

Students to Try Out for Places On College Stock Judging Team

Results of the annual animal husbandry judging contest scheduled to take place at the Stock Judging Pavilion at 1 o'clock today will be used to select a College judging team for the coming year.

All students, regardless of their curricula, are eligible to compete in the contest. "Freshman and sophomore students in the School of Agriculture, as well as those taking animal husbandry I, are especially invited to enter competition," said Glenn R. Kean '43, chairman of the program.

Entries into the contest will be separated into two divisions, the experienced and the amateurs. Entrants who have already taken animal husbandry 3 or 4 will be placed in the experienced section, while those who have had no animal husbandry courses will automatically be placed in the amateur division.

Faculty members of the School of Agriculture will be judges of the contest. Franklin L. Bentley, professor of animal husbandry, will judge cattle; Mark A. McCarty, associate professor of animal husbandry, swine; Peter C. MacKenzie, assistant professor of animal husbandry, sheep; and Prof. William L. Henning, coach of the College judging team, horses.

Four sets of reasons must accompany each selection by the contestants. Seven classes, two in every division with the exception of horses, will be placed and individual awards given to winners in both the amateur and experienced divisions.

The contest is sponsored by the Block and Bridle Judging Club, members of which comprise the program committee.

Committee members of the program are John A. Christian '43, cattle; James A. Christian '43, sheep; Glen W. Stevens '43, horses; and Leon M. Bodie '43, swine.

There is no entry fee for students entering the contest.

To Judge Cattle

Franklin L. Bentley, professor of Animal Husbandry, will be in charge of the judging of cattle in the annual Animal Husbandry judging contest scheduled to take place in the Stock Judging Pavilion at 1 o'clock today.

Phi Delt Mermen Sink Gamma Sigs

Splashing out a clean-cut victory over Gamma Sigma Phi, Phi Delta Theta earned the right to vie with Alpha Chi Sigma in the intramural swimming finals next Monday night. The Phi Delt's excelled in every event except the breast stroke, taking charge of the situation at the start and never relinquishing the lead.

In a fast race Phi Delt Pomerene beat out teammate Steidle by a half length to capture the 60-yard free style. In the 120-yard free style the Phi Delt's had a field day, with Davenport, Miller, and C. Scarborough taking first, second, and third, respectively. The Gamma Sigs took the 60-yard breast stroke, Horowitz and Shulman placing first and second. In the 60-yard backstroke, Phi Delt W. Scarborough finished first ahead of Gamma Sig's Hankin and Bree.

In a varsity-like exhibition of diving, Phi Delt Moriarta edged out Gamma Sig's Small with Ridenour, Phi Delt, placing third. The finale, the 120-yard relay, was easily won by the campus fraternity's combine of Davenport-Moriarta-Fife-Steidle. Time: 1:07.

Summaries:
60-yard Free Style: Pomerene, Phi Delt; Steidle, Phi Delt; Small, Gamma Sig. Time: :37.

120-yard Free Style: Davenport, Phi Delt; Miller, Phi Delt; C. Scarborough, Phi Delt. Time: 1:36.

60-yard Breast: Horowitz, Gamma Sig; Schulman, Gamma Sig; Ridenour, Phi Delt. Time: :49.

60-yard Backstroke: W. Scarborough, Phi Delt; Hankin, Gamma Sig; Bree, Gamma Sig. Time: :48.

120-yard Relay: Davenport-Moriarta-Fife-Steidle. Time: 1:07.
Diving: Moriarta, Phi Delt; Small, Gamma Sig; Ridenour, Phi Delt.

Chapel Services To Usher In '43 Yuletide Season

Tomorrow morning, in Schwab Auditorium, the Annual Christmas Musical Services will be held at 11 a. m., with John H. Fizzell, College Chaplain, presiding.

Featured each year before the start of the Christmas vacation and usually attended by enough persons to overflow the auditorium, the services this year will include seven numbers by the College Choir, a solo by a member of the Navy group now present on campus, and three numbers by Mrs. Irene O. Grant of the music department.

Vocals to be presented by the Choir include "The Angel's Song" by Teschesnov an English carol arranged by Prof. G. William Henninger of the music department, entitled "On Christmas Night"; "The Three Kings," a Catalonian carol arranged by Rev. Louis Romev; "This Endris Night," arranged by Alfred Whitehead.

The Negro spiritual, "Rise Up Shepherd, and Follow," arranged by Nathaniel Dett, will be followed by "Bethlehem," an anthem by the eminent Negro composer and singer, Harry T. Burleigh. The final anthem on the program will be "Praise to the Lord," by Olaf Christiansen.

Solo singer for the morning's musical service will be Ensign Erwin Windward, tenor, who will sing "Comfort Ye, My People," from Handel's "Messiah."

The organ numbers by Mrs. Irene O. Grant will include "Christmas Offertory" by Grison; "Christmas in Sicily" by Pietro Yon; and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah.

Coleman Calls for Exchange Workers

Harry C. Coleman '44, chairman of the Book Exchange Committee, has issued a call to all students who wish to work in the store to contact him in the La Vie office, 315 Old Main, at 4 p. m. on either Monday or Tuesday.

Students accepted to work in the exchange will receive thirty-five cents an hour and will be permitted to sit in as many hours as they are able to during the exchange's hours, 9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. daily, starting January 6 and ending January 13.

The Book Exchange will function in Room 9, Armory, where it was held at the start of the present semester. Charge for buying or selling a book through the post will be five cents for each book handled. Reason for assessing this charge is to pay the expenses of running the exchange.

If a student wishes to do business through the exchange, he must write the price of the book on the inside cover and submit a piece of paper with his name, address and telephone number together with the book.

Commencement Week Planned for Graduates

(Continued from Page One) made, and others, plus refreshments, will be features of the function. Admittance is free to seniors upon presentation of their matriculation cards at the door.

Senior Class Day exercises will take place in Schwab Auditorium at 7 p. m. Wednesday evening, at which the presentation of honor awards to members of the class of 1943 and the history of the class will be held.

Immediately following the Class Day exercises, the annual Christmas Choral Sing will occur on the Front Campus, with "Hum" Fishburn leading the vocalists.

Commencement Week will end with the exercises on Thursday evening. Seniors must be present to receive their degrees.

Oberammergau Wood Carvings on Exhibition in Library Until Dec. 22; Deal with Religious Subjects

A small, choice group of wood carvings from Oberammergau is on exhibition at the Library.

The inhabitants of Oberammergau have been renowned for their dramatization of the Passion Play, and their wood carvings are usually associated with religious subjects.

The most notable group in the display is the Christmas creche. Admirable also, are graceful madonnas, the statues of St. Anthony, and the ebony triptych which encloses a crucifix.

The carving of "The Last Supper" is an example of the mastery of minute detail which these artists have achieved.

Such carvings as the barnyard group gathered around the watering trough express the artists' appreciation of simple beauty in everyday surroundings.

The display will continue until December 22.
