Boxing Highlights Waring Will Feature Top Tunes Book Exchange Sets Sales Record

All-College Dance Selected By Students On Program Still Has Need For Many Volumes

A surprise "world championship" boxing bout to initiate the boxing season, will highlight "The Knockout Round" in Rec Hall, 9 to 12 p. m. Friday. The All-College dance, sponsored by the four independent organizations, is the first of its kind to be given, Ray A. Zaroda '44, general chairman, announced.

The "world championship" bout is scheduled for release at intermission. Weight, time and participants are all part of the surprise.

In their first attempt at a combined All-College dance, Penn State Club, Independent Men's Association, Independent Women's Association, and Philotes, are cooperating with the College request for fewer social functions.

Sonny Royce and His Collegians will play for the dance according to Gertrude W. Cohen '45, IWA orchestra chairman. Tickets may be purchased at Student Union for $1.10 or from members of the four independent organizations.

Delegating January 22 as the date for his program, "Victory Tunes from Penn State," Fred Waring will present the top three tunes of the season selected by the Penn State student body. From a list submitted to the Daily Collegian by Waring, a poll will be conducted today to ascertain the choices to be played on his famous "Pleasure Time."

From a list appearing at the end of this article and an ad appearing on page two the various college groups are asked to aid in the polling of the tune selections. All fraternities and sororities are asked to conduct a vote during their noon meal or at some time prior to seven o'clock, at which time the results will be collected by telephone calls by Collegian Staff members. Independents may vote at Student Union or at the Collegian office throughout the day.

The top choice from each group should be selected and in the event that there is a song which

FRED WARING

Penn State would like to hear, not appearing on the list, a fourth choice may be listed. Each voter may indicate a fourth choice.

Waring, a former Penn Stater, has given the student body an opportunity to select these songs for Penn State night on "Pleasure Time" and he is showing the traditional Penn State spirit even after his separation from this institution for so many years. Jake Cohen and Ed Lee, also Penn State alumni with the Waring show, expressed their regards to the student body in the letter to the Collegian.

Selections for the balloting appear in three respective groups below and the top tune in each should be selected.

Group A

Dark Eyes, When the Lights Go on Again, Yesterday's Gardenias, I'll Be Tired of You, and Sweet and Lovely.

Group B

Day in, Day Out, Praise the Lord, Buckle Down Winssocki, Abraham, Play Fiddle Play (swing arrangement).

Group C

You'd Be So Nice to Come Home To, Carioca, Moonlight on the Campus, So Beats My Heart for You, and The White Cliffs of Dover.

Schnitzer Heads Portfolio Staff

Rosalind B. Schnitzer '45, will succeed Dorothy E. Bosley '43, as editor of Portfolio, campus literary magazine.

Other newly elected staff members are Renee Isaacs '44, advertising manager; Robert M. Kidd '44, circulating manager; James L. Framo '45, managing editor; Mary Jane Hetenyi '45, art editor, and Walter C. Price '45, business manager.

"We are anxious to have more students submit their work to Portfolio and will be glad to consider any stories, articles, poems that are handed in," announced Miss Schnitzer.

Next issue of the magazine is due on the stands on or about January 20, and will be the first of six issues planned for the two coming semesters. Subscriptions for these six issues are being offered for 50c and may be obtained at Student Union or from any staff member.

Alumni Drive Continues

Edward K. Hibshman, Alumni Association executive secretary, yesterday urged sophomore students to fill in and return pledge cards for membership in the organization. The membership drive, begun last semester, brought 86 responses.

Under the student-alumni plan, the sophomore will become a member of the association for his junior and senior years and for a period of five years after graduation.

Tribunal Sets Frosh Customs; To Be Effective Tomorrow

Freshman Customs will begin for all new freshman men at 8 a. m. Wednesday morning, announced J. Robert Hicks '44, Tribunal chairman, last night.

"It was felt by the Tribunal," stated Hicks, "that the frosh now entering the College needed more than ever something to draw them closer to State and something to instill into them the Penn State spirit that is so well known by all. For this reason and upon the advice of all who have gone through Customs before and felt they were a great part of college, the Tribunal has decided that all freshman men entering the College this semester should observe Customs effective Wednesday morning at 8 a. m."

The customs that must be observed by the frosh are:

1. Dinks shall be worn at all times.
2. Freshmen shall carry at all times a copy of the Student Handbook known as the "Freshman Bible" and shall wear at all times a sign four inches by ten inches upon which his name and home town are printed in one-inch, black, inked letters.
3. Freshmen are not permitted

Senate Revokes Frosh 10 O'clocks

Meeting in a special session Saturday, WSGA Senate voted to withdraw 10 o'clock week night permissions originally granted to second semester freshmen and revert to the hour system in effect before the summer semester and longer days demanded more lenient regulations.

Under the present system, second semester freshman coeds will receive 9 o'clock permissions with no dating week nights and one 10 o'clock and one 1 o'clock week-ends until move-up day. Conduct of the coeds and their willingness to accept custom regulations, as well as the grades they receive at mid-semester, will determine the date when they receive upperclass privileges, Ruth M. Storer '44, WSGA president, stated.

First semester freshmen will receive 9 o'clocks week nights and weekends until January 28, the end of the three weeks no-dating period. After that date they may take the 10 and 1 o'clock week-ends, with dating Friday and Saturday nights.

Green hair ribbons, measuring four inches by three-quarters of a yard, must be worn until 5:30 p. m. February 8. Name card, bearing the coed's name in heavy black letters one inch high, must measure three by five inches. They are to be worn until 5:30 p. m. February 22.

Dress customs need not be worn Friday after 5:30 p. m., Saturday after 12 o'clock noon, and all day Sunday.

Freshman transfer women must observe first semester freshman customs until further notice, Miss Storer said.

In addition to changing hour regulations, WSGA appointed three coeds to take care of table reservations in women's dining commons. Lois M. Gardner '43 and Dorothy M. Whittman '44 will be in charge of Atherton Hall while D. J. Jennings '44 will take charge of McAllister Hall reservations.

"Get-Together" For Transfers, Frosh Tonight

First semester freshmen and transfer women will be expected to attend a meeting in 110 Home Economics at 7 p. m. tonight, it was announced yesterday.

Purpose of the meeting, sponsored by Cwens, national women's sophomore honorary, and WSGA Junior Service Board, will be to introduce leaders in women's activities to new coeds, according to Carol M. Kane '45, board chairman, and Mary Grace Longenecker '45, Cwens president.

Ruth M. Storer '44, WSGA president, will represent the Women's Student Government Association. Miss Longenecker, as WRA Intramural Board chairman, and Elizabeth J. McKinley '45, activities chairman, will explain the functions of the Women's Recreation Association.

The work of the Christian Association will be outlined by Harriet G. Van Riper '44, PSCA vice-president. Dorothy K. Brunner '44, independent senator, will represent IWA and Philotes, organizations for independent women.

Twenty-six Coeds Enroll In Six Defense Courses

Twenty-six coeds have enrolled in the six defense courses offered to women this semester, according to Julia G. Brill, associate professor of English composition.

In order to continue any one of the courses ten coeds must have enrolled in the class before Friday. The highest number of enrollees in any class has been eight in company administration, Miss Brill added.

These courses were designed to prepare women for service with the armed forces, to provide additional training.

Army Air Corps Open to Reservists

Men students in the Enlisted Reserve Corps are now eligible to obtain transfers to the Army Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, providing that they are able to fulfill the requirements for the transfer, according to recent word from Capt. H. S. Engert, head of the examining board for this area.

Reservists wishing to obtain such transfers must first notify Engert at his headquarters at Fourth and Market streets in Harrisburg.

After reporting their intentions to the Air Corps head, men in the ERC will then have arrangements made for them to take mental and physical examinations on some Wednesday after the transfer is applied for.

Other requirements needed by the transferee, besides passing the examinations, include an application signed by one parent, three letters of recommendation, and a birth certificate, if one was not produced at the time of enlistment in the ERC.

Asked whether enlistments have, as yet, been opened again to students wishing to join the reserves, FAWS Galbraith stated that all are now closed and that no quotas have been set for the new freshman class.

Only exception open to men wishing to join the armed forces is the Navy's V-1 program, which is still open to men who have not yet reached their eighteenth birthday. Any students who have intentions of affiliating themselves with this division are urged to report to FAWS Galbraith's office.

Surgical Dressings Classes Continue

Red Cross surgical dressings classes will begin for the Spring semester in 112 Home Economics building, 6:30 p. m. Thursday, Miss Nina M. Bentley, assistant to the dean of women, revealed yesterday. Stating that she was somewhat disappointed in coed response to appeals last semester, Miss Bentley reported statistics of the work done during November and December.

According to the assistant dean, 62 coeds and 3 supervisors put in 204 1/2 hours in this particular phase of the war effort. The total effort netted 800 surgical sponges.

Topping the list of time contributors were Marjorie I. Zint '43, with 11 1/2 hours; Anne W. Purcell, assistant in bacteriology; Nancy I. Spencer '43, and Marjorie K. Rosser '44, with 11 hours each.

With the borough quota raised to 15,000 dressings a month, Miss Bentley said that she would like to have an attendance of at least 50 coeds at each meeting. She stated that tentative plans are made for having sororities and living units pledge a certain number of representatives at each class.

Candidates for LaVie

A call went out today for all second semester sophomore and junior candidates for LaVie to meet in 315 Old Main at 4 p. m. today. This includes any new candidates reporting for the first time.

The senior board of LaVie will meet at the same time in LaVie office.

Collegian Staff Meets

Freshman and sophomore Collegian editorial staff members will hold their regular weekly meeting at 7:15 p. m. today. New reporting assignments will be issued.
