities for work in naval factories are also offered.

All woman students graduating, regardless of their curricula, are eligible. A six-months training course will be given during which time candidates will receive a salary.

A detailed letter explaining the types of work offered is posted in the dean of women's office.

Eight ensigns helped Hillcrest coeds at their Christmas tree decoration party Thursday night. Refreshments were served.
