Famous Speakers To Come to Campus Early in February

Rep. Jerry Voorhis To Head Institute

Plans are under way for a Public Affairs Institute, sponsored by the PSCA, to be held here from Wednesday, February 3, to Tuesday, February 9, according to Robert S. MacNabb '45, and Harriet Van Riper '44, co-chairmen of the event.

Consisting of public meetings, informal discussions, "coffee hours," and luncheon meetings, the Institute will feature outstanding speakers of national importance as a visiting faculty, with members of the Penn State faculty assisting.

Headlining the list of speakers is the Honorable Jerry Voorhis, member of the House of Representatives from California. Representative Voorhis is one of the better known younger members of the House and is also a member of the much-publicized Dies Committee on Un-American Activities.

Other speakers will be Dr. Howard P. Whidden, Jr., member of the Research staff of the Foreign Policy Association, and formerly a recipient of the Coolidge Traveling Fellowship in England from the Harvard Graduate School; Dr. Jerome Davis, member of the staff of the New School for Social Research in New York, and director of YMCA War Prisoners' Aid work in Canada, formerly professor of Practical Philanthropy at Yale University; and Reverend Mr. Frank Sharp, Minister of Education, First Baptist Church, Pittsburgh.

Program Planned For First PSCA OM Open House

Penn State's first Old Main Open House of the new semester is scheduled to be held on Friday, January 22.

Always one of the outstanding features on the campus social calendar and enjoyed by an average of 2,500 students and faculty, the coming program seems to be one of the best seen in a long time.

The main part of the Open House will take place in Schwab Auditorium. The program starts with an hour variety stage show at 7 p. m., featuring the "Statesmen Five" and other local vaudeville acts.

Following the stage show will be a feature length movie, "History Is Made at Night," starring Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur. The movie is scheduled to begin at 8 and 10 p. m.

Other events planned, according to Gerald B. M. Stein, '44, OMOH publicity chairman, will include round and square dancing in the Armory, and informal games in both the game room, 401 Old Main, and the second floor lounge. An attempt is being made to secure new games for the game room, Stein stated.

Co-chairmen of the event are James R. Zeigler '44, and John C. Burford '44, Stein announced.

More complete plans for the affair will be announced in tomorrow's Daily Collegian, following a meeting of the OMOH committee in 304, Old Main at 4:15 p. m.

Clarifies Change

Mr. Adrian O. Morse, assistant to the President, announced yesterday that there would be no drop add fees for Codet courses.

No Fee Required For Codet Courses

Codets may add any of the six codet courses without paying a drop-add fee, according to Adrian O. Morse, assistant to the president.

The announcement was made yesterday in view of the fact that too few women knew of the existence of the courses before registration and therefore did not schedule them, said Mr. Morse.

Women have been instructed to report to the class as soon as possible, have their names added to the roll and make necessary adjustments with their advisors. Before presenting the drop-add slip to the registrar's office, codets must have the signed permission of Julia G. Brill, vocational counselor for women in defense, Room 240 Sparks.

It is necessary to have at least ten members in each course for instruction to be given. At present the largest number of women in any course is eight.

The codet courses were formed to prepare women for service with the armed forces should they be needed, to provide additional means for women to earn equivalent ROTC credits, and to counteract the feeling among codets that they are "doing nothing to help win the war."

The courses, offered to all women, and the times scheduled, include:

Codet 1, Preparation for Emergencies, a standard 24-hour course in first aid, air raid precautions and defense against gas. 1 credit. M and Th. 2.

Codet 2, Conduct of Calisthenics, include the theory and practice of fundamental exercise, commands, voice control and diction. 1 credit. M and W. 4.

Codet 4, Company Administration.

Helme Directs Annual Architects' Meeting

Prof. J. Burn Helme of the College department of architecture presided at the annual meeting of the central Pennsylvania chapter of the American Institute of Architects in Harrisburg yesterday.

Architects were present from Lancaster, York, State College, and the Harrisburg metropolitan area. Action was taken on current architects' problems and post-war construction was discussed.

Prof. Stevenson Leaves CA Board To Direct Camp

Mr. Donald D. Stevenson, professor of forestry research at the College and chairman of the board of directors of the Penn State Christian Association, has accepted an appointment as director of the Civilian Public Service Camp at West Campton, New Hampshire, for the American Service Committee.

Prof. Stevenson has served the CA as chairman of the board for several years. His interest in the Student Christian Movement has been strong and active, since his relationship to the Christian Association at Yale University. He served as the director of the Christian Association at Lingnan University in Canton, China, for a number of years.

An ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church, Prof. Stevenson was a director of relief for the American Friends Service Committee in France following its occupation in 1940. He also participated in the Local Friends Service program.

Prof. C. O. Williams, associate professor of education and assistant administrative head of the Lower Division, will take over the direction of the board as acting chairman.

Would-Be Comedians Asked to Try Out for Third Thespian Stooze

Do you have a secret ambition to be a comedian?

Here's your chance to show your stuff. The Thespians, Penn State's foremost musical comedy organization, also the only one, is looking for a new stooze to take the place of Ted Clauss. Clauss graduated in December, leaving the Three Stooges minus one stooze.

No experience of any kind is necessary to qualify for this enviable position, the Thespians say. Not even a good singing voice is required. Only thing needed is willingness to work hard.

Tryouts are scheduled to be held next Tuesday night, according to Bud Mellot and Jack Hunter, remaining stoozes. Those interested should contact Mellot at 2021, it was added. Candidates will be given typical stooze material for the tryouts.

The stoozes will start booking engagements next week.

Freshmen, Transfers Invited to Cabin Party

PSCA will sponsor an all-college cabin party at the Ralph L. Watts Lodge on Saturday. The group will leave the rear of Old Main at 2 p. m. Supper will be served at the cabin, after which the group will hike back to town. Ned H. Weibenenga '46, is chairman of the committee in charge. Others on the committee include Mary G. Davis '46, Elizabeth A. Henning '46, Loran W. Leonard, Jr. '46, and Florence A. Porter '46.

Special invitations will be sent to the forester transfers from Mt. Alto and to all the new freshmen. All students interested in going should sign up at the CA office. Thirty-five cents will be charged for the supper.

Hillel to Hold Annual Frolic

Hillel Foundation will present its annual Snowball Frolic this Saturday night. Dancing and a special floor show will highlight the frolic.

Meteorology Programs Open To All Students

ERC Men Eligible for Transfer to Courses

Young men, including Enlisted Reservists, who can meet qualifications outlined in a special announcement from the government, are eligible to apply for special training in the field of meteorology.

Training is open to civilians, enlisted men of the army and those in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps; V-1, V-5 and V-7 men are not eligible.

No qualifying examinations are given, but all candidates must be fully qualified by transcript of scholastic record to receive consideration.

There are three programs open: Basic Premeteorology for men between 18 and 21, inclusive, who have two years of high school mathematics, one year of high school science and are high school graduates.

Premeteorology or "B" program requirements are somewhat more rigid.

The age limit is greater, men from 18 to 30, inclusive, being eligible if they have taken one year of college mathematics, including college algebra, trigonometry, and analytic geometry.

"A" program, or Advanced Meteorology, requirements are the most stringent. In addition to meeting requirements for the "B" and "C" programs, an applicant must have taken differential and integral calculus, one year of college physics, and completed successfully two years of college.

After completing the advanced course the candidate is commissioned a second lieutenant, Army of U. S. Air Corps, and placed on active duty for the duration plus six months unless released sooner.

For complete details and the necessary papers, Professor Robert

LATE NEWS FLASHES!

WASHINGTON.—Eighteen thousand anthracite workers again defied WLB's attempt at conciliation in the 15-day-old walkout involving the entire anthracite industry of Pennsylvania. Congress terms this strike in protest of a $50 raise in union dues "near treason." Six thousand workers, however, have returned to their jobs.

LONDON.—In a daring daylight bombing jaunt over occupied France, U. S. Flying Fortresses blasted the Lisle factory district with the admitted loss of three planes, it was announced today. Three enemy fighters to two RAF planes were downed in a raid on Holland, while in the seventh blasting of the Nazi Ruhr area in 10 days, one Allied bomber was reported lost.

TUNISIA.—While scouting patrols vied for position on the ground, Allied aircraft shot down or destroyed on the ground 51 Axis planes in 24 hours of fighting 10 miles south of Tripoli. Allied sources were of the opinion that the air battle was a prelude to a new drive on Tunis.

Neusbaum Releases Cast for Players' Current Show

Frank S. Neusbaum, assistant director of dramatics and director of the new Players' show, "The Moon Is Down" by John Steinbeck, released the names of the cast last evening.

The story of a typical European village populated by peace-loving citizens, "The Moon Is Down" depicts the effects of a Nazi blitzkrieg on the populace.

Robert H. Herman '44, plays Mayor Orden, the local "law enforcer" who is allowed to keep his position so that the Nazi's could be assured of a peaceful occupation with the town's inhabitants turning out the coal for the Reich.

Dr. Winter, the town historian and good friend of Mayor Orden, is played by Martin Shapik '44. Raymond W. Tyson, assistant professor of public speaking is Colonel Lanser, veteran of the World War and leader of the Nazi forces in the village.

Robert R. Liebacher '45, plays George Corell, proprietor of a grocery store and a well-liked personage in the town. Corell was the Nazi agent who paved the way for the attack by seeing that most of the townspeople were away from town the fateful Sunday morning.

John E. Miller, publications assistant, plays the part of Captain Loft, an ambitious officer who, by

Zaroda Reveals Marvel As 'Horrible Hooligan' In 'Knock Out Round'

Raymond A. Zaroda '44, president of Penn State Club, last night revealed that henceforth the Masked Marvel, challenger in the championship tourney to be held at "The Knock Out Round" All-College independent dance, will be billed as Horrible Hooligan.

The battle for the world champion boxing title highlights the intermission at the dance in Rec Hall from 9 p. m. to midnight Friday.

Sonny Roye and his Collegians will play for the dance, according to Gertrude W. Cohen '45, IWA orchestra chairman. Tickets may be purchased at Student Union for $1.10 or from members of the four independent organizations.

This dance, sponsored by IMA, IWA, Penn State Club, and Philotes, will be the first All-College dance ever planned by the four independent organizations, and is in conjunction with the Administration's request for fewer social functions.

Religious Commission To Plan Year's Work

Thirty members of the PSCA in the Hugh Beaver Room, Old Religious Commission will meet Main, at 4:30 p. m. today for an informal party and planning session under the leadership of Robert R. Dickey '44 and Dorothy Jane Cromis '45, co-chairmen.

Plans for the work of the year until the spring holidays will be outlined by members of the commission including Claire L. Weaver '45, Ralph W. Harris '45, Grace Gray '45, and Ralph G. Johnston '44.
